Mothers' Meetings.

It is the custom of the W. C. T. U. to hold, once in two months, a Mothers' Meeting. Such a meeting was held on Thursday, the 21st inst. Mrs. Hemmison presided, announcing as the subject for the afternoon "The conversion of our families." After singing, prayer and scripture reading, Mrs. Hemmison spoke at some length in a most interesting and touching manner, emphasizing the influence of the mother upon the spiritual life of the child.

These meetings are not confined to the members of the Union, and all women interested in the welfare and training of the young are earnestly invited to be present. Due notice is given from the pulpits of the town, and anyone wishing to attend will be most cordially welcomed.

Order in a Town.

Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness may be said to be the right of every one—and because some people do not recognize these rights as belonging to others we require government with the power of enforcing the observance of these fundamental principles. So in a town where there are lawless men there must be regulations for police protection. It is the interest of all to have such provision and the duty of all to support the arrangements for securing the good order on which the welfare of each depends.

If the arrangements are not satisfactory; if the officers are not competent constitutional means should be taken to replace them with men who are competent. But while they are in office they have a right to the moral support of the people who appoint them. Order must be observed if society is to exist.

But just what should be meant by order is not so clearly understood or agreed upon. Some persons seem to think it is in good order for large groups to stop the traffic and block the sidewalks and crowd the platforms of Railways where the room they take is needed by the travelling public who pay for the use of the property the loafers monopolize. On the other hand some seem to think that if half a dozen walk in a group and are not as silent as they would be at a funeral, that order has been outraged and to such an extent that some one must be forthwith arrested and deprived of liberty and the pursuit of happiness, even if it be left to exist in a town where the Salvation Army makes day and night hideous, with its noise, and blocks the streets, night after night, when the views of order are so different some collisions may be expected. The extremists will probably have unpleasant meetings.

It may be said, with reason, we think that the authorities should interfere no more than is necessary to secure order. Their interference is a necessary evil and should be limited to necessary occasions. The presumption is that men have a right to their liberty, and a reason with some weight is required to justify the authorities in taking it away. To deprive men of their freedom without ground for the action is not in the interest of law and order; it is decidedly against good order. Such action breaks down respect for law very fast. It promotes anything but a law-abiding spirit. Care should be taken not to arrest innocent men. If there is a disturbance it would require to be very serious to justify the arrest of persons who are not seen or known to have responsibility for it. To seize the first man visible without knowing anything of his action would seem to make it very doubtful if the disturbance is serious enough to warrant any arrest. If the most culpable man in the opinion of the officers is one who is shown to have nothing to do with the trouble it is evident no great outrage has been committed. To deprive a respectable citizen of his liberty is a serious matter. If one citizen can be thus treated another can be imprisoned, and government instead of being for the protection of the people is an instrument of oppression. The good sense of a town suffers sometimes far more by the incompetency or over zeal of its officers than it does by some slight action of boys that might need a warning. And no officer, high or low, should exhibit a desire to get an occasion for inflicting pains and penalties on any class of citizens. Order should be maintained at whatever cost and therefore those in charge of a town's affairs should be careful to see that its administration does not tend to promote disorder.

New York has 7,300 liquor saloons, one to every 224 inhabitants; Chicago has 7,000, one to every 242 inhabitants; Boston has 1,030, one to every 600 inhabitants; Philadelphia has 1,255, one to every 541 inhabitants; Halifax has 129, one to every 350 inhabitants. In Philadelphia the number of licenses has decreased by 3,000 since the price of them was put up to $1,000 each. Boston charges $1,500 a year for retail licenses; Philadelphia, $1,000; Chicago, $500; New York, $200; Halifax, $100 to $150. A man who could buy a license in Halifax and sell it in Boston could drink champagne.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the ACADIAN.

