LOCAL NEWS

TUNISIAN IN
The C. P. O. S. liner Tunisian, which arrived off the island early this morning from Antwerp with 400 passengers, will dock this afternoon at No. 8 berth, Sand Point.

The ladies of the Victoria street Baptist church Bible class presented to district teacher, J. H. Watson, a pair of gloves and a cane last evening as a Christmas gift. The presentation was accompanied by an appropriate address.

ACCIDENT
Ronald Baines, of City Line, a C. P. R. trucker, was injured in the foot this morning when a box slipped off a truck. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital and later went to his home.

DEATHS OF WEEK
Fourteen deaths were reported to the Board of Health during the week. The causes were:—Pneumonia, four; senility, two; arterio sclerosis, two; carcinoma, septicaemia, heart disease, acute indigestion, sarcoma of lung and bowel trouble, one each.

ROBBED IN STREET
It was rumored around town this morning that a lady was the victim of a pick pocket Christmas Day or yesterday. She was walking along the street carrying a hand bag inside of a shopping bag. The thief cut the straps of the bag making a get away with more than $20.

SANTA CLAUS THERE.
The children at the Municipal Home were given a pleasant surprise on Christmas Day when Santa Claus appeared with a present for everyone. The gifts distributed by Santa were from the children of St. John's church in West St. John. The delight of the little ones was testimony of their appreciation.

LODGE MEETING
St. John's Lodge, I. O. G. T., met last night in Thorne Lodge, Thorne avenue, with the district chief templar, William Arbo, presiding. Some candidates were initiated in the district lodge degree and routine business was discussed. Refreshments were served by the members of Thorne Lodge and a vote of thanks was passed for their hospitality.

BURIED TODAY
The funeral of Oran Lasky took place this afternoon from his late residence, Sheriff street. Service was conducted by Rev. G. D. Hudson and interment made in Cedar Hill. Members of Dominion, L. O. L., marched in a body from the house to the grave.

The funeral of Joseph Rowley took place this afternoon from his late residence, Loch Lomond. Service was conducted by Rev. J. B. Gough and interment made in Loch Lomond cemetery.

RECOVERING
AFTER THE FIRE
Situation at the Corner of Mill Street and Paradise Row.

The owners of the buildings in Mill street and Paradise Row which were burnt in the recent fire in that locality are losing no time in seeking to rebuild and repair the damage. Insurance adjusters have been busy engaged all week in ascertaining and appraising the damage as affecting the insurance. On account of the exceeding high rate of the premium the insurance carried by the several proprietors was much below the value of the buildings.

George A. Chamberlain had no insurance on either his Paradise Row house or his Mill street property. He has several men at work clearing away the debris and attempting to build. The insurance on the S. H. Hawker building is now being adjusted. E. Bates is acting for the insurance company and F. Heas for Mr. Hawker. The insurance on the stock has been arranged and Mr. Hawker has opened up in the building formerly occupied by M. A. Harding.

The insurance on the property of W. A. Steiner has been settled and the damage to the stock and tools, temporary repairs have already been made to this building and business is being carried on as usual.

A. Marakis, who occupies a store in the Steiner building has had the damage to his stock by water and smoke adjusted and has reopened his tobacco and shoe shine emporium. J. Piers who occupied the dwelling over these stores has moved back to the rooms again. He carried no insurance and his damage to his furniture was considerable.

The St. John Power Company's men have stemmed off the ice from the wires in front of the burnt buildings, the public works department has removed much of the ice and rubbish from the sidewalk and good progress is being made to restore the conditions in that section to normal.

F. G. SPENCER MAKES BIG BUY
Secures Large Property Parcel in Charlotte Street Recently Purchased by W. B. Tennant.

A Charlotte street real estate deal consummated this week, is almost suggestive of western Canada conditions, in 1912 or thereabouts. About ten days ago W. B. Tennant purchased the big property opposite the Dufferin, including two brick buildings 100x200 feet, which has for long been regarded as one of the most attractive pieces of real estate in the city. A week later Mr. Tennant disposed of his purchase to F. G. Spencer, who in view of his ownership of the adjoining land on which is located the Unique Theatre, will now have 100x200 feet in the heart of the business district.

