Of the thirty-three jurymen called nine were challenged by the crown and thirteen by the defence. It is probable the prisoner's counsel will try to establish that the shot which killed the boy was accidently fired from inside by some member of the Hill Jamily during the excitement. The witnesses called by the crown were: Robert Hill, the eight year old sister, who was also wounded; High Constable Gorge Cochrane; Constable A. Moore; Dr. Douglas of Warsaw; Dr. J. W. Grey, county coroner; Ed. Dewart of Dunmer; Dr. Young; Dr. Bradd and Provincial Detective Wells, who gave evidence regarding the finding, location and calibre of the bullets. The evidence was practically that given at the preliminary hearing.

For the defence William Hill, brother of the deceased, who was nearly hit by the third bullet fired from Gove; Srifie; Robert, another borther; George Gallagher and Wm. Murphy, who were in the crowd that did the cheering on the fatal night; Clara Dewart, Dr. Greer, Thomas Parker, George Fitzgerald and Charles Gow, the prisoner, were examined.
