A $1000 CHALLENGE

The Mail Printing Company, Toronto: In your issue of the Daily Mail of Nov. 7, the following advertisement appeared:

The Mail invites your inspection of its subscription list and its program returns. It has a circulation of over 100,000 copies daily.

Mr. Chamberlain's Position in England. Quite apropos of Mr. Chamberlain's article in the "English Review" is published by The New York Times.

He has made a great deal of noise about his position in England. He has been accused of having turned Tory, and of having betrayed the cause of Democracy in England.

These are greater orators, says Mr. Chamberlain. They are the great orators of the world. They are the great orators of the world.

St. Clair Avenue Drive. Editor World: Referring to your report of the St. Clair Avenue Drive, it will be noted that the drive is now open.

Manufacture of Iron in Canada. Editor World: The advocates of Commercial Union contend that the manufacture of iron in Canada, for Canada alone, must prove a hopeless and unprofitable business.

Mr. Wiman's People. From the Ottawa Journal. It is clear that while Mr. Eustace Wiman may be, according to his lights, a warm friend of Canada, he is not a friend of Great Britain.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES IN COUNCIL

First Annual Meeting of the Association. An Address by Hon. G. W. Ross. The first annual meeting of the Provincial Association of Public and High School Trustees of Ontario was held at the Hotel Toronto on Tuesday afternoon.

Some Features of Commercial Union. Editor World: The organs of Commercial Union remind me of New Orleans in the time of slavery. It was a city where the white men were the masters and the black men were the slaves.

Commercial Union and Amalgamation. Editor World: The Commercial Union is a movement for the amalgamation of the English and French Canadian peoples.

Who Won the Match? The match between the two teams was a close one. The home team won by a narrow margin.
