It Settled In The Kidneys.

Pain In The Back The Result.

Catching cold and having it settle in the back is often the cause of Backache—the primary cause of kidney trouble. When the back aches it is a warning that the kidneys are liable to become affected. Head the warning: check the Backache, and dispose of any chance of further trouble.

If you don't, serious complications are very apt to arise. Mrs. E. Williams, Hamilton, Ont., caught cold, and it settled in her kidneys. She used

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, and is thankful for the immediate relief they gave her. She writes us as follows: "It is with pleasure that I add my testimony in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. Some time ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my kidneys. The soreness and pain in the small of my back bothered me greatly. After suffering for some months, and finding numerous remedies fail, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received immediate relief from my sufferings.

Doan's Kidney Pills may be procured at all dealers, or will be sent direct by mail on receipt of price—

50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25.

CANADA'S TIMBER.

The Conservation of the Forests a Great National Problem.

Dr. Clarke, of the Ontario Department of Forestry, in addressing the Canadian Institute in Toronto on a recent Saturday night, said one of the greatest national problems was the maintenance of a forest cover on its non-agricultural lands for the production of timber and the conservation of water, in fact, nothing would contribute more to the development of the Dominion than an abundant timber supply. The forest's other sphere of usefulness was in the conservation of water by checking the surface run-off, owing to the spongy character of the forest floor, by giving the water which does not at once enter the soil time to penetrate by presenting obstructions in the shape of leaves, twigs, moss, etc., and by distributing the flow from melting snow in an evergreen forest over weeks instead of days, thus preventing disastrous floods.

Referring to the income which the different provinces of the Dominion might hope to receive from their best lands, Dr. Clarke pointed out that Ontario alone had at least 50,000,000 acres of land which could be retained for timber production. If practical methods were adopted in the removal of the present crop and every acre taken to the annual growth on this area should in two decades be equal to $20,000,000.

Canada's forest lands fared badly in a fire owing to their usual rocky floor. If these fires, which are of frequent occurrence on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, were not checked the amount of water available for irrigation in southern Alberta and western Assiniboia would be proportionately decreased.

New Canada Hit Back.

The London Standard has recently been publishing a series of letters from more or less eminent authors upon the need of better copyright protection for British authors in the United States. Mr. Robert Barr, the Canadian novelist, has taken the opportunity to tell Old Country people how Canada acted in a similar situation, writing as follows:

"I am entirely in agreement with Mr. Douglas Sladen on the copyright question between Great Britain and America. The law on each side should be identical. This proposition is so sane and self-evident that I am quite certain it will never get the British Parliament to take any action on the matter. Some years ago the United States amused itself by passing several vexatious laws which affected Canadian interests. Canada made no protest, but promptly placed on her statute books similar laws affecting the interests of her neighbor. Those people of the United States whose interests were adversely affected did not appreciate this sincerest form of flattery by the Canadian Legislature, so they brought pressure to bear on their own Government, which is quick to respond to a popular demand; and the result was that some of these obnoxious laws were repealed, followed by the repeal of the identical law by the Canadian Legislature. The result of it all has been most happy. Many United States newspapers are now showing what a nice country Canada is, and urging the adoption of reciprocal relations with it. However, both the United States and Canada are common-sense countries, and I realize that the precedent cited can have no value in Great Britain."

Taking Him Down.

His height was a little over five feet. He was slender in proportion. But he was proud—oh, so proud! He stood erect and with folded arms near the rail of the steamer and gazed out upon the sea in sterner, majestic silence. Presently the captain approached him and touched his arm. "What is it, my good fellow?" he said, turning his head slowly and eying him from head to foot. "Would you mind stepping over this way a little?" asked the captain, touching his hat. "What for, my good fellow?" "To trim the ship. You are giving it a decided list to port."—London Answers.

Burning the Dead.

Since cremation has come into frequent, if not ordinary, use there have been many strange ways of disposing of the ashes of a body. Usually the deceased leaves directions as to what shall be done with his remains, and it seems if he gives the right brain to the utmost to the novel plan for disposing of his ashes. But possibly the most eccentric of these instructions comes from a man in Exeter. He has left in his will a clause directing that his body shall be cremated, the ashes taken up in a balloon to a height of not less than a thousand feet and then scattered to the four winds of heaven.

What Can Be Done With Eggs. Here are some of the emergency uses of eggs: They can be used as a substitute for paste or mucilage to seal a letter or a jar of jelly. The white will allay the smart of a burn if bound upon it, excluding the air. Half a dozen eggs given immediately after an emetic will render corrosive sublimate harmless. The white beaten and swallowed will dislodge a fish bone from the throat. And if a mustard plaster be mixed with the white of egg instead of water no blister will follow the application of the plaster.

Makes the Farmer Poor. It is enforced idleness that makes farmers poor, and no farmer need be idle a day on account of bad weather or wet fields if only his roads are good. On a good road there is always paying work of some kind, and wet weather is just the time to go on the road. The French farmer never loses a good day in his fields, for he can do all his marketing in rainy times. Every farmer and farmer's boy not at school and every farm hand and team could earn a full day's wages every day in the year, rain or shine.

Have You One of Those Can't Taste, Can't Smell Colds?

If you have you had better get rid of it immediately. If you don't, that terrible and disgusting malady, Catarrh, is sure to take hold of you and make you miserable, and an object of repugnance to your friends. The best and quickest cure for your cold is

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

It contains all the virtues of the Norway Pine Tree, combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mr. Harry Mosher, Mosher's Island, N.S., writes:—"We have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in our family for the past six years, and have always found it a reliable remedy for the cure of coughs and colds."

