LORD TENNYSON AS A CARET-CLEANER.

The poet, Tennyson, had his little misadventure, just as less gifted mortals do. One afternoon he called on some friends, learned that they were not at home, and decided to leave a note. The housemaid took him to the drawing-room, and gave him pen, ink and paper. When signing his name to his polite little missive, Tennyson, by a jerk of the elbow, overturned the ink-bottle, and great was his dismay at seeing a large pool of ink spread rapidly over his friend's new white Persian carpet of matchless beauty. Horrified, he rang the bell. Up ran the servant. "Do please help me!" cried the poet. It happened that the milkman had just left a can of frothing milk at the door, and the intelligent housemaid, remembering in the nick of time that new milk, if thrown over wet ink, would remove all traces of the despoiling fluid. Accordingly she overturned a jugful upon the large black pool, and, with household and cloths, set about rubbing and scrubbing at the stain. Down went Tennyson on his hands and knees, rubbing and scrubbing with his little helpmeet. His agony of mind lest his old friend should knock at the door and suddenly appear on the scene of disaster he often described in later days, declaring that it "reached the infinite." But with such good will did the strange couple work together that every trace of ink was removed. "Here is a five-shilling-piece, my good girl!" cried the poet, "and God bless you!" With that he seized his hat and made for the door. Some weeks later he invited Tennyson to dine with his old friend. He went; and the carpet was in no way alluded to on either side.

A MANITOBAN EXPERIENCE.

INTERESTING STORY FROM THE PRAIRIE PROVINCE.

A sufferer for Years from Kidney Troubles and Dyspepsia Tells How He Found a Cure—His Advice to Others.

From the Brandon, Man., Times.

Recently, while a reporter of the Times was in Dr. Fleming and Sons drug establishment, a customer came in and asked for a package of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This incident turned the conversation to the now world-known remedy, and the reporter asked whether, within their own observation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the remarkable remedy they are credited with being. The reply was given with a member of the firm, "during the year, more Pink Pills by far than any other proprietary medicine. The demand is largely increasing, and from what we hear, the results have been very beneficial to those using them. Indeed, if you call upon Mr. William Cooper, who resides on 13th street, you will probably get the particulars of a very interesting case."

The Times reporter felt that he would only be giving his readers an interesting story, but might be the means of doing out to some other sufferer the benefit of Mr. Cooper's case. With that in view, he called upon Mr. Cooper, and on making known his errand, was given a hearty welcome. "I have not the slightest objection," said Mr. Cooper, "to bearing public testimony to the great merit of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Indeed, I believe it a duty on the part of those who experience such benefit as I have done, to make known as widely as possible, the virtues of this most remarkable remedy. For many years I suffered intensely from kidney troubles, and dyspepsia, and only those who have been similarly afflicted, can understand how great a burden life is at times. I tried all, or nearly all the remedies said to be a cure for those troubles, but in no case did I get more than temporary relief, and when a recurrence of the trouble came, it seemed to be with greater intensity than before. I suffered so long that I despaired of ever being cured, and felt that even temporary relief was worth striving for. I was continually depressed in spirits, and sometimes could not help wishing myself dead. But now, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, all that is changed and despite my years, I feel as light-hearted as a school-boy. I was first induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through reading the accounts of the many marvellous cures that have appeared in the newspapers. I felt that if these wonderful pills had done so much for others, that there must be hope for me, and I was not disappointed. I had not taken them long before I felt a change for the better. It was not the feeling of temporary relief I had experienced before, my whole system seemed stronger and better. You may be sure, I continued the use of the Pink Pills, and the result is, I am today a well man. My troubles have entirely left me, and I have now much better health and strength than I have enjoyed for years before. You can, therefore, understand the feelings of gratitude I have for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I earnestly hope other sufferers will profit by my experience. I have recommended the Pink Pills to many others, and always with good results. I can tell you of one man whose body was covered with foul, mattery sores, who used Pink Pills and whose skin is now as clear and fresh as a child's. You may safely say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a great medicine, and that their virtues cannot be too widely known."

Mr. Cooper, whose statement is given above, is one of Brandon's most highly esteemed citizens, and his story may be implicitly relied upon by every under whose notice it may come.
