

REV. DR. RIBOURG AT SAINT ALBANS

Men Like Nations, Have
Longing for Divine Love,
He Says.

Rev. Dr. Ribourg, preaching Sunday evening at St. Albans' Cathedral, on "The Springs of Life," said in part: "There are three springs of life, as in every nation's life, when the longing for God comes to the surface, and whenever souls have dared to confess their inmost need, we get the same note of aching desire as in Augustine, Pascal, Hugo and thousands of others. It is the longing for the life of God, or for national events send men, at first secretly, and then openly, to drink to the ancient springs, and make them pour forth their prayers in the old-time words: 'My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God, as a nation. We are passing through such experience now. We had put our hope in our civilization, which we thought to be eternal, and suddenly our eyes have been opened to the reality. We have discovered that, although beautiful and wonderful structure, it was not established on the unshakable foundation of God's righteousness. We have been long trusting in material prosperity, yet these things have failed to keep peace and harmony among men. These things have pushed God clear of his throne. My people,' said the Lord, 'have committed two evils. They have forsaken Me, the fountain of living waters, and have hewn them out of cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water.' That is the tragedy so often repeated. Science is good, art is good, culture is good, but none can satisfy the yearnings of the human soul. 'There is something in man,' said Carlyle to Tyndal, 'that science cannot satisfy; that something is the thirst of the spirit.' And so, over the walls of human faculties and delights, over the cisterns, which men have hewn out for themselves, excellent as many of them may be, nevertheless, he written this saying: 'Whoso drinketh of this water shall thirst again.' Therefore, if the spiritual craving within us is to be satisfied at all, it must be from some inward fountain of life. Deep needs call for deep supplies."

"We may not hope for outward forms to win the passion and the life whose fountains are within."

No age has ever needed real religion more than our, and perhaps never in all our lives will there be greater need than that we now experience. The men and women of our day are almost certain to be overwhelmed by anxiety, perplexities, and sorrows, unless they have faith and peace and strength in God—other words, unless they quench the thirst of their souls with the living God.

W. D. McINTOSH DIES

Was Prominent Business Man and Member of Many Clubs.

In the death of Mr. W. D. McIntosh, Jr., which occurred on Thursday after a serious operation at the Rogers' hospital in Rochester, Minn., Toronto has lost one of her most representative and justly popular business men, and one who during nearly twenty years of business life has built up for himself a reputation for square dealing and sterling character, which was probably second to none in the mercantile life of this city.

The late Mr. McIntosh started in business here in 1855 as representative for Toronto and the west of David Morrison & Sons, selling agents of the Penman Company, a position which he had continued to hold since the business was taken over about fifteen years ago by Messrs. John Gordon & Son.

His genial disposition and strong earnest character, had gained for him a very large circle of personal and business friends, to whom the news of his death has come as a sudden and most unexpected shock. Mr. McIntosh was the eldest son of Mr. W. D. McIntosh, formerly a grain merchant in this city, who survives him at 84 years of age. He is also survived by his mother, a brother, who is postmaster at Prince Rupert, B.C., and one sister, Mrs. Mercer Adams, of Toronto.

He was a member of the Ontario Jockey Club, Albany Club, Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Board of Trade, and Empire Club.

RETIRE HUNDRED OFFICERS OF PERMANENT FORCE

Ottawa, June 6.—A return tabled in the house of commons by the minister of militia shows that 109 officers of the permanent military forces in Canada have been retired since the armistice, on pensions ranging from $416 to $5,200. One over $5,000; one over $4,000; three over $3,000; fourteen over $2,000; one ninety under $1,000 comprise the list of officers receiving permanent annual pensions.

Five officers have been promoted to generalships since the armistice. Of these only General Sir Arthur Currie and Major-General C. H. MacBrien, are still in the service. Of the eleven promoted to be brigadier-generals since the armistice, only 211 Gen. A. E. Swift is still in the service.

Believe Four Men Drown In Stony Lake, Saskatchewan

Prince Albert, Sask., June 6.—It is believed that four men, Frank Newton, Antonio Gould, Geoffrey Helms, and Robert Kinnaird, of Big River, have been drowned on Stony Lake. The men went out in a motor boat last Sunday and nothing was heard of them until Saturday, when wreckage, identified as part of their boat, was picked up on the shores of the lake.

Newton is a resident of Big River, 30 miles northwest of here, while Gould's nearest relative is Dr. Denmark of Langenburg, Sask. Helms's next of kin is Mrs. Sisson, of Regina, and it is said Kinnaird's relatives reside in Newlands, Ireland.

THREE COLLEGES HONOR GRADUATES

Reception for Successful Ones
From St. Michael's, St. Joseph's and Loretta Abbey.

