Around the City

Pay your taxes on or before August 17th and save 5 per cent. discount. Immediately after the 17th day of August executions will be issued for all unpaid taxes.

Enveloped in Smoke.
Yesterday morning the city was enveloped in thick smoke caused by forest fires.

Held the Lucky Ticket.
In the drawing for a double barreled gun donated by Elijah Stewart, R. D. Coles, of Charlotte street, held the lucky ticket and became the winner.

Killed by Policeman.
Yesterday evening a dog was run over by an automobile on Brunette street and the animal was so badly injured that Police Constable Gorman was obliged to put it out of agony by shooting it.

Stray Horse Found.
Early yesterday morning Police Constable Linton found a horse wandering about the Marsh Road and had the animal placed in a stable where it was later found by the owner, Frank Hayes.

Who Owns the Coat?
A gentleman's short blue coat was found on the Loch Lomond Road on Saturday and was handed over to the police. The owner can receive the same on application at police headquarters.

Struck by an Automobile.
On Saturday while William Miller of 48 Kennedy street was walking across Main street near the corner of Sheriff street, he was struck and knocked down by an automobile and was slightly injured. The automobile was owned by William A. McColgan.

Had an Arm Broken.
William Carson, of Britain street, met with a severe injury on Friday afternoon while driving near Point. His horse bolted at an automobile and Mr. Carson was thrown out of the carriage and fell over a ban, which resulted in his breaking an arm.

A. M. E. Conference.
The annual conference of the A. M. E. churches will be held in St. John this week, commencing Tuesday. Bishop Smith will arrive on the noon train on Tuesday. The conference will be held in St. Phillips church, Queen street. Mayor Hayes and other prominent citizens will speak on Wednesday evening. The Rev. M. Stewart of Bermuda will also be in attendance.

A Batch of Drunks.
A glance at the arrest book in police headquarters would give one the idea that there was an overabundance of those partaken of on Saturday and Sunday. Six men were gathered in for drunkenness on Saturday afternoon and night, while four were arrested yesterday. Five of the prisoners had sobered up sufficiently to get out of the cells last night by leaving a deposit of eight dollars each for their appearance in court this morning.

Bootleggers Arrested.
During the last two years the police have arrested a large number of bootleggers. Many of these have paid fines of fifty dollars each, while others went to jail for six months, being unable to pay the fine. These examples have not proven a lesson to others as two more were gathered in by the police Saturday and yesterday. On Saturday afternoon Police Constables Henrickson and Winter arrested Frank Gallagher, aged 34 years, on the charge of selling liquor to a soldier in uniform on Water street. Lewis Landry, a soldier has been detained as a witness. Yesterday Detectives Barrett and Briggs arrested Henry McDonald, aged 35 years, on the charge of selling liquor on the tracks near Courtenay Bay and Joseph Lavigne has been detained as a witness in this case.

Soldiers Wives' League.
A meeting of the Soldiers Wives' League will be held at the residence of Mrs. Walter W. White, 71 Sydney street, on Tuesday, 15th inst., at 3:30 p. m. Business—To consider plans for Labor Day.

NO. 8 FIELD AMBULANCE AT CHURCH

Under Command of Major Skinner They Attended Germain Street Church Yesterday.

The No. 8 Field Ambulance Corps, sixty-one in number, in command of Major S. S. Skinner, paraded to the Germain street Baptist church yesterday morning, where the Rev. A. P. Hodges preached a forcible and impressive sermon. It will be remembered that Mr. Hodges enlisted last week as a private in the Ambulance Corps.

The members of the Ambulance Corps made a very impressive appearance as they marched through the streets yesterday and many eulogistic remarks were heard from those who had the pleasure of viewing the parade.

Taking for his text, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me and I unto the world," Gal. 6, 14, the reverend gentleman said:

"It is given unto every man to have something in which he glories, some ideal in life which moulds and fashions character. It is this capacity that separates us from the beasts that perish. Some men glory in that which is debasing but it is not of those that I would speak this morning. Others find their glory in life in cause and action that are noble and worth while but which nevertheless must not be allowed to occupy the pre-eminent place in our lives. They are the minor chords that fill up and give harmony to the setting but if we would reach perfection we must make the cross of Christ the great outstanding note.

"We may illustrate the point I wish to make by Paul himself. Some men glory in an honored ancestry. Paul did not hesitate to let the world know that he was 'of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews.' He was proud to be a member of a family that was illustrious in the history of his people. There is something in a blood that is inherited and that makes of the best manhood. There is an incentive in a good name that will help a young man to live worthy of his family that he in turn may hand on that name unshaken to his children.