The fact that the rear of this property has usually been regarded locally as ideal for a theatre, coupled with Mr. Spencer's purchase, seems rather significant. The brick buildings on this big property, beside the Unique Theatre, include five stories, two large billiard halls and a hotel.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

The co-operation of advertising patrons is requested in the direction of getting "copy" into the business office on or before this date, on the day previous to publication. Very often the receipt of a large advertisement or even regular changes after that hour serves to dislocate the regular work of getting the paper made up in time to catch the mails—and not infrequently such ads. are at the last moment left out.

This situation is not of service to either the advertiser or our readers and we, therefore, request that copy be received in the business office

SUGGESTS JACK FLYNN AS THE MANAGER HERE

Hugh Duffy Writes to Joe Page About the New England League Matter.

That Hugh Duffy, the new manager of the Toronto Leafs and one of the most successful minor league baseball players in many years, thinks well of this city and is interested in St. John getting into the New England League, is evident from a letter which he sent to Joe Page, it is under Roxbury, Mass. date, as follows:—

"I have made arrangements to manage the Toronto Club for next year. It seems impossible to get a line on what the New England League is going to do. If you can get a franchise from Donnelly I can tip you off to a good man to handle the team, Jack Flynn, who managed the Waterbury team. I had a talk with him at the New York meeting and he seemed very much impressed with the idea. I think well of St. John and want to thank you for giving me the chance to go there. Wishing you a happy Christmas, I remain,

Yours truly,

HUGH DUFFY.
It may be added that this is not the first mention of Flynn to Mr. Page. He had previously been recommended from a source very high in baseball. Mr. Duffy is a man of wide experience in management of baseball teams and has piloted no fewer than three major league clubs including the Chicago Sox, and to speak of half a dozen teams in class A leagues. His interest in St. John is therefore something worth while and is his recommendation of Jack Flynn as manager here. Flynn was a noted major first baseman and is still in the playing game. He also managed three pennant-winning clubs in the Eastern League.

It is pleasing to note that arrangements on the outside seem progressing and equally pleasing to state that there is no local activity—though quiet as yet—that is fast reaching completion of arrangements for St. John's part in getting into the N. E. League.

THE LADY WITH THE LONGING LOOK

(Written for The Times.)

It was Christmas eve and I was one of that prosaic crowd which always proves the bone of holiday-worn shop assistants with its eleven hour gift-purchasing expeditions. She caught my eye the moment I stepped inside the shop door; with impetuous countenance she gazed at me through which passed to and from continually, yet never a smile spread over the beautiful face—never a sign of recognition. Her face held a certain expression as though expecting the appearance of someone whom she had begun to fear would not arrive. My heart went out to her instantly, so much alone she seemed amid the crowds that surged by her and I became wrapped in conjecture as to the cause of her anxious, sorrowful look.

She was young—not more than twenty, I would say—tall and stately with a decided air of refinement, which the clothes she wore tended to confirm. Under cover of making a purchase, I stopped at the counter across the shop and very slowly turned my head—somehow or other she caught my curiosity. In her blue eyes there seemed a longing, dreamy look as they gazed ahead—never wavering either to right or to left. Thinking she might take offence at my rude staring I proceeded with my purchases, promising to call back for them before closing time. As I passed her on the way out she had hardly moved, except that now she was staring a few feet farther away from the continually opening and closing door. I was tempted to approach her and offer my assistance but prudence prevailed and I went out.

When I returned an hour or two later the shop was almost deserted and the lady had gone from the door. I was glad, yet frankly disappointed. As I entered, however, I caught my breath sharply—there she was standing now with her back to the shop and her face pressed closely against the draperies which lined the inside of the window frame. She had given up the search—she was acknowledging defeat in tears! I crossed over and gently laid my hand on her arm—she did not move a muscle; I caught her dainty sleeve and tugged it slightly; she responded not. Her grief had taken her miles outside herself; I was almost in tears myself. Catching her two arms firmly I turned her about—her eyes stared vacant and dry at my forehead. I spoke but no answer came. Pressing her arm I exclaimed loud, then started laughing straight into the placid face.

How natural these were figures which the ingenuity of men has made possible! I am laughing yet.

We Have Heard

—it said that the Specialty Shop idea creates extravagance. Strange, is it not, that so many should look upon an artistic environment as a creator of unwise spending? In truth it is nothing of the kind. There are simple inexpensive Garments, Hats, Scarves, etc., as well as the More Costly here.

Would this shop not be a good one in which to invest your Christmas money?
