

DRUG HABITS CRIP ON PARIS STUDENTS

Opium and Cocaine Are Making Ravages

DANCING MASTERS MEET

Waltz Known in Twelfth Century—Striking Story Brought Out of a French Prison for Women—The French Boy and Athletics

(Times Special Correspondence)

Paris, March 18.—Opium and cocaine are reported to have been making ravages in the Latin quarter. Four students and one young woman have been arrested on the charge of selling the drugs, and near-while they may continue their studies in prison cells. One of the students paid frequent visits to the municipal laboratory, not to secure books, but to appropriate quantities of cocaine, which he gave to the young woman to sell, and out of which they both made a good profit. This is what the police allege.

On the other hand, those who know the Latin quarter are astonished at the sudden virtuous indignation of the police. For years opium and cocaine have been consumed in large quantities. The owner of a brasserie says that all the world knew that for ten years and more nearly all the young folks who spent their nights in the cafes indulged in cocaine. For the last two years it has been in vogue. "Give me some coco," is a common request between young women and students, and one of them usually has enough of the drug to satisfy the whole company. They come to a cafe keeper and say:—"Patron, have you a cabinet where we can indulge in coco?" and the "patron" usually has the place available.

As soon as a newcomer, often a girl, turns up she is made to taste the drug. She soon gets to like it, and the students never asked for it. It is terrible how much more popular the cocaine dose are compared with the lecture halls. But it is a matter which the old habitues of the Latin quarter think concerns the parents of the young people more than the police.

THE DANCING MASTERS

French and foreign dancing masters have held their international assembly in Paris, and the report of the meeting contains some curious remarks about the history of various dances. The waltz is, according to this document, not a recent invention. Instead of being only one or two hundred years old, it dates back to 1178. On November 9 of that year it was danced for the first time in Paris. It was made the official dance at the court of the Valois kings. It immediately became popular all over the continent, and was introduced in castles and cottages with equal enthusiasm.

The youngest dance is the one-step, which, the report says, was imported from Brighton, Eng., by Miss Welch, in 1910. Miss Welch brought it over to France, where it appeared in the salons only in 1912. The two-step was created only in 1868 by Washington Lopp, who caused it to become very popular in France. But the three-step Boston is of the oldest. It dates back to the year 878, during the reign of Louis II. The report states that during the festivals organized at court by Bernard de Menton, the three-step "bourgeois dance" and it is much like the Boston waltz.

The "Sherlockettes" was invented last year. It represents the exciting adventures of Sherlock Holmes, and the four social classes with which he came in touch. The figures are very original, and the style is novel. The international assembly declares that from good society the turkey trot and grizzly bear dance, as well as "tango," should be rigidly excluded.

From Out of Saint Lazare Mrs. Maitrejan, ex-directress of a paper "Anarchie" who has just been acquitted by the Seine tribunal, is preparing her memoirs, which promise both amusement and instruction, to judge from the following extracts from the chapter on "Eleven Months in Saint Lazare Prison," which are published in the "Paris Parloir."

"I cannot think of the common regime without a shudder. If you have not read the interior of the prison on the subject of the chief prison surgeon, try to imagine a large, scorching room, with fifteen or sixteen bunks side by side, in daytime used as a work-shop, and alive with insects. In one of these rooms I was quartered, and they gave me as companions vulgar tradesmen and a few thieves and laboring criminals. Women occupying the other cells were no better. The scandalous scenes that took place by night in one of these rooms were limited in the next one to me, and the Sisters of Mercy who were in charge had their eyes, for they could not stop it.

But one must be just to them, and allow that they used to interfere in one case, whenever the police brought in a woman who was always being convicted, and was called by everyone "Napoleon," because of the likeness of her profile and her short, badly dressed hair. "Napoleon" was only a poor unfortunate who, although young, was too fond of drink, and when her interest began manifesting the police so intently that they were obliged to arrest her. The sister only noticed "Napoleon" after the first night, and she lived very lively, wherever her was sent to prison, where she made things last without a second's interruption all night. Next morning all the women appeared as if awakened from a nightmare, and went to sleep over their work during the daytime. Latterly the sisters always put "Napoleon" in a cell reserved for the oldest inhabitants, where the less congenial society subdued her spirits.

"A change from committal detention to the place of special confinement called 'pavillon' was like paradise. My companions in 'pavillon' were generally tradesmen in grocery, butchery, and other handicrafts. Passionate accidents had temporarily deprived them of their liberty. For four and a half months Mme. Bloch was with us, and every one of these women had either killed or wounded her husband or lover, but, nevertheless, they were charming company.

The physical education of the youth of France is soon to be taken in hand and properly directed. There is already, and there has been for some time, a steadily growing enthusiasm among the boys of the country for athletics, but this enthusiasm, unless properly regulated, is not calculated to produce anything like the best results. M. Gabriel Bervalot is at the head of a movement which has for its object the proper direction of the physical education of the French youth. He is a man who has travelled widely and seen the benefits of athletics in all countries, but particularly in England, and his enthusiasm is immense.

"The trouble with the French," he said, "is that they are too enthusiastic. The French boys have developed a great ardor for sports, but they are very liable, without proper direction, to overdo it. This direction is what I am endeavoring to secure, by standardizing the physical education system throughout the country, and so regulating this great enthusiasm and utilizing it to the utmost by directing it into the proper channels."

