is what the people of Canada now find in

It is absolutely without a peer. Supplied to our young people during the time in life when their characters are in the process of formation, it must exercise a tremendous influence over the manhood and womanhood of the rising generation.

The eminent biographer of CHARLES DICKENS says of Dickens: "It was well that the literature of his childhood was good of its kind, and that where it was not good it was at least gay. Dickens afterwards made it an article of his social creed that THE IMACINATION OF THE YOUNG NEEDS NOURISHMENT AS MUCH AS THEIR BODIES REQUIRE FOOD AND CLOTHING."

President Clark of the Christian Endeavor Union says: "The art of reading may be either a blessing or a curse; it depends upon what is read. We must substitute good books for bad, wholesome books for unwholesome books. The task of selection should not be left to chance. PARENTS SHOULD SEE TO IT THAT PROPER BOOKS ARE PLACED IN THE HANDS OF THEIR CHILtute good books for bad, wholesome books for unwholesome books. The task of se-DREN AT THE PROPER TIME."
