THE PARTY IN A HURRY.

Senator Cox is so impatient to have the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme go through that 'Sir Wilfrid waives his in a hurry. In regard to the tariff Sir Wilfrid would aim to bring about "free trade as it is in Old England," but not all at once. The way had to be felt carefully, to avoid mistakes. One by one, the obstacles were to be considered, and grappled with only when sure of a firm hold. The railway scheme involving an outlay of over one hundred millions is differently regarded by him. That is a matter on which his mind is easily made up, irrespective of what his principal colleagues may think about it. And it is one on which he flings his preconceived caution to the four winds, in order that Senator Cox might not be kept waiting. Sir Wilfrid promised in the speech from the commission should be appointed to inquire into the scheme, with reference to its feasibility and cost. That promise was not carried out. The The scheme had to be sprung without preliminary thought, and in the total Sir Wilfrid nor any member of his Tabinet can tell within ten millions of dollars what the cost will be. There

Richard said of the Yukon enterise, "it is all a gamble." But it oust be forced ahead because Senator Cox is in a hurry, and poor Sir Richard, so canny in other things, so careful in finance especially, is dragged to the front with his half-hearted approval, because it is his habit to swallow his principles in loyalty to his chief.

But why so much haste. Why the Premier's hysterical appeal to rush the scheme through lest he be "too ate." The country is willing to wait. The North-west is amazed and resentful at so immature and sudden a resolution. It feels no such pressure as Sir Wilfrid labors under. There is no apparent furore anywhere, save in the "midsummer madness" of the Premier, who, instead of goading his supporters to vote away one hundred millions, in a scheme of doubtful ability, should use his influence pacify those in the back ground who are urging him on to pelitical destruction. He should reason with Senator Cox on the virtue of patience, rather than apply the party lash to reluctant colleagues like poor Sir Richard, to cause him to put party tion is to make it a model of its class. It will have, as explained by an official circular issued from the Ottawa Department, the services of expert judges, who will explain the reasons for their decisions in the ring, and give addresses on the best type of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In this way the judging is made an educational feature instead of being merely an allotment of premiums by men who are often incompetent or biased in their judgment. The awarding of prizes at a fair is a comparatively unimportant matter as what is really desirable is that fairs should be the means of disseminating information and of fixing correct ideas in the minds of those who are producing food-stuffs. How long will it take the man to fill the sack if he does not stop the leak? To attempt to nourish the body when the stomach is diseased is like trying to fill the sack with the hole in it. When the stomach and other digestive and nutritive organs are dis eased, there is a constant loss of nutrition. Enough is eaten but the body loses flesh,-plain proof that the food eaten is largely wasted because it is not digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It stops the leaks by which nutrition is lost, and enables the building up of the body by the nutrition derived from food. The gain in weight proves the cure. "Three years ago I was taken sick with what the doctor called nervousness and indigestion," writes Mrs. Warren E. Parker, of Orange Street, Nantucket, Mass. "He gave me medicine for or oatmeal without suffering severely. In a few months I began to have distressing pains right in the pit of my stomach.
