

or the ignorance and infatuation of dissent, more conspicuous. Nor is this remarkable elective sympathy confined to England: it is exhibited in every part of the British empire where constitutional government exists.

END OF VOL. I.

LONDON:

Printed by Schulze and Co., 13, Poland Street.