March 8 is to hand. The bulletin says :

March 3 is to hand. The builetin says:

A review of the weather of the week shows that there has been much regularity in the barmometric prosence, it having remained on the whole high. This, with the prevalence of rather high westerly winds, is in keeping with the fact of the continued presence of a high percentage of diseases of the respiratory organs, especially of bronchitis and influenza. Pneunonia, according to many observers, more severe when the come is excessive, has again increased in degree of prevalence from 2.5 to 3.4 per cent. Neuragias and rheumatism remain almost in the same position, as regards severity, that they occupied last week.

Amongst fevers nothing worthy of special mention is observed, unless it be tnat a number of cases of enteric fever are reported from district iti., where it occurs amongst the six most prevalent diseases. Intermittent again appear in district iv., as well as in vii., viii. and x., its favorite haunts.

Zymotic diseases show no evidence of increase in degree of provalence, except in the case of measles. This disease, oscilating from week to week, has this week made a great advance, having a preva'ence amounting to 4.5 per cent, of over 3700 cases of reported disease. In some cases schools have been practically closed by its prevalence. Had early precautions been taken by parents and school suthorities to prevent the children of infected families from attending chool, such undesirable results would in most cases have been avoided. Although diphtherias seems for the time to have decreased, yet a number of sad cases of death from it have been reported.

Smallpox, breaking out so near as Buffalo, becomes again the occasion for reminding all to be armed against jits advances. An unfortunate instance has been reported from one district of a medical gentleman being attacked by the dise ase while lending aid to others similarly affected.

He kindly gave me an order for admission to the next attempt at a dress rehearsal, which I accordingly attended on Saturday, when the exhibition and the man were both arrested by Capt. Williams, amid unanimou jacent streets. Robberies in this locality cries of "Shame! shame!" from six or seven hundred of invited guests like lost $400 in Pearl street and numerous of the robberies of more or less magnitude are reported. It would be a good idea to make a general descent on the unlicensed inquerious, and other resorts for crooks in the blocks bounded by Yonge, Simce, Queen and Eaplanade streets. There are also houses north of Queen street that demand police attention.

The other lectures will all be delivered in McMaster hall, according to the following program: Wednesday, 14th, 3 p.m.—An exposition. 8 p.m.—"The Graphic Art." Thursday, 15th, 3 p.m.—An exposition. 8 p.m.—"The problem of prayer."

The swindle planned by a Cincinnati showman consisted in advertising for a treasurer for a minstrel show, and getting $500 from a candidate as pretended security. A country grocer was caught by the prospect of making a tour of the country on a salary of $25 a week, with all expenses paid, and he supposed that he was safe against fraud because a company was ready to actually strict out. But the performers were amateurs, lured into the affair at no cost to the country with the property of the entry of the temple. The architecture was magnificent—Grecian, with the exception of some large Tawish gilded spiral columns. No cost nor labor had been spared in making everything as faithful a representation as possible of the originals, both in scenery and costume. The temple of that period was Grecian, having been built by Herod, and, being the fifth temple since the originals one of Solcmon and Hiram Abiff; four destructions having preceded that of the Romans under Titus. After a beautiful hymn by a chorus of Jewish women on the left, the ark of the covenant, a large gilt coffer, surmounted by two kneeling angels facing each other, was brought in by Levites. The high priest in the centre, assembled in a court of the temple. The architecture was magnificent—Grecian, with the exception of some large Tawish gilded spiral columns. Mr. Morse, his counsel Mr. Howe, and Capt. Williams appeared on the stage, contrasting strangely with all the rest that filled it. There was an excited speech from Mr. Howe, denouncing as an unlawful outrage this arrest of Mr. Morse and stoppage of a religious entertainment, not public, but given solely to invited guests in what was the host's dwelling house. Mr. Morse was compelled by the audience to come forward. He made a short, earnest speech, the main point of which was that he was there to preach "Jesus Christ" in what he thought to be the most impressive and effectual way of doing so. An old gentleman, Judge Thorne, from the gallery began to bear testimony to having three times witnessed the same performance at San Francisco, where there had been nothing of either a profane or an irreligious char-

OTTAWA, March 9-The most animated scussion of the session so far took place in the commons this afternoon on the que tion of the double return in King's county P. E. I. The opposing candidates were Robertson (liberal), and McDonald (conser vative). The former received a majority of the votes, but the returning officer; instead of declaring him elected, reported that he was ineligible because, at the time of the election, he was a member of the local legislature of Prince Edward Island. At the close of Mr. Blake's speech Sir John Macdonald rose with an air of injured and indignant innocence, and twisting Mr. Blake's reference to his constituencies into a personal attack upon himself, retorted by accusing Mr. Blake of having been conveniently absent through supposed illness from the election committee in 1877 during the whole time of the enquiry into the charges against the late Speaker Anglin.

Ald. Hallam arose and with much enthusiasm seconded the motion. He had had this question in his mind a good deal for some time past, and the longer he pondered able gentleman dared to say such a thing.

Sir John's clever bit of acting succeeded for a moment in turning attention away from the subject of discussion, and in partially breaking the effect of Mr. Blake's speech. Mr. McCarthy, however, again took up the thread of discussion, arguing for a reference to the committee.

Mr. Weldom maintained the opposite ground, after which, it being within a few minutes of six o'clock, Mr. Hector Cameron moved the adjournment of the debate in order to enable members to go to the Survivors of the steamer Navarre say Tuesday, 200 miles from Christiansand Navarre was struck by a heavy sea. The cargo shifted and on Wednesday the fore-hold filled. When a fishing smack approached the Navarre ten men took a b proached the Navarre ten men took a bost and boarded the smack, letting the small boat go adrift. The smack sailed around the sinking steamer, but having no boat was unable to render assistance. The emigrants were clinging to the rigging, the sea washing over them. Another smack soon arrived when fitteen of the Navarre's men endeavored to reach her in another boat. It swamped and all the occupants were drowned. A steamer arrived at the spot, only in time to reccus six persons who were struggling in the water as the Navarre foundered,
