CURED OF CONSTIPATION

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N. B., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim of the many diseases that constipation brings to the brain. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but none did me any good in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

"That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

"They have regulated my stomach and bowels, I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

"For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c a box."

SERVICE AT ROCKY POINT

ENDS THE R.K.Y.C. CRUISE

A church service yesterday afternoon, attended by about 1,500 people, with a setting of beautiful trees and waving flags on the grounds of F. S. Heans, Rocky Point, was a fitting close to the fifteenth annual cruise of the R. K. Y. C. which was a very enjoyable one. Rev. G. M. Campbell, D. D., honorary chaplain of the club, preached an eloquent and inspiring sermon, which made a deep impression on all present.

The yacht, after a cruise on the main river and in the Washademoak and Belleisle, anchored at Rocky Point Saturday evening and the members were joined yesterday afternoon by nearly 1,200 suburbanites, besides a number who went out from the city specially for the occasion. On the platform, erected in the centre of a pretty field, and draped with flags and bunting, with Rev. Dr. Campbell, were Commodore Thomson, Vice-Commodore Likely and Rear-Commodore Everett. The music was under the direction of D. Arnold Fox, assisted by the following orchestra:

M. L. Harrison, violin; Wm. Stratton, clarinet; Roy Crawford, flute, and a male choir of club members.

In dispersing the gathering after the sermon, Commodore Thomson referred to the fact that during the cruise the weather had been all that could be desired, with light winds, the nights clear and cool, and the mercury in the eighties during the day.

He also expressed the pleasure of the members in having the honorary chaplain present, and their appreciation of the stirring sermon he had given them. He expressed the indebtedness of the club to Mr. Heans for the use of the grounds, to the gentlemen who composed the orchestra and extended a welcome to the visitors who had gathered.

Throughout the service the members and visitors joined heartily in the singing. The order of service was printed and made a very attractive souvenir.

Rev. Dr. Campbell chose as his text last Timothy, Chapter 6, 14, 15 and 16 Verse: "Our Lord Jesus Christ, the blessed and only Potentate, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, who only hath immortality."

Another Case of Chronic Rheumatism

Cured by Father Morrissy's No. 7

Green Hill, N. B., Nov. 28th, 1909.

Father Morrissy, Med. Co. Ltd.

It affords me great pleasure to be able to add my testimonial to those of the many hundreds for whom Father Morrissy's Medicine has wrought wonders.

For several years I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism; I tried many remedies but they proved unavailing, until in the fall of 1909 I used Father Morrissy's No. 7 for Rheumatism and after using it a short time I was cured. I shall be glad to answer any enquiries from the suffering ones.

Miss Phoebe MacNeill.

Father Morrissy's No. 7 removes the cause of the trouble—the uric acid in the blood—and strengthens the system so that they can keep the blood filtered and pure. When No. 7 drives out the rheumatic pain it drives them out to stay.

No. 7 Tablets are put up in 50c boxes. At your dealer's or from Father Morrissy Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A HEART-TO-HEART TALK WITH HIMSELF BY A GRIEVANCE LOVER.

Certain characters seem to need grievances as they do some indispensable article of food in order to maintain the attitude of discontent with which they torture their family and friends.—Dora Melegari in Makers of Joys and Sorrows.

"I AM very happy this afternoon. I have a grievance. It is a splendid grievance and it is against the whole family. I am deeply hurt. I shall sulk for hours and everybody will come to me and try to please me. I shall have a beautiful time as soon as the family get home."

"Yes, they are all away. That is my grievance. I said I might possibly get home today and yet they went off auto riding with the Bemses. Of course I haven't been home but three days, and of course they don't get auto rides often, but still I think they might have been at home to greet me."

"I just shows how little they care about me. It shows of how little account I am in my own home—don't they care if I didn't come at all."

"There, I've worked myself up splendidly, and here they come. I'll have to open the front door, but I won't say a word until they speak to me."

"Well, I think I did pretty well. I didn't say a word of reproach, but, by the way, I asked them how they enjoyed themselves, and the short way I answered them when they asked me what kind of a time I'd had, showed them how I felt."