A reception for the university graduates of St. Michael's College, St. Joseph's College and Loretta Abbey was held at St. Joseph's on Friday evening, when friends of the successful candidates and the staff and pupils of the institution gathered in the spacious auditorium to do them honor. Girls in white frocks and wearing the regulation college cap and gown, lined the platform, making a picturesque background for Dr. Thomas O'Hagan, the first speaker of the evening, who was introduced by Very Rev. Dean Harris as "essayist, poet, writer and the best Canadian scholar in Canada, and probably in America."

As an old pupil of St. Michael's, Dr. O'Hagan briefly sketched the fine work done by the Basilians from the foundation of the college to the present. Since affixing with the University, thirteen years ago, 111 pupils had taken the degree of bachelor of arts and the girls of the affiliated schools had 42 of their number who had obtained the same degree. Congratulations and the advice to go higher realms of education, its benefits and pitfalls, the importance of every step by the hand of religion.

On behalf of the graduates, Ruth Adams, a student of the college, read a poem of the year of the graduates, and the speaker, Rev. Father Carr, superior of St. Michael's, spoke of the fits and puffs of education, its benefits and pitfalls, the importance of every step by the hand of religion.

On Saturday afternoon the graduates of the year enjoyed a delightful boat trip and were guests at dinner of St. Michael's Alumnus.

COBBOURG'S NEW HOTEL OPEN SATURDAY

The new Arlington-Columbian, Cobourg, Ontario, opens for the season of 1920 on Saturday, June 12. Special attention to automobile and week-end parties.

TAG DAY TO RAISE MONEY FOR ATHLETES

Ottawa, June 5.—With a view of obtaining sufficient funds to send the Canadian Athletics to the Olympic games, the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Federation, expressed the wish that in this city and will turn over the bulk of the proceeds to the Olympic committee.

It now develops that the Canadian committee are ready in need of funds to send the team across the ocean. The Dominion government has granted $20,000 towards the fund, but an equal amount is still necessary. In Toronto the scheme of holding a tag day was first proposed by the Sportsman's Patriotic Association and by this way they are confident they can raise considerable money.

The federation at last night's meeting also decided that if Ottawa is to have a representative at the Olympic games, that Mr. Mike Goodwin be sent over in charge of the Canadian boxers and wrestlers.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS— Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundredth Wife.

BY HELEN ROWLAND.
(Copyright, 1920, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

HEAR now, my daughter, these "Polite Proverbs for Damsels," which are Mrs. Solomon's: "Lo, in the daily communion of matrimony, a cheerful disposition is more to be desired than blond hair, and a sense of humor more comforting than a Scotch conscience."

But a little artistic temperament is a terrible thing! Think not to know a man before marriage. For courtship is only the prospectus of matrimony, and resembleth it no more than the advertisement resembleth the summer resort.

And how shalt thou know any man until thou hast shared his breakfast, his troubles, and his newspaper—gone thru the pockets of his fishing clothes?

Wit atrageth the ear and a bright light the eye—but a damsel who can hold her tongue and look inscrutable can hold any man!

When other women pursue a man, he is not tempted, but stand discreetly aside. And, behold, when he is "back-lashed" away from his pursuers, he shall peradventure, back into their arms.

Scorn not the folly of thy friend who married first, nor say: "What could she see in him?"

For, verily, thou knowest not what thou mayest see in any man, when thou art dazzled by the moonlight in his eyes.

Sigh not for a Prince Charming, made in the image of Lou Tellegen and William S. Hart. For, alas, in real life there is no such paragon! And a pleasant-faced youth with five thousand a year and a flyover is not to be despised, because he lacketh a Greek nose, and maketh love like a freshman in a college of courtship.

Yearn not for a man who "understandeth" thee. For when a man hath learned to understand women, they are all as yesterday's newspapers—cannot understand.

Seek not to bind a man with promises. For a promise turneth a kiss from a pleasure into a duty, and a lie from a luxury into a necessity.

When a man praiseth "national dress for women," hearken sweetly and let him rave. But be not moved. For no woman hath ever walked over a man's heart in common-sense boots.

And many a man hath mistaken a pink chiffon tail for the aura of a beautiful soul.

While a man saith: "All thy ways are perfect, and all thy words are wonderful!" be not puffed up. But when he turneth critical, and seeketh thy going-away-gown, thou mayest choose thy going-away-gown.

For, he hath already begun to feel "husbandly."

Go to, my daughter! As one that seeketh a job in an artificial-flower factory because she understandeth botany, so is a damsel who goeth into marriage, with only her own theories and a cooking-school diploma.

But a wise virgin delighteth in instruction and keepeth my precepts. Selah.

"LUCK OF THE NAVY" PROVING POPULAR

Demand for Seats Heavy—
Numerous Attractive Offerings
at Toronto Theatres.

Tom Wise in "Cappy Ricks." Genial, smiling Tom Wise will tonight, at the Royal Alexandra, under the management of Edward H. Robins, again bow to the local patrons of the Robins Players when for the first time on any stage in Canada, his latest comedy success founded on the famous Saturday Evening Post stories by Peter H. Kyne, "Cappy Ricks" will be offered. Tom himself will naturally be seen in his original role, that of Alden P. Ricks, the little Napoleon of the Blue Star Navigation Co., familiarly known and called by his friends "Cappy." Cappy is a self-made man who has never acknowledged defeat either in his domestic or business life.

