Workers Meet on Eve of Opening of Big Campaign.

Adopting Sir James Woods' summing up of the situation, "It's going to be the toughest campaign yet, but we're full of confidence," as their slogan some 500 canvassers of the Big Four drive which will start today, literally swept themselves and others off their feet in a great wave of enthusiasm at their a great wave of enthusiasm at their final organization meeting in the King Edwaru Hotel last night.

If "pep," enthusiasm, and optimism are any criterion, this drive is going keep on going even after it reaches its objective or $1,500,000.

Like a lot of schoolboys at recess, and yet with an undercurrent of something stern, were these men at last night's meeting. They cheered, they sang, and they laughed, but when the words of the leaders struck home on some telling phrase, they were silent, and then came a "Hear, Hear," pregnant with meaning. A spirit of comradeship and co-operation, was evident radeship and co-operation, was evident in every section of the meeting.

In the midst of the enthusiasm Sir James Woods repeated a few lines of "in Flanders fields where poppies grow, between the crosses row on row" and then he said "Will you please stand and silently pay a tribute to our heroic dead." The noise stopped instantly. The great crowd stood and with bowed heads however the great the great the great the great the great the great the stood and with bowed heads. eads honored the men who had fallen

Sir Robert Falconer spoke of the unique gathering and said if could not have taken place in any city outside of Toronto. The campaigns of the last four years created a mutual respect, and now after the heroism of action came the heroism of patience, one of the most difficult problems to face. "Now," concluded Sir Robert, "is the critical period, let's get over it with mutual respect."

Quoting Harry Lauder, "The war is not over if there is one soldier out of a job," Mayor Church told of the utmost importance of fulfilling the promise to the boys who have come back. His worship praised Toronto's war effort, and paid a graceful tribute to the women of the city, who he, said, had helped greatly in this record by encouraging their men folk to enlist. Reviewing the good work done by the patriotic fund, of which Toronto had contributed a very large share, the mayor stated there was need of this organization which was eed of this organization, which was

A Word for Labor. Mayor Church also praised the work of labor during the war for their unfailing service. There was labor unrest in the city, admitted his worship, but this was to be expected. "This organization," said the mayor, "is the first one which has not come to the city for a grant, but in every grant which the city made it got good value for every cent."

T. A. Russell in a short speech form a branch for Ward Two. Roy J. Taner occupied the chair.

T. L. Carruthers, of the central branch, outlined the aims of the league and stated that it was their purpose to figh agains all provincial and dominion legislation which interfered with the legitimate rights and freedom of the people. VETERANS

Owing to the fact that the celebration planned for tonight in connection with the "Big Four Drive," to raise $1,500,000 in Toronto this week, was to be a trench raid, and not a submarine attack, it has been found impossible to go ahead according to the plans made. The heavy rains have turned the Don Flats into a veritable marsh, and in order to conduct a raid the men would be required to work in water up to their waists. Because of the postponement and the greater time for preparation, the raid will be more thoroly carried out. There will also be a military tattoo, wrestling bareback on horses and other riding "stunts," as well as inspiring music.

66T DON'T see how that is."

"Well, he says that the great majority of people who had the 'flu' have suffered afterwards from weak heart action."

"I never had heart trouble."

"No, but the way the doctor explains it is that the nervous system is so weakened by the 'flu' that there is not enough nerve force left to drive the machinery of the body."

"That is about the way I feel, for I have no appetite, and do not feel able to stir."

"No, and you do not seem to digest the little food you do eat. So you cannot expect to gain strength. Why not try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food ?"

"Oh, I do not see how that would help

"Now, John, I think that is exactly what you need. It always helped me when I got run down in health, and I hear so many saying the same thing that I think you should give it a trial. You know yourself that you are not gaining any these days." "How would that help my heart?"

"Because it enriches the blood and increases the nerve force. Anything that strengthens the nerves will naturally strengthen the action of the heart, for the heart, like the stomach and other organs, is dependent on the nervous system for

"Well, you talk as though you knew. I guess your training as a nurse is coming in useful."