"Some men glory in their scholastic achievements. He too was no mean scholar. He came from a city that was noted as a seat of learning in the ancient world and completed his course in the law school at Jerusalem. There are not wanting in our day those who tell us that we shall find our panacea for all our evils in the education of the people. Up till two years or so ago we were pointed to Germany as an example of what culture could accomplish in the making of a great nation. But in these last days we have been made to realize that culture was but a mask to hide a heart of treachery, cruelty and licentiousness.

"He could have gloried in his prospects, it may be as he made his way to the city of Damascus entrusted with a high commission that there came to him visions of still higher service in the coming days. I pity my heart the young man who has no day-dreams that tinged with golden glory the years that are to come.

"Some glory in their citizenship. On more than one occasion Paul asserted his rights as a free-born citizen of Rome. I, too, am proud to be a son of our great empire. This present conflict has clearly demonstrated to the world that in spite of surface indications, the heart of the Motherland still is true and we can say with the poet:

"England with all thy faults,
"We love thee still.

"These things, however, gave place in the life of Paul to the one supreme glory—the cross of Christ. What was this cross in which he gloried? Not the rough hewn instrument of torture but the principles for which it stands. How does the world regard them? Let us ask the Roman of that day, Sir, what is this cross in which this man glories? The soldier of Rome's conquering legions turns to us with look of scorn. Know you not, Sir, that the cross is the badge of degradation and shame? None but a slave or member of a subject race would boast of that. Rome's glory is the sword, her emblem the outspread eagle that strikes with quick and certain aim the prey it would consume. Could he but have foreseen the history of the future he would have beheld with astonishment the supplanting of that eagle by the despoiled cross and heard an emperor declare that to him had come a vision of the cross resplendent and underneath these words 'In this sign conquer.' On still another fateful day in the history of that proud city he would have seen the ancestors of the modern Hun draw near with fire and devastation for her wall to be confronted by an aged man accompanied by a few followers, bearing in his hand a cross but before that cross the pride and might of the Hun was humbled in the dust. We too shall see the day and that right soon when in like manner the descendants of those ruthless savages shall find the cross is still triumphant.

"To the Greek the cross was foolishness. The Men that the solution

EIGHT MEN ON ROLL OF HONOR ON SATURDAY

Four Passed Examinations and Were Duly Enlisted—Notes of Local Military Units.

HONOR ROLL.

W. H. Preston, St. John.
P. Mignogna, Italy.
No. 8 Field Ambulance.
Wm. McCormick, U.S.A.
Wm. Fritz, New Hampshire.

Up to Saturday night eight recruits applied for enlistment in the various battalions now under mobilization. P. Mignogna, a native of Italy, enlisted in the 8th Ambulance Corps at the army on Saturday.

This unit has now passed the century mark and it looks as though the remaining sixty-five men will be recruited by the end of this week. Besides Privates Lavigne and Scribner, who are recruiting in and around the city, Private B. Ferris is soliciting men at Cumberland Bay.

Sergeant McNeill, accompanied by Privates G. S. Dunham and W. T. R. Flemington, are on a recruiting trip in and around Fredericton, and according to reports received are expected back in the city with several stalwart youths as the result of their work.

The medical and stretcher bearing equipment has been shipped and is expected to arrive this week, when practical field work will be practised.

It is the ambition of Sergeant Major Weston to make this unit the best New Brunswick has yet contributed to the British Empire, and with this purpose in view is leaving no stone unturned to accomplish his undertaking. The unit still requires sixty-five men to complete its establishment. This branch of the service offers a splendid opportunity to university men, clerks and bankers. The work is not strenuous, and as this unit will not lose its identity the men now enlisting will remain together. It is probable that after it has been recruited up to complement it will go into an active sea to finish training. As the boys have opened up a recreation room at the army they would appreciate any donations such as books, magazines, games, etc., from the citizens of St. John.

MILITARY NOTES.
Lieut. Colonel Guthrie, who has been spending the week-end in Fredericton, is expected back to the city today.

Corp. Joseph H. Darrah of the mail service of the 14th Battalion left Saturday night for Valcartier after spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Darrah, Dorchester, N. B.

Capt. (Dr.) F. W. Barbour, of Fredericton, accompanied by his son, Noel R. Barbour, will pass through the city tonight on his way to Aldershot, where he is to be attached to an overseas dental corps. His son, Noel, is to be attached to the same corps with the rank of sergeant.

Lieut. Allan W. G. Good, son of Major F. A. Good, officer commanding "C" Company of the 14th Battalion, is ill with pneumonia at Valcartier Camp.

Sergeant George Scovill, of the 14th Battalion at Camp Valcartier, is in the city on a few days furlough.

