CURRIE AND LEGERE NOMINATED GOVERNMENT CANDIDATES AT THE CAPITAL ON MONDAY

Stewart and Diotte The Conservative Candidates
—LaBilloy To Run As Independent—Candidates The Only Speakers And Confined To Half Hour Each—Diotte The Comedian.

The nomination day proceedings at Dalhousie on Monday passed off very quietly. The Sheriff opened his court at 10 o'clock and when he closed it at 12 o'clock he declared the following duly nominated.

Henry J. Currie
John B. Legere
David A. Stewart
Henry Diotte
Chas. H. LaBilloy

It was mutually agreed that the addresses would be delivered in the Skating Rink beginning at two o'clock, with Sheriff Blanchard as chairman. It was also mutually agreed that only the candidates were to speak, and they were limited to a half hour, with ten minutes for reply.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the Sheriff took the chair and called the meeting to order.

The large Skating Rink had been arranged for Premier Veniot's Saturday night meeting, but the crowd was not large and only a little more than half the seats were occupied, and about half the audience were Ladies. Probably the reason that the crowd was not larger was that it was a beautiful day-making day and after the poor weather of the past two weeks the farmers decided to stay at home and make hay while the sun shone.

But there were rooters present for both sides, and at times things were noisy, but the best of order prevailed.

Mr. W. S. Montgomery was also present, and persisted in interrupting the government speakers, until called to order and threatened with ejection if he did not behave himself.

The building was very warm and it had a deficit of $248,000 last year caused by the interest charges on the Valley Railway construction bonds, but he failed to add that his friends were responsible for the construction of this railway, which is costing the taxpayers of this province $258,000 per year.

Mr. Currie was the first speaker and was loudly applauded when he stepped forward.

He made a good impression, and it was no doubt, the address of the meeting. He had his facts well in hand, and despite the fact that Mr. Montgomery endeavored to jar him out of his stride, he kept smiling and delivered a very earnest, interesting and convincing address.

He dealt fully with the acts of the present government, and declared that we had the most progressive government this province had ever enjoyed.

"We had the best province in Canada, and what we need to-day is faith in our country and our government. God has given us everything to make a prosperous country; natural resources, of all kinds, and a sturdy manhood. It was for us to go forward and develop these industries. He had only a half hour to preach the gospel of good government," said Mr. Currie.

The destinies of this province demand more from you at this election than ever before. We need a government by men of vision, integrity and business ability and that was what Premier Veniot's government was giving," added Mr. Currie.

The need of the development of Grand Falls was dwelt upon, and the fact that in awarding the contract for the main work, nearly half a million dollars had been saved was also brought out.

"Let us elect men who will not sell our birthright to the big interest. This is a fight to keep intact our resources for generations yet unborn." Applause.

Mr. Currie also dwelt upon the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Health Act and Free School Books, and ended up with a strong appeal for the support of all, and asked them to deposit their ballots for John B. Legere and himself and in support of the Veniot Government on Aug. 10th. Applause.

David A. Stewart

Mr. Stewart was the next speaker, and was warmly greeted.

His address was entirely upon the defensive, and he spent his half hour endeavoring to answer Mr. Currie's address. Mr. Stewart made the best address of his political career, but he was working under extreme difficulties, and he quoted so many figures and read so many extracts that the audience became restless. Then he told a funny story and the audience relaxed.

But he did tell the meeting that he was not opposed to the development of Grand Falls, although he did not see any reason for such haste as the Veniot government displayed. A year or more, more or less would not hurt either way. Better play safe he said. He also admitted that the roads had been better. But look at the amount of money spent on them. Sure they took for this statement he observed were better and so they ought to be. He also said that the government amount of work for $720,000. He ev-

LOCAL VETERAN DIED IN QUEBEC

Remains of Samuel Russell Laid
To Rest With Military
Honors There

Another local veteran of the World War was laid to rest on Tuesday when Samuel Russell, formerly of Tracadie but more recently a resident of this town, whose death occurred on Saturday last at Laval Hospital, Quebec, was buried there with military honors.

