BREAD NOT FIT TO EAT.

Persons confined in the Jail who are guilty of No Crime—Lunatics, Too.

Who should be Removed.

The presentment of the grand jury read by Foreman Andrew Russell, states: "There are persons confined in the jail who should be elsewhere. Lunatics, one of whom was strapped down to his bed; infirm, destitute persons, not accused of any crime, but who are poor, and a young nursing mother—these should be more becomingly disposed of. The food supplied is not up to the standard, especially the bread which is of very inferior quality, not fit for human food."

REVELATIONS OF MARRIED LIFE.

Charge Against Mrs. Ingleby of Stealing Furniture Dismissed.

In the Assize Court yesterday the charge against Mrs. Gertrude Ingleby of stealing furniture from Thomas and Sarah Ingleby, the parents of her husband, was dismissed by Chancellor Boyd without going to the jury.

Mr. Kerr, for the Crown, said the defendant was married in 1872 to Geo. Ingleby. The young couple lived with the husband's parents, who subsequently moved to Detroit, leaving the young folks in the house. When the parents returned, they stayed out late and sometimes all night.

On March 31 last, the young wife reappeared at the house with a cart and removed the furniture, at the point of a revolver.

Mrs. Ingleby, Jr., testified in her own behalf. She said that during the greater part of her married life, she had supported the whole outfit. The furniture she took was paid for by herself. Her husband had only worked 10 months in three years. When she refused to support them any longer, they abused her and she left. Mr. Nicholas Murphy, Q.C., appeared for the defendant.

For French Eviction.

The Toronto Eviction Auxiliary held their monthly meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday at 3 p.m., Mrs. Brody occupying the chair. Mrs. Hutchinson read a letter descriptive of American Association work. Other interesting letters were read and the treasurer's report given. This latter was very encouraging, showing an increase in the receipts of this year over those of last.

H. Noye, John Archibald and Treasurer H. L. Stark. The report showed an expenditure of $24 and a distribution of 600 garments for the poor.

Time was when these beautiful Teas were sold for 70c and 80c lb. There was a large sale then for them, but since the market dropped and we were able to offer them at 60c and 90c lb., the demand has increased at rate only to be accounted for by their sterling quality.

There is one whose sale with us is steadily increasing—partly, no doubt, on account of the skillful manner in which it is advertised, and as the form of advertising has been chiefly by placing the tea itself before consumers in the form of a refreshing cup, we may infer that

DOMINION DAY REGATTA.

BOARD OF CONTROL GRANTS FOUR HUNDRED DOLLARS.

Also Orders the Payment of 21 Cents Per Hour to Builders' Laborers on the Craft House—Discussion of Freeway Tracks on Bevercourt-Road—To Provide Funds for the Permanent Pavement.

The Board of Control met yesterday afternoon, all the members being present.

A deputation from the rowing men of Toronto appeared before the Board and asked for a grant of $400 towards the expenses of holding a Dominion Day Regatta in Toronto. Ald. Laidlaw strongly opposed the grant being made unless there was a condition attached that the applicants should be allowed to hire the streets, as well as advertising it. The Board decided to recommend that the application be referred to the City Engineer.

The City and the Street Railway Companies

The reports of the Board of Works, providing funds for the permanent pavement to be laid between the Bevercourt-Road, between Bloor and Union-streets, gave rise to some discussion. Mr. Laidlaw, solicitor for the Street Railway Co., addressed the board on the matter, and stated that he had called upon the City Engineer to inquire into the cost of the railway pavement in the city. He stated that the railway company has an interest equally as great as the city.

Ald. Lamb: "What is that? What interest is your company? Is it simply an interest as far as the carrying of passengers and revenue you derive?"

Mr. Laidlaw stated that it was the interest which arose from a desire to suit the convenience of the public. He stated that the railway company had the desirability of extending the street railway tracks across the York-street bridge, which would be a great benefit to the city.

Continuing his remarks, he pointed out the desirability of extending the street railway tracks across the York-street bridge, which would be a great benefit to the city.