Of course, he continued, "conditions are not the same here as in England. There are no playing-fields attached to the state schools, there are too many examinations, and too much study. Physical drill is very rare, and where it is practiced it is done in such a desultory manner as to rob it of all interest."

M. Bervalot wants to make the French boy more like the sturdy healthy boy who is his neighbor across the channel. He is a firm believer in the value of games in forming character, and in developing the capacity of leading men.

very brisk at present. The company are now employed in turning out a number of passenger cars for the Grand Trunk Pacific. In the freight car department work is also fairly brisk.

Box cars for the Canadian Northern are being turned out at the rate of ten and twelve per day.

Next week it is expected that the freight car department will be working on a contract for a number of Hart convertible cars for the I. C. R.

The company has a large number of schooners chartered for the port of Amherst to arrive here about the last of April. Mr. Rhodes has secured a substantial appropriation for further improvement at Amherst harbor, and it is expected that a dredge will be at work enlarging and improving the harbor early in the spring. If this is done, it is the intention of the company to bring all their vessels to the port of Amherst this summer, instead of chartering a number for Dorchester as in previous years.

TWO CHATHAM MEN INJURED IN NEW ONTARIO EXPLOSION

Chatham, N. B., March 28.—(Special)—William Carroll and Simeon Demond, who went from Chatham to Dryden, New Ontario, to work on the plant of the Dryden Pulp & Paper Company last February met with a severe accident on the 12th of this month. While they were working on the acid plant of the mill, an explosion occurred and Mr. Carroll, who was on top of the lance, was blown down, his leg broken and was scalded from the ankle to the thigh. His fellow workman escaped unhurt, fortunately having a shoulder put out and an arm scalded.

Few particulars have yet been received. The cause of the explosion was that both men are getting on very well. Mr. Carroll is married and Mrs. Carroll, who has been in Chatham since her husband went to Dryden, will leave immediately to join her husband.

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health-Giving Blood.

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring eruptions or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to purify your blood, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. They make you feel like a new man, women and children bright, active and strong.

Mr. John Waldie, of New Zealand, writes: "I take great pleasure in telling you that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I am a fisherman and fifteen years ago through hard work my system became weak and I could scarcely work at all. I lost in weight; my blood became poor, and I was very nervous. I consulted several doctors but their treatment did not help me so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time I was entirely well again. My wife and daughter also used them with benefit. We think so much of the Pills as a family medicine that we always keep them in the house."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

The Millions of Cascaret Users Never Have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the severe and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

By keeping clean inside with Cascarets or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills, or other purgatives, you are actually taking the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated and poisonous matter in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

CANADIAN TRADE WITH GERMANY

Much Expected Following Appointment of Mr. Jost as Special Commissioner

(Times Special Correspondence) London, March 18.—The appointment of C. J. Jost of the Canadian department of emigration as special trade commissioner for Canada in Germany with headquarters in Hamburg, has brought many congratulations to this popular officer.

Mr. Jost, who is a brother of Sir Hartmann W. Jost, assistant under secretary of state for the colonies, was formerly attached to the office of the High Commissioner for Canada, and joined the Canadian emigration department under W. T. R. Preston. He is credited with having established the framework of the excellent system of emigration which has produced such results for Canada, and which was substantially followed by Mr. Preston's successor, J. Obed Smith. Not the least of his qualifications for the new office is the fact that he is an accomplished linguist, speaking no fewer than seven European languages.

Since the removal of the tariff on German goods by Canada, the German export has considerably increased its purchases of Canadian goods, and the reciprocal trade between the two countries makes the office of trade commissioner among the most important of Canadian posts in Europe.

FATALITIES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Owen Spicer and James Murphy, of New Salem, N. S., were drowned during the storm on Thursday night. They were engaged as lumbermen on the Spencer Brook, near Advocate, when they discovered that the dam was about to give way. They opened the flood gates, but the dam collapsed before they could return. Spicer, his wife, and Murphy, who was Spicer's son-in-law, is survived by his wife and three children.

Absorbs Skin, Chases Wrinkles—Young Again

"The shock of beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks absent, nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colton in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed thirty years older. Now, I thought, I could not stand my own wedding, eleven days off to which I had looked hopefully for weeks."

"She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of mercuric wax, which she had me spread on like cold cream, and when I awoke in the morning, I found myself, to my surprise, again as plump and rosy as of old. I immediately absorbed the mercuric wax, so gently I experienced no irritation. Upon the wedding morning, I had a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of salicylic acid in a half pint of water. The faded face had disappeared every line."

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

The health we enjoy depends very largely upon the blood circulation in our bodies, in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart, through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the dead matter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, and in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body to every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation and invigoration of the delicate membrane, and opposite to the direction of the body becomes stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissue and nerves.

Such a condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the system, which has been expiring through the circulation and invigoration of the delicate membrane, and opposite to the direction of the body becomes stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissue and nerves.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain there a number of years, it will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of liveness is felt, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present in a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be alarming. The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Comstock—I am thankful to Mrs. F. C. Currah, my Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy. I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 3 years ago. Then I had an operation and I was told I would not live through it. I was later sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and I did not much good. I doctored with him for 4 months, but because he had my husband come home and three or four slips of paper to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift my husband any more. When the first doctor told me I was worse than a leprosy without hurting me. When the second doctor told me I was worse than ever.