GENTLEMEN,—As Dr. G. E. DeWitt has published in the Acadian Orchardist of Nov. 5th a letter professing to explain certain transactions between me and "The Wolfville Fruit Land Improvement Company Limited" and himself, which letter is incorrect in several particulars; in justice to myself and in the interest of Truth I ask you to kindly publish in your paper the following truthful narration of facts.

On the 4th Aug., 1893, I entered into a written agreement with the said Company to purchase the lots mentioned in my advertisement for the sum of $300.00 (paying $50.00 down). Subsequently it was agreed that a Deed of said lots be sent me upon receipt from me of a further payment of $244.00 (being the balance due on original agreement less 7 1/2 per cent. discount for cash). On the 25th Oct., 1893, I mailed a Bank draft for the said sum of $244.00 to the (then) Secretary of the said Company, expecting to receive my Deed forthwith; but I never received any Deed until July, 1894. Last September I visited Wolfville, having the said Deed (still unregistered) with me; when through the kindness of Dr. DeWitt I was shown my lots and the said Company's lands. Expressing to the Doctor my inability to see the desired beauty in my lots he generously offered me other lots in exchange for mine, provided I would give him in addition certain sums of money then named by him. I took time to consider and before leaving Wolfville I again called upon Dr. DeWitt and informed him that I purposed putting no more money into lots in Wolfville, and that I wanted to sell my lots, and that my price was $100.00 for the two lots; and I then offered to surrender unto him as President of the said Company (the Grantor therein named) my Deed (which I showed him) provided he would pay me $100.00. He declined the offer. I then informed him that I intended to advertise my property in a local paper of the town, for sale for $100.00, and that I would state in the advertisement, in full and in plain English, the terms of the offer which I had made to the Doctor, and that I would give him in an even exchange. The Doctor then said (in substance) that there was to be a meeting of the stock holders of the Company on the following week and that he would lay the matter before them and notify me as to the result. I then said I would lay it again, and departed. All of the remaining transactions with him are in Letters and Post Cards, and are as hereunder stated. Next I received from the Doctor a letter of which the following is a true copy:

Sept. 12, 1895.
DEAR SIR,—In accord with my promise I now report to you concerning the exchange of lots. We have decided to convey to you lot No. 2 in Block B on University Avenue. You will see that the lot is in the best locality, the second lot south of Highland Park. You will please write a Deed having in it the restrictions the Company require, and if satisfactory to the Company on receipt of your Deed cancelling the lots mentioned therein, I will have executed the Deed and return to you.

Yours truly,
(signed) G. E. DeWitt.
Upon receipt of the above letter I concluded to accept his offer of this lot, not thinking that the Company would be unreasonable in their restrictions, but still not knowing exactly what restrictions they would require as I had never seen two of their Deeds or Documents exactly alike in this respect. Consequently I wrote the Doctor a Card to the effect that I would accept the offer as contained in his letter (above copied).

On the 23rd Sept. inst. finding some leisure time I commenced to write the Deed to me from the Company of the lot referred to in the Doctor's letter, when the first thought that came to me was that I had better find out about the restrictions required in the Deed before writing it, so I at once wrote the Doctor a letter of which the following is an exact copy:

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 23rd, 1895.
DR. G. E. DEWITT, Pres. and Manager of The Wolfville F. L. Im. Co., Ltd.
Dear Sir,—Before writing the Deed of the Lot to you I would request you to let me know what the Restrictions are that the Co. require in the Deed. This old Deed in my possession has this clause in it: "The Company nevertheless reserves the right to prohibit the erection of fences around said lot and reserving the right of approval of the Architecture and location of all buildings on said Lot." Under the foregoing clause the Co. have defined nothing so that the purchaser is solely dependent upon their Will or Whims. If a purchaser should hold his lot for a few years before building he would then have to ask the Co. to define by a Writing under Seal what their Will and pleasure might be as to his intended building operations. We cannot tell who may then be the leading spirit in the Co. But if it suits the purpose of the letter at that time to keep this lot vacant so as to have an unobstructed view or other privileges sometimes obtained from unoccupied lots the Co. might then make such demands as to location and Architecture as to virtually prohibit any buildings being built. If the above clause is inserted for an honest purpose it must be merely to prevent buildings going up too near the street and to protect the grounds from the objectionable appearance of shacks. I herewith submit a clause which will meet the latter case and at the same time keep the Company within reasonable limits. The clause is this: "The Company nevertheless reserves the right to prohibit the erection of fences around said lot and reserving the right to prohibit the erection of buildings on said lot nearer to University Avenue than ten feet or to a goal than $700.00 when such buildings are completed." If the Company are not willing to define their restrictions in some such way as this they may as well keep the land; for if a man buys land and pays for it he expects to have some vested rights in it other than the right to pay taxes on it and the right to ask a Corporation (which some Authorities say has no soul whether it be a house or a street). Trusting that I have made my meaning plain I shall await your reply.