The deceased who was 35 years of age had been ailing since last fall, tuberculosis of the bone developing from wounds received in active service. The funeral services which were held at 8 a. m. Tuesday morning were conducted at St. Foye Church by the G. W. V. A. of Quebec City under the direction of R. Mayne Reade, president of the Quebec Light and Power Co., and a veteran of the South African War.

Rev. Father Morrisette officiated. The coffin, draped with the Union Jack, was conveyed to St. Patrick's Cemetery where interment was made in the Army and Navy Veterans' Plot. The late Mr. Russell is survived by one brother, Gregory, of Tracadie, N. B.

He also closed with an appeal for votes for Stewart and Diotte on August 10th.

Messrs. Currie, LaBilloy and Stewart embraced the opportunity of an additional ten minutes, but no new points were brought forward. In fact the audience, which had been good of this railway, which is costing the taxpayers of this province $258,000 per year.

He closed his remarks with an appeal for support for himself and Mr. Diotte on August 10th.

Chas. H. LaBilloy

Mr. LaBilloy was the next speaker, but failed to make an impression. He is getting old and no doubt his associations of the past year or two have contributed to his losing touch with the Liberal party. His voice was not good, and his address was patiently and quietly listened to. One point he did make, and that was the injustice done Restigouche by not giving her increased representation in the legislature.

He also told the meeting without a blink of an eyelash, that the public debt of the province was $35,000,000 and that it would take $45,000,000 to develop Grand Falls.

He concluded with a personal appeal for support on August 10th.

John B. Legere

Mr. Legere, who was warmly applauded addressed the meeting in French, and judging by the applause, he made a good impression.

He also delivered a short address in English and considering his handicap did very well. He pointed out the great benefits to be gained by the development of hydro, stating what he had done for Ontario and Quebec, and he was sure it would be advantageous to New Brunswick.

He also pointed out that due to the business like administration of the present government, the credit of New Brunswick stood second among the provinces of the Dominion.

He said a previous speaker declared that the farmers and people generally would be loaded with debt, their farms mortgaged, and they would not be able to pay their taxes if the government persisted in going ahead with the Grand Falls development. This was false. The people would not be taxed one dollar for this development.

The entire cost would be met by the users of power. On the other hand new industries will be induced to come to the province, and employment will be provided for our young men and a market established for our farm produce.

In closing he asked every lady and gentleman to go to the polls on Aug. 10th and vote for Currie and Legere.

Henry Diotte

Mr. Diotte was the last but by no means the least speaker. He was the comedian of the occasion and by his witty remarks, kept the audience in good humor.

He started out by saying that Mr. Currie did not tell the truth when he said the road from Balmoral west line to the County line at Belledune River, was better. When called to order he was better. But look at the amount of money spent on them. Sure they took for this statement he observed were better and so they ought to be. He also said that the government amount of work for $720,000. RAND SAYS SINISTER HAND OF BIG INTERESTS SEEKING CONTROL OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Attorney General Cheered And Applauded By Electors Who Pack Opera House Here As He Delivers One Of The Ablest Political Speeches
Ever Heard By A Local Audience—Scores Mc-
Lean For Effort To Dominate Public Affairs—
Deals With Various Issues of Campaign—Colin
MacKenzie On Public Debt.

That behind the Baxter party in the present political campaign there is a sinister shadow which seeks to dominate the administration of this province and control the development of the resources of New Brunswick under "private interest" despotism toward the selfish gain of a certain domineering group, was one of the most significant statements made by Hon. Ivan C. Rand, Attorney General of the province, in his masterly exposition of the policy of the Veniot Government before a large enthusiastic body of electors in the Opera House here on Tuesday night.

A Masterly Address

The Attorney General's address, which lasted nearly two hours, was without doubt one of the ablest political speeches ever delivered before a local audience.

