Mrs. Maguire is remaining for the present at her son's residence in Fairville.

It is reported that last week the Montreal jobbers began offering mills in the upper part of the province, at less than the current prices. This is because of some friction among the Montreal jobbers and manufacturers. Saturday the wholesale hardware people of the city met to discuss the situation, but as some of the parties interested in the business are not at home nothing was done. It is quite possible there may be a small drop in the price of nails next month in the sections of the province affected.

POLICE IN THE DARK.

Have as Yet No Clue to the Identity of the Parties Who Entered the Dunlap-Cook Store Saturday Night.

Up to the present no arrest has been made in connection with the attempt at burglary on Saturday evening at the premises of Dunlap, Cooke & Co., and the National Cash Register Co., on King Street. There can be no doubt that whoever it was was disturbed by hearing Mr. Quinn of the Cash Register Co. trying to open the door, and that a hasty exit was made in consequence.

Mr. Quinn told the Star that after putting his key in the door, he found that something was preventing the door from opening wide. He then forced it and entered to find a glimpse of the case of the cash register. Having switched on the lights he observed the broken window in the back of the shop. Putting his hand through the opening he pulled in two new valises and then found a basin of paste. On the floor of the shop was lying the broken pieces of window glass, over which was pasted the front page of Saturday night's Star, the story of Detective Kilien, which was published with his photo being the place chosen—accidentally or otherwise—as the noise maker.

Chief Clark told the Star this morning that the police are working hard on the case and have suspicions as to the perpetrators.

Nothing was taken in their hurried flight.

HER CLOTHES CAUGHT FIRE.

Mrs. L. Odell, whose home is in Geo. Downey's house, 329 Main Street, had a very narrow escape from a most agonizing death about noon last Friday. She was using a gas stove in the kitchen range, when the liquid came in contact with the smoldering fire. In a second her clothing and several other inflammable articles ignited. Mrs. Odell caught up a large mat and wrapped it around her, which was about the best thing she could have done, for the fire was put out before it had made much headway.

Others in the house had in the meantime been alarmed, and the firemen arrived in No. 5 station, which is situated only a few doors from the Odell house, were notified. It was hardly necessary to bring out the department, but they rendered good service by promptly extinguishing the last of the fire.

BEGINS TONIGHT.

Prof. Crocker's Troupe of Horses at the Opera House.

The opening performance of Crocker's remarkable horses commences tonight at 8.15, when their promises to be fulfilled. There is a strong bond, and the remarkable attraction they proved to be at Halifax was no doubt repeated in St. John. They are twenty-four in number and look in the pink of condition. No one has ever held in the art of training the position that the professor has attained. The staging and scenery will be on the same scale that gained him his popularity, together with the novel and unique performance of his equine pupils as given in European cities. The horses will parade the city today at noon.

TWO BOYS AND A HORSE.

A young lad by the name of McLaughlin, living on Brussels Street, together with a companion, hired a cart on Saturday from Hogan's livery stable and went out the Marsh road. Near Brookville they collided with another team, and with sufficient force to break their wagon and tear the shafts from the body.

The boys did not return to Mr. Hogan, in fact he says he has not yet seen them. The horse was found on Saturday by Mr. Ryan of Brookville, and learning that it belonged to Mr. Hogan he sent in word, and horse and rig were secured by the owner.

THE BELL WAS RINGING.

Wilson Gregg, the keeper of the Beacon Light, has informed the Star that the bell is rung during all thick weather and that when the West India steamer grounded and the Calvin Austin got out of her course he was ringing the bell vigorously. The bell he says is less than a year old, weighs 2100 pounds and those on the vessels should have heard the alarm. Mr. Gregg says he would court an investigation.