Yours truly,
(signed) HAVELOCK COY.
In reply to the letter last above copied I received a card addressed to me of which the following is a true copy:

Wolfville, Sept. 25th, '95.
DEAR SIR,—Yours of the 23rd duly received. I mail one of our Deeds in blank which if you will fill in and return to us we will execute. I trust this will satisfy you as the Company will give no other.

Yours truly,
(signed) G. E. DeWitt.
I received the Blank Deed referred to and looked at it and saw that it contained a clause similar to the one objected to by me in my previous letter and I at once mailed the letter of which the following is a copy:

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 27th, 1895.
DR. G. E. DEWITT, Wolfville.
DEAR SIR,—For reasons stated in my letter to you of the 23rd, inst., I decline to accept any Deed containing such an indefinite clause, as the Blank just received from you contains and I shall adhere to my original intention of advertising the lot for sale.

Yours truly,
(signed) HAVELOCK COY.
Subsequently I did advertise the lot for sale as by reference to your paper fully appears.

In the Doctor's letter in the Acadian Orchardist (above referred to) is the following sentence: "Mr. Coy suggested that the word 'Architecture' and the sentence referring to prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors be left out."

The clause which induced the good Doctor to publish such a false statement; as to say that I suggested to leave out any sentence, referring to prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors, I leave for the honor of your readers (who know him better than I do) to seek.

I notice a letter of the Doctor's in the ACADIAN of the 8th inst. containing a clause which suggests to my mind the most charitable solution of this mystery. It is the clause in which he intimates that he has been reading between the lines of my advertisement. I suppose he has been reading between the lines of my letters instead of reading the lines themselves. If the doctor ever again publishes an attempted analysis of business letters which I have sent him, I would thank him if he would first carefully read the lines of said letters and never again publish any non-existent statement that he would wish to see between the lines, thereof. Thanking you for the valuable space allotted to me, I am, Gentlemen, Yours truly,

HAVELOCK COY.
Dated at Fredericton, Nov. 12th, 1895.

Much of late has been said and written about Wolfville and its beautiful scenery, but the scenery of perhaps the prettiest town in Nova Scotia, has never been made known. This little town is Hunterport, which was once one of the most prosperous towns in Nova Scotia. Back of the town rise four high hills, from the top of the highest one may get a magnificent view of the Basin of Minas, Blomidon, Parrishore and Five Islands. The harbor at Hunterport is said to be very fine, the Avon River is large and deep enough to hold all the navies on earth, also the beach is said by men who know, to be the best in Canada for repairing ships.

AMICUS OPINIO.
We are pleased to learn from Principal Oakes that Horton Collegiate Academy is enjoying more than ordinary prosper. It is by this term. Seventy-two students are enrolled against 56 at the same date last year, and the term's income will be about $1,000 larger than that of the corresponding term of '94. Every room in Chipman Hall and the Academy Home is occupied. The students are contented and the order is of the best. The advantages which the Academy offers to students preparing for college are greater, Mr. Oakes believes, than can be secured in the public schools.

Parliament will meet on the second day of January next.