Mr. Rand dealt with all issues of the present campaign and in topping over the weak and flimsy criticisms of the opposition, gave a clear and comprehensive explanation of the Liberal Government's policy.

In the course of his address he also showed, through the employment of indisputable facts, the danger that threatened the province if the Baxter group—without a single definite pronouncement or any one issue—was permitted to get control of the affairs of the province.

A record crowd heard the Attorney General and tumultuous applause frequently punctuated the speaker's remarks. While Mr. Rand did not make what could be classified as "a fighting speech" his address was vastly more impressive because of the quiet, straight-forward way in which he discussed, so fully, the affairs of the province and all phases of the present political issue.

His entire speech was one of notable eloquence, a veritable cascade of effervescent oratory, never offensive or abusive but quiet and convincing from beginning to end.

Scores McLean

Angus McLean came in for some scorching criticism at this meeting in connection with the Grand Falls development. Mr. Rand declaring, in essence, that McLean had revealed himself as opposed to hydro development by the people, and standing for the beginning of the full school term the first free school books—for students up to grade V—could be issued. "This," declared the speaker, "is only a beginning, but it shows clearly that the government is alive to the constant needs and changes of social and educational life."

A Clean Record

After Colin MacKenzie had given a short address on "The Public Debt," the Attorney General opened his memorable speech by expressing his appreciation of the hearty welcome extended to him which was manifest by loud applause as he rose to his feet. He stated that time did not permit him going over the governments record. This stood for itself. He lauded Dr. Roberts for his good work as minister of Public Health, pointing out that this gentleman did this work without any remuneration beyond his sessional indemnity. He referred to the matter of School Inspection and other Health Work among the young.

The speaker declared, however that there were several matters with which the average elector was not very familiar and he proposed to refer at least briefly on these topics. He lauded Dr. Roberts for his good work as minister of Public Health, pointing out that this gentleman did this work without any remuneration beyond his sessional indemnity. He referred to the matter of School Inspection and other Health Work among the young.

The speaker pointed out the great necessity of this work among children for only through an up-to-date health policy designed to meet the needs of the times could the young of the land be adequately fitted in mind and body for the tasks of later life. Mr. Rand went on to relate how Dr. Roberts was essential and declared that the government had spent the people's money liberally and embracing every opportunity to formulate new improvements in the present Health Act. Any specific instance where there has been extravagance but knows that which he has envisioned the needs of there must have been some waste somewhere. (Loud laughter). In reply to this the speaker declared that the Veniot government showed itself to be an administration characterized by open-mindedness and in any other province in Canada and step with the constant need of changes 25% lower than in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba.

Health Work

The speaker declared, however that there were several matters with which the average elector was not very familiar and he proposed to refer at least briefly on these topics. He lauded Dr. Roberts for his good work as minister of Public Health, pointing out that this gentleman did this work without any remuneration beyond his sessional indemnity. He referred to the matter of School Inspection and other Health Work among the young.

The Road Policy

The Attorney General deemed it unnecessary to dwell upon the matter of the Governments' wise Road Policy. There had been criticism, he said, "Mr. Stewart" commented the speaker, "has seen a few men lying down by the roadside while on road work and the speaker therefore concluded that the Liberal government was rotten at the heart. This has been the nature of Mr. Rand's criticism in the house." Mr. Rand explained to some length why, he was steadily increased traffic, for the tasks of later life. Mr. Rand went on to relate how Dr. Roberts was essential and declared that the government had spent the people's money liberally and embracing every opportunity to formulate new improvements in the present Health Act. Any specific instance where there has been extravagance but knows that which he has envisioned the needs of there must have been some waste somewhere. (Loud laughter). In reply to this the speaker declared that the Veniot government showed itself to be an administration characterized by open-mindedness and in any other province in Canada and step with the constant need of changes 25% lower than in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba.

Speaking of Musquash Hydro the Attorney General showed up the fallacy of the opposition reports regarding the financial result of this venture the people that no obstacles of a financial nature should be allowed to that what Baxter would have the po-