"They all know I'm hurt, and they're trying to be as nice as pie to me. They just wanted to know what I'd like best for supper and I said I didn't make any difference, in a tone that showed I felt how unimportant I was."

"I don't know whether I can show my displeasure best by going up to my room and shutting the door or by staying here and just answering in monosyllables. Think on the whole I'll get the most out of it if I stay here."

"What an absurd idea. Someone tried to make me believe that I didn't say I'd get home before tomorrow. Do they think I'll give up my grievance that easily? I guess not."

"Wow! I come in the library and sing with them? No, of course I won't. I couldn't do more than that if I were feeling well. They think it will be fun if I took someone's place. I love autographing, but I told them I wouldn't think of that. I'll go, all right, but I'll keep them begging me before I say yes."

"Oh, thunder, here's some company. You can't parade grievances in front of company, you know. They don't understand. They simply think you are disagreeable. I guess I'll carry out my other plan and go up in my room and close the door."

"Well, now, I call that a good parting shot. They called to me not to go upstairs, the Bandalls were coming, and I said very coldly, 'I don't seem to be included in the invitations'—it's extended to this family. I don't imagine their guests will miss me very much."

"Mother looked as if she were going to cry."

"I think I got the full value out of that grievance, all right. I don't know when I've had so good a one."

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

Knighthood For Head of London's Police Force—His Interesting History—Wonderful System of Criminal Investigation Work

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company)

Sir Edward Henry, who has just been created a Knight Grand Cross of the Victoria Order for his services as chief commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, and as such responsible under Lord Kitchener for all the police arrangements during the coronation, is, like several of his predecessors at Scotland Yard, a former Anglo-Indian, and he received his title from the great Indian dependency, where he contributed in no small measure to the suppression of Thugsmen.

He was for nine years inspector general of police in Bengal, and to him is due the present system of identification of criminals by finger prints, after he had convinced himself of the responsibility of securing accuracy, at any rate in India, through the Bertillon method of anthropometry. During the South African war, Lord Milner, who was then governor-general, then, demanded and secured his services.

Afterwards, on leaving South Africa, he went to England, to succeed Sir Robert Anderson as chief commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, and two years afterwards became chief commissioner of Metropolitan Police. He is a man of an unassuming, and, withal, generous man, whose children instinctively like, and to whom he is devoted, and he has been successful in stalking stags in Scotland, as formerly in shooting tigers in Indian jungles.

His India Experience

His India experience has proved invaluable for the Indian secret service in the most magnificently equipped in the world, and it is perhaps the principal, or at any rate the most powerful agency by which Great Britain keeps under proper control and subjection, the entire Indian empire, with its 200,000,000 of population, adept, as orientals are in every form of intrigue, and devoid of that sense of right and wrong which exists amongst civilized nations. There are all the semi-independent rulers and chieftains to be watched, and at times to be restrained, and that always in the most quiet, tactful and occult manner.

One frequently hears that India is held in check by the 60,000 or 70,000 British troops that are scattered over its immense area. But that is altogether a misleading statement. It is accomplished by secret political police department at Calcutta, which has its ramifications extending in every quarter of Hindustan, and its agents, native and European, at every Indian court, and in every sphere of Indian life and society.

The criminal investigation department in the Transvaal and the Orange River colony, of the European scum that had remained there after the overthrow of the Boer Republic, comprises some 200 picked officers, who each has the rank of Inspector. The cream of this force is employed in connection with what is known as political crime work, and they are assisted in this by a number of secret agents belonging to every class of society, and of whom Major Le Caron was a notable type. This criminal investigation department has a large secret service fund at its disposal, and in the years 1881 to 1885, when dynamite activity was at its worst, bills for "information," reaching $25,000, were on several occasions paid, while similar sums, ranging from $500 to $3,000 were being paid all the time.

The pay of the inspectors, and of the secret agents, varies according to the work on which they are employed. The ten or more inspectors permanently maintained on this side of the water, receive on an average $5,000 a year and expenses. They are mainly employed in looking after the American ends of the revolutionary movement in India, which draws a considerable amount of its funds, and much of its moral backing, from misguided philanthropists, who conceive that they are contributing to India's welfare by endeavoring to emancipate that great empire from the British domination, which alone maintains, law, order, and respect for life and property,
