Grass and Clover Ensilage

(Experimental Farms Note)

When the term "ensilage" is used in Canada, it nearly always refers to ensilage made from corn, for the reason that co n is practically the only forage plant which is used for ensilage in this country. There are, however, a considerable number of forage plants which may be converted into ensilage of high feeding value but, so far, only such plants which cannot very well be cured into hay and which, at the same time, produce bulky crops have been utilized for the purpose. For the same reason, grasses and clovers are not looked upon as belonging to the class of forage plants from which ensilage may be satisfactorily and economically made, and yet the first ensilage produced in modern times was made from

Thus, history tells us that the people living in the countries bordering on the south eastern coast of the Baltic Sea in Europe made it a practise, long ago, to preserve their grass crops in a unique manner. Trenches were dug in the ground to a considerable depth and filled Marketing Of Poultry Pro- with freshly-mown grass. The grass was packed as hard as possible and, when the trenches were well filled, it was loaded down with large stones so as to be kept under heavy pressure. After a certain time a product was obtained which to all intents, and purposes was identical with what is now called ensilage. This method of converting the grass into a wholesome and nourishing food was later, in a somewhat modified way, applied to Indian corn in France where, as a matter of fact, the making of corn ensilage was first successfully attempted. From France the method was brought to this continent where it was perfected and soon gained universal popularity wherever corn could be raised remunerdirty eggs should be retained for atively for fodder.

It is the irony of things that, while corn became increasingly The eggs should be neatly packed if for private trade, they are made more attractive if put into neat cartons.

The sooner the eggs are in the hands of the consumer the greater the satisfaction and consequently the better the price received. And not only grass but clover. The pullets should be early so that production will be heavy. If at any time during the season the eggs become so plentiful as to cause a glut in the market forcing down a glut in the market forcing down which recently have been conducted at the Dominion Experimental it is often advisable to use a good Farm, Agassiz, B. Dosen't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic.

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?
