

(For the Gazette.)
The Lime Kiln Club.

The Club met in Buckeye Hall, most of the members being present. Bro. Gardner opened the meeting in the usual form. He announced that a new rule had been laid down, viz.: that any member found stealing cabbage (as Give-dam Jones would suffer by any such depredations) would be suspended for 30 days.

A telegram had been received marked "collect" from the Hon. Bro. Providence saying that he was about to start for Sodom to deliver a series of lectures on "Physiognomy," to club members only. Members of the Lime Kiln Club to be admitted free of charge. Among other things the Hon. Providence will convince his hearers that large feet denote great brain powers, that a red nose is the index of a soul which readily absorbs all that is beautiful in nature or art; that a double chin denotes a strong leaning towards murder; that bow legs and melancholy temperaments go together; in brief the physiognomist will knock most of the accepted theories into the middle of next summer, and all at the low price of ten cents.

The flying angel not having paid his fees for the last six months another one will be imported to fill his position. Bro. Shinheat stated that he wished to sing one of his choicest compositions but Bro. Slemin objected on the grounds that Bro. Shinheat's voice would be more or less affected by the sanctimonious atmosphere of his new feed-pen.

Bro. Twist signified his intention of entering into a matrimonial compact with some aged colored lady as one had proposed during the last week.

This piece of information cast a pall of gloom over the whole meeting. Those of the members who know what the married state is, wept on his neck because of the misfortunes about to befall him, and those yet single wept crocodile tears of jealousy over his good luck.

Efforts were then made to transact other important business which was to have come up but without avail, and after firing Bro. Twist a plug of tobacco for his unbrotherly conduct, to be passed around forthwith, the meeting was adjourned.

Some of Mother Graves' Corn Cure was applied to Bro. Penstock's heels, when all the members wended their way homeward feeling somewhat demented.

Deeming Hanged.

Deeming, the wife murderer, who was also known to be the perpetrator of at least some of the Jack-the-Ripper murders, was hanged at Melbourne, Australia, on the 23rd inst. The jail officials, who were responsible for the condemned man's delivery to the executioner, felt a load removed from their minds when the procession to the gallows formed. Until then they did not know but Deeming would manage to cheat the gallows in some way. There were present at the execution 100 spectators, including doctors, jurors, etc. The chaplain of the jail had been devoted in his attention to the prisoner and had sought by every means in his power to awaken him to a realizing sense of the gravity of his position. Deeming, however, paid little, if any, attention to his exhortation, and toward the end he became completely worn out by his fruitless labors, so his place was taken by other ministers. When the sheriff entered the cell for the purpose of reading the death warrant he found Deeming in a dazed condition and he continued in that condition until the drop fell. His answers to the questions put to him were made in a mumbling manner. The march to the gallows was a very short one. Once there he was asked if he had anything to say. His only response was "may the Lord receive my spirit." The black cap was then pulled over his face and the dangling hook was attached to the noose about his neck. He swayed to and fro slightly at this time, but made no other sign until a moment before the bolt was drawn; then he exclaimed, his voice being somewhat muffled by the black cap, "Lord, have mercy upon my soul," when the bolt was drawn, and Deeming was hanging six feet below the scaffold. All of Deeming's writings are in possession of the authorities. It is understood he made a written confession of the Windsor murder. The bulk of his writings, however, are but a repetition of his previous conflicting statements. When the clergyman went to Deeming's cell a few minutes before the time for execution Deeming fell on his knees, wept and cried "Lord forgive me for despatching my wife and family without warning." Deeming left two wills. In the first he leaves £300 to Miss Rounceville, and in the second he disinherits and upbraids her.

The writ for the Pontiac election for the Commons has been issued. Polling is announced for June 28.

Mr. Wm. Sproat, a well-known resident of Seaforth, was killed on Tuesday by being thrown from a vehicle in which he was driving.

Millinery.

Our Millinery Department grows in popular favor every season.

Why? Because we keep the newest goods, made up in the most artistic styles.

There must be taste or there'll be trash no matter what you pay for it.

New Goods for summer wear are coming forward.

The choicest goods are taken first.

Come early and get the best.

Dress Goods.

We have the newest shades and most popular effects in dress goods. We call especial attention to our black and colored all-wool Henriettas from 40c. per yard upwards.

Tweeds, Coatings, etc.

We show the best goods and best values. If you want a spring suit or overcoat you will make a mistake if you purchase without inspecting our stock.

Cotton Goods.

Anticipating an advance in price in all lines of cotton goods as a result of the recent combination of manufacturers, we have bought largely in cottonades, denims, shirtings, grey and white cottons, etc.; we are headquarters for these goods.

Groceries.

In this line we keep the highest grades of goods at the lowest possible living prices.

Teas.

We give the Tea trade especial attention. Our Japan at 4½ and 3 lbs. for $1 cannot be excelled. We have cheaper and dearer lines but these are leaders.

A WORD IN CONCLUSION:

Some think us dear because we will not COME DOWN in the price of our goods. It is not our way of doing business. We mark all our goods in plain figures and sell at one price to all. The poor man's $ is as good to us as the rich man's. We cannot see any other honest way of doing business. Our past experience convinces us that a majority of the public appreciates fair dealing and goods as they are represented.
