Unknown causes head the list, but with a large falling off from 1899, and defective chimneys, stoves and pipes a still greater decrease.

Lightning was heavier, mainly due to severe storms in Eastern Ontario, the west having less than the usual amount. More care seems to have been taken with lamps and lanterns, the amount being only about one-third of the loss in the year previous. Our persistent warnings seem to have had a good effect in this particular. The tramp has again come to the front as a factor in the year's losses.

We would again call the attention of the agents and members to the fact that a careful inspection of chimneys and pipes will still further reduce our losses, and prevent the loss of valuable property and, in some cases, lives.

The year 1900 has been a disastrous one to most companies, but we have pleasure in congratulating you on having another prosperous year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