Mr. Laidlaw reviewed the legislation which had been obtained in order to allow the city to issue debentures for such purposes without obtaining the consent of the people by vote, and contended that it gave the city no power to issue debentures for such purposes. He stated that the annual revenue from mileage and fares which was paid by the street railway company.

Over One Million Dollars in Debentures.

Bylaws had now been passed and debentures for issues amounting to over one million dollars, and he contended that as there is only one small balance left available for the construction of these debentures, and there are also some pavements applied in the original agreement with the street railway company, which have not yet been constructed, and which will, when constructed, more than pay for the debentures issued; therefore, there are, therefore, no funds for this work, and the council had no power to issue debentures for such purposes without his consent. On this account he asked the careful consideration of the board, as the question was one of grave importance, and that the board obtain a statement from the City Engineer in this respect.

The Mayor suggested that the issue of the agreement of the agreement by the City Engineer in 1892, when the list of debentures was issued, and that it be made was finally revised. He also pointed out that the period of the debentures was for five years, and he suggested that the period be extended for 10 years. Therefore provision for the cost of repairs for the second five years.

Is the Sinking Fund Adequate?

Mr. Laidlaw further expressed a desire that the City Treasurer should set aside the sinking fund now set aside for the debentures, and take up the debentures as they fall due. The amount which the city would receive on the sinking fund would be $900,000, and he calculated that on this basis the city would be at an annual loss of $120,000.

In conclusion, Mr. Laidlaw urged the board to take the most careful consideration of the street railway pavement fund, and expressed his belief that the debentures, which it is proposed to issue, would be ultra vires.

On motion of Ald. Lamb, however, the report was adopted, and sent on to council for approval.

Will Pay 21 Cents an Hour.

A deputation of the striking Bricklayers' Laborers waited upon the board and presented a letter from J. T. Campbell, secretary of the Stone Cutters' Association, asking that the city make arrangements to have the work proceed on the new Court House building, and that the bricklayers be allowed to resume work at 21 cents per hour on the condition that they would get the advance if the men won.

The Mayor suggested that a sum be set apart by the city from which the three cents per hour, which is in dispute, could be paid until the matter was arranged.

Ald. Graham moved that the men be paid 21c per hour and that $75 per week be appropriated to meet the extra amount, pending a settlement.

Ald. McMurrich favored granting the request of the deputation.

Ald. Lamb inquired into the line, and the principle of Ald. Graham's motion was adopted, and the City Solicitor instructed to prepare a suitable report.

Want the Six Best Men.

The question of re-organizing the Tax Collecting Department was mentioned, and the City Treasurer was instructed to at once prepare a report and select the six best men to be retained.

The contract for repairing asphalt pavements was awarded to A. W. Godson & Co.

WORK OF PROFESSIONALS.

The Burglars Who Blow Open the Safe at Forest Ave. Wait Until the Robbery is Over in the States.

Inspector John Murray returned last night from Forest, where he has been investigating the bank robbery which occurred in that place on April 1 last. On that date Smith's banking house was visited by clever thieves, who secured entrance to a burglar-proof vault and got away with about $1500 in bills. Sometimes this banking establishment has on hand as much as $50,000, but fortunately there was only the comparatively small sum stolen in the vault on the night of the burglary.

After fully investigating the case, Detective Murray is satisfied that the robbery is the work of three professional burglars, two of whom were released from Kingston Penitentiary last fall and the other a man well-known to the detectives. They have all passed through Detective Murray's hands before. It appears that the robbers boarded a train in the Saratoga tunnel and got off in Forest. They were seen in the night previous to the robbery, and their method of obtaining access to the vault was very skillful and they did it in a most workmanlike manner. They got through the outer door by the usual methods, then through the second door by a new system, the combination being worked off and a heavy charge of fulminate of mercury and detonating powder being inserted with a force pump. The inner part of the safe thus being blown away. They used an ingenious method to get into the vault, which was done by four immense iron railroad ties being fastened to the wall and the great weight of the blast went off. These ties had to be carried some distance from the track, which shows the daring and determination of the marauders.