When Matt Peasly, one of his employees meets Florence Ricks, Cappy's daughter, and announces that he is to become a member of the family Cappy decides otherwise. Naturally many complications ensue in which Cappy is opposed by a member of his own family, and when the smoke of the battle has cleared away the spectator realizes that he has enjoyed an evening of mirth seldom rivalled and certainly never surpassed. Opposite Mr. Wise Edward H. Robins will be seen in the role of Matt Peasly, while Miss Reina Caruthers will play the part of Cappy's daughter, Florence. Graham Volsey will demonstrate his versatility in the role of a gilded youth from the East. The other members of the company and practically the entire company, will be seen, have been cast as only Mr. Wise knows how thereby ensuring a well-balanced presentation of "Cappy Ricks." The matinee will be as usual on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Daddy Dimples." A play combining all the laughter and many of the tears that are found in David Belasco's famous "Music Master" will be enjoyed by all who witness "Daddy Dimples," the brand new comedy that Edward H. Robins will present next week at the Royal Alexandra, with genial Tom Wise in the title role. This play was written especially for Mr. Wise by the two foremost authors in America, George Barr McCutcheon and Earl Carroll, and will be used to star Mr. Wise in this coming season. Seats will be placed on sale Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The demand for seats for "The Luck of the Navy," the popular English play which Mr. Percy Hutchinson and his talented company are presenting at the Grand last week was so heavy that the Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited arranged for the company to remain for one more week. As this positively the farewell engagement, Mr. Hutchinson will be seen in three of his great successes. Tonight, Tuesday evening, the company will present "General Post" will be presented; on Wednesday and Thursday evenings "Brewster's Millions," and on Friday and Saturday evenings "The Luck of the Navy." The two plays are said to have lost their drawing power, the popularity of "The Luck of the Navy" is still as great as when it was first produced. This is no doubt due to the excellent company of the star and the supporting company.

"The Birth of a Nation." The Grand Opera House will inaugurate a season of photoplays on Monday, June 14, and has selected production, as it is still the first place in the list of cinema productions, and continues to hold that position on account of its popularity. During the summer season a matinee will be given every day, and at the evening performances reservations can be made one week in advance.

At the Allen. A deluxe program, comprising a striking Eminent Authors production, a rollicking two-reel comedy and a splendid musical program by the Allen Premier Concert Orchestra is billed for the Allen this week. The feature attraction is a screen version of Gertrude Atherton's great novel, "The Tower of Ivory," filmed under the title "Out of the Storm." "Out of the Storm" is a story of romance and love. It is the tale of two countries—America and England—and the relationship, formalities to overcome the difficulty that a young English lord experiences before he finally marries the girl of his choice. The musical production is "The Tower of Ivory," a comedy, a revival of Charles Chaplin's most laughable comedy, "The Pawn Shop," and the Canadian National Pictorial completes a splendid bill.

At Loew's This Week. "Mack Sennett's 'Down on the Farm,'" the most sensational two-reel comedy of the season, features this week's bill at Loew's Yonge Street Theatre and Winter Garden. The Beatrice Morrell Sextette, a musical and vocal classic, headlines the vaudeville, which also embraces the Mystic Hanson Trio; Lee and Bennett; La Rose and Adam; Thornton Sisters, and Plugo and Fellowes.

"My Lady's Garter" at Strand. Who was "The Hawk"? When a poet and railroad magnate's daughter planned an elopement he was under the bride-to-be's window and made off with her jewels. He boasted that he would rob a bank and, to the place swarmed with detectives, he made good. To cap the climax, he stole the famous and historic jeweled garter of the Countess of Salisbury. "The Hawk" is the mysterious master-criminal in Maurice Tourneur's screen version of "My Lady's Garter," which opens at the Strand Theatre today. It is showing at 12, 2, 4 and 10.

"Why Change Your Wife?" at Regent. Photoplay fans who recall the luxurious beauty of Gloria Swanson, a former Canadian prime minister. He saw service overseas and was several times mentioned in despatches.

"Why Change Your Wife?" which is the attraction at the Regent Theatre this week. Miss Swanson has the role of a too-wisely wife, who neglects her beauty for her husband's unbecoming clothes and homely spectacles, and can't keep her husband home nights. Later, however, after her husband, played by Thomas Meighan, has wandered off with a designing siren, she realizes

"What's in a Name?" Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel. By MILDRED MARSHALL.

LORETTA. Loretta should by right of origin be spelled Loretta. It is present accepted form is due to the Italian influence which destroys the French "au" and supplies the letter equivalent to "u" on account of its popularity. Loretta signifies "laurel," but there is considerable difference of opinion in regard to her source. Some etymologists believe that it is taken from the masculine laureus and that the ladies so called should be Loretta.