Many cases of substitution have been brought to our notice. Do not be humbugged into taking any other pine syrup which unscrupulous dealers say is just as good.

Dr. Wood's is the original, put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

Encounter With Nine Lions.

Colonel Colin Harding, C.M.G., the commandant of the Barotseland Native Police, who accompanied chief Lewanika to England for the King's coronation, has had an exciting adventure with a number of lions.

While traveling from Mumbwa (the headquarters of the Kafue district commissioner) to Kalomo (the capital of Northwestern Rhodesia) he came across no fewer than nine lions all in a group. Quickly he wounded two, and he was following up one of the pair when a lioness sprang at him and knocked him over. Luckily he retained his rifle and was able to fire, and at the noise of the weapon the brute made off.

In the meantime the mules had bolted with the cart, leaving the colonel in a perilous position in the event of the lions returning. After they had gone some distance, the driver, who had kept his seat all the time, succeeded in stopping and turning the frightened animals. Colonel Harding was conveyed back to Mumbwa, about twelve miles, and medical examination showed him to be suffering from a broken shoulder and a torn thigh. He is now progressing favorably. One of the lions was found dead.

The Gospel of another life gives life to this one.

Lots of men are not satisfied to take things as they come unless they can sell them at a profit. A man does not have to go to heaven by freight simply because he cannot express himself in meeting.

FEED AND CARE OF FOALS.

Regiment May Cause a Setback That Will Be Hard to Repair.

Foals should never be neglected at any time of the year, but just at this particular season there is great necessity for being extra good to the youngsters, says Breeder's Gazette. It will soon be time to wean them; and if they have not been getting a ration of grain right along since birth they should be started up at once on crushed oats and bran. What is more, they should have shed protection these chilly nights and some place to shelter themselves when the cold autumn rains are falling.

It is no hard trick at all to start a foal to doing badly at this time of the year, and if that is permitted it will be an awkward job to get it back again into the right way of doing before winter sets in in earnest. Therefore those who have foals which have not been fed grain all summer long will do mighty well to start in to feed them now.

They will not take and indeed do not require much at first, but the quantity should be increased gradually day by day until each one is eating enough grain to keep him gaining flesh and strength. This cannot be done if the foals are subjected to wet and cold. They do not stand exposure well.

The mares also should have the best of care. This is true of all mares nursing foals, but more especially so of those that are not only suckling but "again in foal." Such should have grain all summer long, but if they have not been fed and in a year like this of generally good pastures have done fairly well in the way of retaining flesh they should be liberally grained from now on until they foal again, and they should be as good shelter as their young ones. After they are dried off they can do quite a bit of roughing if it is necessary and if they get plenty of grain, but the less roughing it is the better for them and the pockets of their owners. It is easy enough at this time of the season to let a foal by neglect get into a way of doing badly, from the effects of which he will never really recover.

Universal Postage Problems.

Postal experts of the countries belonging to the Universal Postal Union are now considering the problems which will be brought before the congress called to meet at Rome next April. Two matters of pre-eminent importance will be discussed—the reduction of the five cent rate and the issue of a universal stamp. The two cent rate proposed at the last congress is deemed impracticable, and even a three cent rate is thought to be a radical cut at the present time. In lieu of a reduction of postage the experts favor an increase of weight of letters from the present limit of half an ounce to three-quarters or possibly to one ounce. The convenience of a universal stamp is generally admitted, but a lack of uniformity in the money standards of the countries in the union stands in the way. The least that is the view of the foreign postal officials. Another matter which will be considered by the Rome congress is the compensation for countries which forward through mails, the "transit countries," as they are called. Some countries have comparatively little original foreign mail to cancel, but are called upon to handle the mail of other countries passing through their territory free of compensation. The union originated in a treaty concluded in 1874 between the whole of Europe, Egypt, British India, the colonies of France, the United States. Since that time many other countries and colonies have joined. Each country sends one delegate, and questions are decided by a majority vote.

Better Brains Than Money.

There are two classes that put an exaggerated valuation upon money—those who have plenty of it and those who haven't. But of the two the absurd offenders against the common-sense view are those who have the money. How the exaggeration persists, and even grows, is one of the mysteries of human nature.

Of the men of property in this country, a few of those rich by inheritance excepted, how many are there who could not immediately grow rich again if they lost everything they have? And of those who possess large property, how many would long keep it were it not that they have on guard over it men of brains and character?

Yet to hear men talk one would think that when a man has put money into an enterprise he has done that which entitles him to overwhelming preponderance of consideration. This in fact of the patent fact that, while enterprises innumerable have succeeded without money, not one has ever succeeded without brains.

It is absurd enough to rank money above brains. To estimate brains in terms of money is like selling racehorses by weight by paintings by measure.—Saturday Evening Post.

Death of Louise Michel.

Louise Michel, the noted communist, recently died at Marseilles, France. Louise Michel was born in 1859. She became a teacher in 1883, and ultimately taught in Paris and Montmartre. She took an active part in the revolutionary commune in Paris, and was made a prisoner in 1870. She was sentenced to transportation for life, but was released, and returned to Paris in 1880. She was again imprisoned in 1883 and 1886. She wrote many books attacking the social system, and of late years she was classed as an Anarchist.

Landmarks of Civilization.

The public road is one of the landmarks of civilization. The trackless forest or pathless plain answers every purpose of the savage, but the commercial pursuits and social intercourse of civilized people make necessary these traveled thoroughfares known as public roads.