After securing their booty the thieves went to Keyes's Corner, where they left some important papers behind, which Detective Murray secured. They next went to Stratford, where they separated. All of them turned up in Port Huron afterwards, and were taken into custody by the State police. From enquiries made regarding the suspects, it transpires that they all are flush with money at present. It will be unsafe for them to set foot on Canadian soil again.

Q.O.R. FOR KINGSTON.

Twenty-fourth of May to be Spent in the Limestone City.

The Queen's Own Rifles will spend the Queen's Birthday in Kingston. So it was decided at Wednesday's parade, when the men of the battalion unanimously voted for a trip to the Limestone City. There were other pressing invitations, which will probably be deferred for next year.

They were 688 of all ranks on parade, including 45 recruits. The battalion marched in a short march out, and then practised drill at the Armoury parade ground.

The next orders were read, by which Capt. Boyce Thompson receives his brevet majority.

It has been arranged that the regiment will leave by special train on Saturday evening, May 23. On Sunday, the band in great will parade with the Kingston corps for divine service, and on Monday a review will be held, the Rifles leaving for home in the evening.

Disloyalty and Fraud.

Editor World: How can the authorities and rulers of our city expect the citizens to be loyal and obedient to the law, when we continually see prominent citizens who are guilty of all the worst crimes, and who are treated with contempt and with impunity?

The payment of Mr. Archibald's salary on the 30th of April, after having refused the order on the 29th of April, is a gross violation of the law. I am not a member of the legal profession, but I claim to be clear enough on matters of law. It is quite to be seen that if Mr. Archibald's salary for the month was not payable for the reason stated on the 29th of April, near was it due and payable on the 30th. But after the month had expired, which would be May 1, the order was issued, and the salary was paid. When city officials can do such senseless, unintelligent and unlawful acts, I ask again what should be expected from the great untaught? Do you not think, sir, that the Treasurer should be made to defend himself against a charge of acting with intent to defraud?

Referring to the "hardship" placed upon the Inspector of being ordered to pay these moneys, I would say, first, I have borrowed the word "hardship" from the new news of the day, but I do not understand, and quite a few male old women, who claim to be in sympathy with the Inspector, never comprehend what their feelings would be like if they had been placed in the same position as the Inspector. I may add further, that in a well-kept scrapbook I have a record of the misdeeds of the Toronto police, dating back to the time when thousands of dollars was illegally taken from the hotelkeepers of our city, and the record will show that it was the illegal action of "Constable" Archibald that aided his promotion on the force. But sir, what can one expect when our offices are filled with tin-pot men?

This steamer has very comfortable cabin accommodations.

WILL IT BE MR. BASTEDO?

Sir Oliver Mowat's Private Secretary May Become Surrogate Court Clerk.

Ever since the death of Hon. T. W. Anglin, the Ontario Government has been besieged with applications for the surrogate of the late Hon. T. W. Anglin, a position which is a demerit rendered vacant. It is probable however, as a prominent Liberal told the World yesterday, that the position will not be filled until after the Dominion elections. Then, it is stated, the Ontario Government will be in a case of emergency, and Sir Oliver Mowat goes to Ottawa, Mr. S. T. Bastedo, the Premier's private secretary, will be made clerk of the Surrogate Court in case of emergency. It is thought that Sir Oliver will not be able to get on with the duties of his office for 14 years' standing, as long as he remains at the head of the Government. In England, however, it is not so, but somebody else, perhaps Mr. Benjamin Hughes of Jarvis-street will be allowed to have the $2000 job.

PREFERENTIAL TRADE.

A Buffalo Journal Wonders Why This Has Not Been Adopted Long Ago.

Buffalo, May 7.—Commenting on Sir Charles Tupper's address to the Canadian electorate, The Enquirer says to-day: Sir Charles Tupper suggests adding to the list of preferential trade schemes for a preferential tariff for Great Britain and its possessions; and it is a mystery to us why the plan was not adopted long ago. There is something very incongruous in clinging to the skirts of England, and yet levying protective duties to shut out her manufactures. This question interests us more than either the free trade or protection on part of our neighbors, as a preferential tariff would give the manufacturer in England an advantage over Canada, and the natural products of Canada an advantage in England.
