Selecting Cows-First, says an experienced dairyman, I get a broadside view of the animal at a distance of about two rods, as I have noticed for years that there was a great similarity in the general proportions of all first IMPORTANT NOTICE class milkers; being very small in girth just back of their forward legs as compared with the girth just forward of their hips. I have never SIXTY - SIX known a first rate milker, of any breed, not thus proportioned; so that if this form is wanting in an an- DRY GOODS, 2 Cases Dress Goods; 3 Cases Reefimal I have recommended to me, I do not care to look at her more, unless I want a breeder for some other purpose than the dairy. For breeding oxen I should want a cow of reverse proportions, i. e., larger girth forward. I next feel the sides of the "milk veins," and trace them to their enterance into the chest, which, in superior cows, are large, admitting the hell of the largest figure.

A Word of Caution. It frequently happens that men go around among the farmers to establish agencies for the sale of something pertaining to agriculture, or they offer to leave some implement on trial; but then they ask you to sign "a little paper, just to show where the article is." Or if you receive a consignment of something to sell as agent, you may be asked to "sign this little note," to "show what has been done."

"It is understood, of course, that all not sold are to be taken back," says the travelling agent; but if you sign such a paper see that it is only a receipt for the articles received, ad- Invoices until further notice, 8 per " It is agreed and understood that all not sold by me are to be sent back, paying only for what I sell." These sharpers sometimes One Horse Railway Power get farmers to sign papers, without reading them carefully, and they turn out to be valid promissory notes, that FIRE WOOD SAW MILLS, are sold in the vicinity, and that is the last you will hear from the travelling agent in that part of the country.
