The Family Market Basket

These are sad days for the family market basket.

Many events seem to have conspired to bring about higher prices, and the careful housewife must be wide awake to make ends meet.

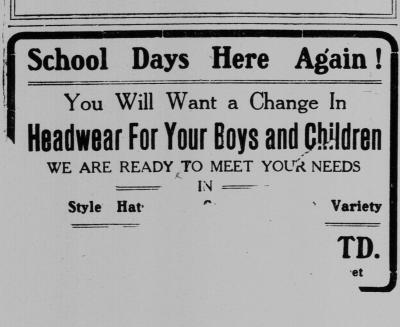

She cannot afford to purchase haphazard.

She must have the best available information of products and prices.

In these days the advertising columns of live newspapers like The Telegraph and Times are immensely valuable

They are the public market place. They keep a woman informed as to the greatest purchasing power of her dollar.

The woman who uses newspaper advertising for her guide is more apt to get 100 cents plus for her dollar than her neighbor who shops haphazard.
