Literary Notes.

Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron, author of “In a Grass Country,” “A Lost Wife,” “The Wicked World,” etc., contributes the complete novel to the August number of Lippincott's Magazine. It is an exceedingly well told love-story, with a very exciting climax. Mrs. Cameron's great popularity ensures a wide circulation for this new tale. “Walt Whitman's Birthday,” by Horace L. Traubel, which also appears in this number, is an account, taken from stenographic notes, of a dinner which was tendered to the poet by friends in honor of his seventy-second birthday. Whitman presided at the feast, and kept up a running conversation, in which he said many interesting things. The poet's talk has been preserved almost in its entirety. The texts of letters of greeting and congratulation are embodied in the article, — from Alfred Tennyson, John Addington Symonds, Moncreux Conway, Roden Noel, Charles Dana, and others.

Scribner's Magazine for August is a “Fiction Number,” and contains five complete short stories by Thomas Nelson Page, T. R. Sullivan, A. A. Hayes, Annie Eliot, and John J. a'Becket. Four of the stories are illustrated, each by an artist chosen for his skill in delineating the special characters and incidents which are the features of the tale. Albert Lynch, the famous French illustrator, W. L. Metcalf, Charles Broughton, and W. L. Taylor, are the artists whose work adorns these stories, producing a variety and delicacy of illustration seldom seen in a single issue of a magazine. This number also contains a long opening instalment of the new serial, “The Wrecker,” by Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne. The action of the story takes place, for the most part, in San Francisco, and in the South Sea Islands, among which the authors have been cruising for several years. The leading character is an American, and the story is one in which scene and action will strongly appeal to American readers. This instalment and each of the following will contain a single full-page illustration by William Hole, who illustrated “The Master of Ballantrae.”

The failure of a young lady to enter Yale, after signally proving her intellectual capacity to cope with the most brilliant young men with whom she would come in contact, has called general attention to the essentially conservative character of our great educational institutions. It is a pity that all places we should find progress. As if in answer to the hostility of conservative thought to woman's progress in the intellectual or educational sphere, The Arena for August presents no less than eight leading papers from representative thinkers among women of America and Europe, discussing political, educational, social, sociological, economic, and scientific themes, together with two literary papers, by Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the famed Egyptologist and novelist, who in a most delightful paper writes of her own home life. An excellent portrait of Miss Edwards accompanies this paper.

Good things in August Wide Awake: the three poems—the ballad by Harriet Prescott Spofford, “Pope's Mother at Twickenham,” the “Rain Song,” by Eli Shepperd, and “The Burglar Bee,” by Richard Burton the three stories—“Peg's Little Chair,” by Sarah Orne Jewett, “The Bride's Bouquet,” by Grace W. Soper, and “The Silent Lie,” by Francis E. Leupp; the three articles—“How the Cossacks Play Polo,” by Madame de Meisner, “An Odd Set,” by Eleanor Lewis, and “Mr. Brown's Playfellow,” by J. Loxley Rhee; the Margaret-Patty Letter, by Mrs. William Clafin; “An Unanimous Opinion,” by Helen Sweet; the three serials by Margaret Sidney, Elizabeth Cumings and Marietta Ambrosi, and the four pages of original anecdotes in “Men and Things.” Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. The police of Paris have searched the offices of the Panama Canal Company, and seized all the documents relating to the company's affairs.

While the western amateur athletes are determined to hold their sports on Sundays the horse racing authorities at South Side park, St. Louis, Mo., have determined that six days in the week will suffice for their purpose and that, therefore, there shall be no more races on the Sabbath. It will be seen that there is some good yet left in the ungodly horseman.

That's where Pearline goes.

Wherever there's hardwork for women, there it's needed. Easy washing goes with it.

Easy washing and better washing. Washing that doesn't wear out the clothes, or hurt the hands or fabric, or tire the washer. Washing that saves money but costs no more than the washing that wastes it.

When it does all this and more, is it any wonder that Pearline goes? And it does go. It goes to the help of millions of women every day. But there are some who won't be helped. And they're the ones who need it most.

Blowing Peddlers and some grocers will tell you, “this is as good as” or “same as Pearline.” IT'S FALSE—but what a puff for Pearline!
