It may at times appear to be but slowly, yet the world does move.

James Stevens, a prosperous, but now retired farmer of Memel, and one of the best known and most highly respected residents of that locality, was in the village today, having walked the distance of four miles from his home without fatigue, although he is now mark. With the aid of a stout walking stick plucked from his native Memel forests, he made the distance in one hour, and was fresh enough to have made the return trip. CANADA'S PROBLEM IS NOT MUNICIPAL National Municipal League.

NEW YORK, April 29.-The follow ing address was delivered by William Bennett Munro on conditions in Canadian municipalities, before the National Municipal League, yesterday: "The progress of urban concentra-tion in Canada has not been sufficiently rapid to render the problem of municipal administration difficult of solution for a while. During the last three decades the proportion of the total opulation of the dominion contained within towns and cities of over 5,000 has increased from twelve to twentyfour per cent. This increase has been extremely uniform and steady. Furthermore, it has not been accompanied as in the United States, by any marked concentration of foreign immigrants in the larger centres; these have in the main distributed themselves over the agricultural regions of the Northwest. At the present time Canada's ten cities of over 25,000 contain only 16 per cent. of her total population, while in the five cities of over 50,000 are comprise only 10 per cent. The main political problem of the Canadian people is still that of national and provincial rathe than of municipal government. VARIED TYPES OF GOVERNMENT

"Since the organization and control of local government is vested with the provincial and not with the federal authorities, there is, in the cities of th seven different provinces, no exact conformity to any type of city political organization. In framing their general charter laws and in formulating special charters for particular cities. the provincial authorities have been guided partly by English and partly by American experience. Variations in the structure of municipal organiza tions in the different provinces are attributable to this diversity of influence In general, the maritime provinces borrowed largely from England, while Ontario, Quebec and the west ern provinces have been disposed to in corporate into their municipal systems many features distinctively Ameri
