Doings at Trinity.

Since my last report of our doings collectively and individually, we have passed through a month of early spring monotony, and we are only just beginning to feel the pulsations of enjoyable activities that usually come to us with the month of May. The subject of a site for the Soldiers' Monument has been a difficult one to decide. All the available sites in town belong to the Church of England, and they were gladly offered by the Bishop, and the Rector of St. Paul's for the purpose. In order to make one of the sites quite large enough, Mr. and Mrs. Hussey offered to give a piece of their land adjoining. The three sites selected by the committee to be voted for by the public were, the old Parsonage site on the hill; the Church paddock, plus Mr. Hussey's field, and the vacant lot at the west end of St. Paul's Church, inside the Church gates, with the Church as a background.

At the public meeting, a majority of those who voted, did so in favor of the Parsonage hill. Since that decision, however, the committee have visited the hill, and to their surprise they have found that it will cost at least $800 to fence and clean up. This, in face of the fact that we have not a dollar to spare for such a preparation, has shown the folly of voting for a site without having ever seen or examined it. This has ruled it out of the list of sites. Another public meeting will be necessary to decide upon a site. In the meantime interest in it is on the wane, and probably the worst is yet to come.

The five memorial windows ordered from the Luxfer Prism Co., Toronto, last fall, came to hand last month, and were placed in position in the Mortuary Chapel. They are in memory of Charles Granger, Fred Somerton, Stephen Morris, Frank Morris and Arthur Malmont, and they are the most beautiful windows that it has been our pleasure to handle. They were provided by the parents of the boys who fell, and in whose memory they have been enshrined. The medallion in each is filled with emblems such as indicate the objects for which they fought and died. In the body of each window are the words, "He died that others may live," and at the base is the name of the boy, the battle in which he fell, together with age and date of death and the prayer that the soul may rest in peace.

The Rector, Rev. Chas. Stickings, asked Rev. Canon Smart, as Rural Dean to come and dedicate these windows to the Glory of God and in loving memory of the boys who fell. This, he most kindly consented to do, and suggested The Ascension Day as a fitting time for the service. The day was beautifully fine, and at 3 o'clock on that holy day, the Mortuary Chapel was filled with a congregation devoutly interested in the order and object of the service.

The order of the service was shortened. Evensong by the Rector, The Lesson was read by Mr. Samuel Grant, Lay Reader. After the prayers a special Hymn, borrowed from the American Church, was sung, the first two verses of which were as follows: "O valiant Hearts, who to your glory came Through dust of conflict and through battle-flame; Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved."

Your memory hallowed in the Land you loved.

"Proudly you gathered, rank on rank to war, As who had heard God's message from afar; All you had hoped for, all you had, you gave To save Mankind—yourselves you scorned to save."

Then Canon Smart, standing before the altar, having asked that the offerings of the people be now presented, Canon Lockyer—who designed and ordered the windows—came forward and said: "Rev. Rural Dean Smart, in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Granger, Mr. and Mrs. Somerton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris, Mrs. Charles Morris and Mrs. Heber Malmont, I offer these windows as a part of this building, to the Glory of God, for use, for beauty and for teaching. I ask you to accept them and to dedicate them for this purpose, and in memory of Charles Granger, Fred Somerton, Stephen Morris, Frank Morris and Arthur Malmont, who fell in battle, and who died that we may live."

Canon Smart, in the name of the Bishop of the Diocese, announced his acceptance of the offerings, and in the presence of the kneeling congregation, humbly presented them to God.

Then standing before the altar—from a heart overflowing with sympathy for the parents of the boys at rest, with a consciousness of the wondrous beauty of the building and the service, and with the many hallowed memories that crowded in upon him, the Canon spoke to the people such words as brought comfort to the bereaved and caused us all to visualize the Ascension of the Saviour, and to realize the value of the blessings that have come to us all because of it. Canon Smart expressed his pleasure at being with us again, and we assure him of our pleasure too, and of our thankfulness for his kind words and actions.

At 4.30 a reception was given to the Canon and Rev. Dr. Facey in the Parish Hall, when a goodly number of old friends met for a friendly shake of the hand, and a pleasant chat over a cup of tea. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and fully appreciated by the visiting clergy.

At 8 o'clock the Parish Hall was fairly well filled with those who had come to hear Canon Smart and Rev. Dr. Facey present the cause of Queen's College, St. John's. The Canon was in excellent form, and he succeeded in convincing us of the privilege as well as the duty of giving towards the College extension and maintenance. Rev. Dr. Facey gave us an outline of his policy and plans, as the Principal of the College, and illustrated his remarks by a series of lantern slides. We were all pleased to meet Dr. Facey as a Trinitarian and in his official capacity, and we are proud of him.

The Church of England and Methodist School Boards have had a series of meetings to consider the proposal made by the Church of England Board to amalgamate their schools in Trinity. The meetings were most harmonious from start to finish, and so far as the respective Boards are concerned the amalgamation has been effected. An appeal is now being made to the public for a guarantee of subscription for five years, to supplement the existing grants, to enable the amalgamated Board to employ two first class teachers, fully equipped to provide an education for our children, that will do away with the necessity of sending them away from Trinity at the age which is now necessary. The Church of England school house is a fine building for all the necessary requirements, and it is now up to the people of Trinity to provide the money necessary to give their children the educational advantages, which of late years they have been without, and for which the parents have been asking for.

Rev. W. Cole, who has been in charge of the Methodist congregation in the Circuit, has been transferred to the Nova Scotia Conference, and will leave in a few weeks for his new charge. We wish him well.

Mr. E. J. Ryan's new schooner the "Tipperary," came last week salt laden from La Have, Nova Scotia. She is a fine looking vessel, and will be a valuable addition to the local fleet.

We have now four automobiles and an "Indian" motor cycle belonging to citizens. They will give pleasure to their owners and friends, and will break the monotony of our usual quietness.

Mr. James D. Lockyer, of St. John's, spent a few days in town, and left again for the city.

Mr. Edwin Grant is visiting New York, Boston, and other American cities and will return via Halifax.

During the days of last week when the ice was away from the shore, the trap men did well with fish.

Cleans Thoroughly--Polishes Brilliantly

THE remarkable, beautiful effect obtained from the O-Cedar treatment, is due to the fact that O-Cedar "cleans as it polishes."

It is important that all dust and grime be removed from any surface, in order to give it that lustre which is something more than a mere surface polish.

This O-Cedar accomplishes. A few drops of O-Cedar on a wet cloth will form a soft lather that removes all scum and dust.

The final operation consists of a brisk rub with a dry cloth. The result is all that could be desired—a hard, dry lustre on furniture and floors; a dazzling radiance on your automobile.

Both O-Cedar Polish and the O-Cedar Mop are obtainable at your Hardware or Grocery Store.
