band concert by the 48th Highlanders' Band and Highland dancing by a troupe of little girls in costume. Great interest was manifested in the horse racing.

The trotting and racing events were the best ever seen on the track, and great credit is due to the gentlemen who acted as officials to the judges' stand, as they were alert to anything that looked like a foul, and warned the horsemen that the races were to be run from wire to wire. All the horses that competed in the races were owned by members of the Toronto Driving Club, and they certainly gave the public lots of running for their money.

The trotting races were won by R. J. McNeill's trotting mare, Correll, who finished strong in the last two heats of a race that took three heats to decide. As a green mare, she is proving herself a real winner. Her trotting partner, Expelled, finished second, the last two heats of the first race. The first race horse has competed in this summer, he certainly proved himself a trotter, and the public is better off for his presence in his next race. The second race was won by the trotting mare, Correll, who finished strong in the last two heats of a race that took three heats to decide. As a green mare, she is proving herself a real winner.
