OLD COUNTRY NOTES

Rattray Head, where a German airship dropped some bombs, has rather an unenviable reputation. The rocky promontory on the coast is extremely dangerous when one of the fierce north-easterly gales blows. A bar or long stretch of sharp granite rock lies hidden in the sea, and except when the ocean is in a peaceful mood it is difficult for passing ships to escape destruction unless their skippers are experienced. A native, watching the airship pass over it, remarked, "When your submarines come this way they won't get away so well. Let them come near to this shore, and our most natural submarine will make short work of ye, and ye'll no hae time to say your prayers." Over one hundred ships have been wrecked there.

Last rain in Dundee is causing some commotion. Madame Currie presented some time ago a piece of radium valued at $720 to the Royal Infirmary. It was enclosed in a glass tube about the size of a pin. How it has disappeared is wrapped in mystery. A reward has been offered to the finder, who has been duly cautioned that while the radium has immensely valuable healing properties, it is also merciless in its attacks upon flesh tissues unless carefully handled. Madame Currie is greatly interested in the loss and cannot understand how anything so valuable could get out of a Scotsman's hands.

A gallant rescue was effected by Private Donnelly, of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, at Ayr Harbour on a recent Saturday evening. Donald Macfarlane, a cooper, belonging to Glasgow, was cycling in South Harbour street, close to the quay wall, when his bicycle swerved and fell into the river. Donnelly jumped into the water at once, and with great difficulty kept Macfarlane afloat till the pilot's motor boat arrived and picked up both men.

A fine was imposed on a merchant in the Sheriff Court at Ayr the other day for failing to notify the authorities that a French maid was in his employment. He said that neither his wife nor he was aware that she was French, as she spoke with a "strong Scottish accent."

A man who had been in Aberdeen pleaded guilty recently to 294 offences against the liquor control regulations. He had rendered himself liable to fines amounting to the enormous sum of £19,000 and 12 years imprisonment. He escaped with a fine of £43.

Painstaking Work

makes severe demands upon the eyesight. Those whose daily tasks require the constant use of the eyes in this way should give them careful attention.

Trifling defects of vision may, under certain circumstances, quickly develop into serious trouble and consequent loss of employment.

If you find that your eyesight is not quite all that it ought to be, you should obtain glasses without delay.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, May 29—"The absolute cord between Great Britain and Russia means that the alliance formed time of war against a common enemy has become an alliance for all time."
Thus spoke Sergius Sazonoff, Russian Foreign Minister in an interview with The Times' Petro correspondent.
"The alliance made by the government has now become an alliance of the hearts of the people," continued M. Sazonoff.
"In this friendship I see the realization of the fondest dream of my career, for in true friendship of England and Russia the peace of the world is assured for many generations. I have this potentially won the struggle, although the struggle itself may come for the realization of this hope. Nothing is farther from my mind than to compromise. I am certain that the Central Powers have lost no matter how they try to fortify and internal sacrifice postpone the inevitable day of the mission of their failure."
NOT AGGRESSIVE.
With the realization of the alliance the solidarity and greatness of the empire also the partitioning of the mischievous idea that the Russians are a people of ambitious aggressive design planning to advance their own aims at the expense of the world. Nothing is farther from my mind than to compromise. I am certain that the Central Powers have lost no matter how they try to fortify and internal sacrifice postpone the inevitable day of the mission of their failure."