To all life's problems would be found in the willing sacrifice of life itself was too absurd for their acceptance. Yet we today are realizing that his truth shall yet prevail. With ready hearts and speeding feet the sons of Mother England are hastening to her help and the aid of ravished Belgium, stricken Poland, persecuted Armenia. The life blood of our best and noblest is being poured forth, not for selfish aggrandisement, but for the maintenance of those principles of truth and righteousness for which the Master died. The cross stands as the symbol of noblest self-sacrifice and it shall prevail. Among the waving battle-flags of Europe there floats one banner that even blood stained Germans hold in some respect. It is the cross of crimson upon a field of white and speaks of human love and compassion amid the strife and heat of war.

"In conclusion I would make an appeal to every young man present to make that cross which I and every comrade of my corps wear upon our right arm the glory of his life. Beneath that cross we go forth in the spirit of the Master to minister to our stricken brothers, friends and comrades who call to us across the waters from the blood stained fields of France and Flanders."

Something New.
F. A. Dykeman & Co. have just received a case of Nippon hand painted china. This china comes from Japan. Every piece is guaranteed hand painted. This china consists of bowls, mustard dishes, salt and pepper shakers, plates, cups and saucers, etc. The designs are very pretty, and this china is good value at twice or three times the price, which is only 15 cents per piece.

TWO ST. JOHN BOYS KILLED AT THE FRONT

Gunner Arthur G. Cobham, of West St. John and Pte. Peter Gallagher, of North End, Made Supreme Sacrifice.

Ottawa, Aug. 12th, 1916.
Mrs. George Cobham, 97 Germain street, West St. John, N. B.:—
Deeply regret to inform you 43975, Gunner Arthur Glendon Cobham, officially reported killed in action July 30, 1916.
(Signed) Officer in Charge Record Office.

The above telegram was received by Mrs. Cobham yesterday and this sudden and sad news plunged her home into one of grief, and told the tale of one more brave hero giving up his life for King and country.

Gunner Cobham was one of three sons at the front, and while the mother of the three brave sons has spent many an anxious day and night since the boys joined the colors, the news of Glendon's death came as a shock, and proved too much for Mrs. Cobham and she was immediately prostrated with grief. After being attended by a physician and when she had become calmed last evening she spoke only as any brave mother would when she said "It is indeed terrible that he has been killed, but then we are proud of him."

In addition to his father and mother the brave young soldier, whose body now fills a hero's grave "somewhere in France," leaves to mourn his loss a young man with considerable experience in artillery training he had no trouble in passing the examination and was sent to Partridge Island to train. At the time of enlisting he was in the employ of the Maritime Dredging Company and was extremely popular with his fellow workmen. On the day he left for Camp Valcartier with Major Magee he was carrying a purse containing fifty dollars in gold from the dredging company and his fellow employees. His first and last thought was of his mother he was leaving behind, and placing the gift of gold into the hands of his father he instructed that he be given to his mother. The brave mother never used the money but placed it in safety, waiting until her boy would return after fighting the battles for his country and could then enjoy the gift. There was no young man better known on the western side of the harbor than Glendon Cobham, who was a favorite with all who knew him; jovial in nature, kind in disposition, and his death is received with the deepest sorrow by all.

It is but two weeks ago that Mrs. Cobham received a letter from her son in which he stated that they were having a hard time of it, and he was getting tired of it all and wished that he would return after fighting the battles for his country and could then enjoy the gift. There was no young man better known on the western side of the harbor than Glendon Cobham, who was a favorite with all who knew him; jovial in nature, kind in disposition, and his death is received with the deepest sorrow by all.

The younger brother, Roy, enlisted with the 4th Siege Battery under Major Barker and he is also in France doing his bit.

Pte. Peter Gallagher.
Mrs. Alice Gallagher, 65 Sheriff street, received official word on Saturday that her son, Pte. Peter Gallagher, had died of wounds on August 6th. This is the first word received by the noble mother since July 18th, when she received a letter from her boy saying that he was in good health.

Prior to enlistment Pte. Gallagher was in the employ of the Corona Chocolate Company, Union street. With the exception of a few months which time he spent at headquarters the deceased soldier has been in the trenches since June 15, 1915.

Pte. Gallagher was an active member of St. Peter's Young Men's Association and enjoyed the companionship of a large circle of friends in the north end of the city who will regret his early death.

Pte. Gallagher leaves to mourn besides a loving mother and a kind father, three brothers and two sisters, Thomas, who is now at Valcartier Camp with No. 1 Construction Corps, and Fred, Cecil, Helen and Sadie.

Music's Re-Creation

Something more than mere tone reproduction. Artificial tone reproduction is wonderful indeed; but it is not musical. A beautiful voice marred by mechanical timbre in its reproduction is no longer beautiful—it no longer satisfies the music lover, however great the artist may be.
