Kearney's NEW FALL HATS ARE IN.

At stocratic Stetson Velours; dignified Stetson Soft Felts; Christy's, Borsalinos from 'way across the water. America, England, Italy contributed their finest products, from the hands of master hatters, making this a wonderful showing of the World's Best Hats.

And every

Kearney Hat sold must suit.

We would not tamper with the finely blocked lines of such famous hats, would not impair their fit, by selling you an ill-looking, ill-fitting hat. There is little need of this, such a marvellous range of styles and sizes are here that the "right hat" comes easy.

With us, always, "the customer must be satisfied."

France Demands Reparation.

Germany Must Settle for Breslau Incident---Triple Alliance of Labor Back Miners---New York Has Complex Strike Problem---Conflict Raging in Belfast.

FRANCE DEMANDS REPARATION.

BERLIN, Sept. 1. The French Ambassador informed the German Foreign Minister to-day that the French government desired a settlement of the Breslau incident, arising from an attack by a mob on the French Consulate, as soon as possible. France demands that the Consulate be repaired at the expense of the German government, that an indemnity of a hundred thousand francs be paid for losses, punishment of the persons responsible, and the ceremonial re-opening of the Consulate.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE BACKS MINERS.

LONDON, Sept. 1. The Executive Commission of Labor's "triple alliance" considering the miners' claims, unanimously passed a resolution yesterday in which it is set forth that claims are "both reasonable and just, and should be considered forthwith." Previously it had been considered doubtful if the Alliance of the three great unions would support miners.

MORE STRIKERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. Three thousand moving van drivers, helpers and packers were added to the New York army of strikers to-day. The men demand an increase of five dollars per day of eight hours.

MILLIONAIRE PLUMBERS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. Unless they are awarded a minimum wage of nine dollars per day, a forty-four hour week, ten holidays per year, and double time for all overtime and holiday work, plumbers announced that they will strike. Painters, Paper Hangers and Decorators have voted to strike to-morrow unless they are given ten dollars for an eight hour day and a five day week.

BELFAST BATTLE.

BELFAST, Sept. 1. Fighting was resumed this morning between Nationalists, Unionists, shipyard workers, workers from Shankill district, and troops. Heavy firing continued nearly an hour and it is feared the casualties are heavy. Fighting centred about North Street. The total number of serious fires in Belfast since Wednesday last reached two hundred and fourteen this morning.

TWO MORE CASUALTIES.

BELFAST, Sept. 1. An unidentified man was shot and killed by the military patrol during curfew hours last night. A soldier was accidentally shot dead by a military patrol.

A RELAPSE.

LONDON, Sept. 1. Late editions of the morning papers report that Terence McSwiney suffered a change for worst during the night and is now sinking rapidly. It is stated that the prisoner can no longer speak.

SOVIET H.C.L. IDEAS.

BAKU, Sept. 1. Revolutionary outbreaks against Bolsheviks are reported among the Tartars. Disturbances were caused by the increased cost of living, which is now twenty times greater than when the Soviet government was instituted.

CURFEW AT BELFAST.

BELFAST, Sept. 1. Enforcement of the curfew ordinance in the city last night had a quieting effect. There were several fires in various sections of the town during early evening, but no serious rioting occurred.

CRICKET.

LONDON, Sept. 1. In yesterday's Cricket series Yorkshire defeated Hampshire, Lancashire defeated Worcestershire and Sussex defeated Leicestershire.

Retail Prices Will Slump.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Retail prices, in the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board, will decline slightly during the coming fall and winter months and will slump next spring to lower levels. Summarizing recent changes in prices of various commodities in the United States, the Board in a report last night said that "Saving afforded by manufacturers through lessened costs of materials and increased efficiency of labor must eventually be reflected in a downward movement of retail prices."

Changes in the prices of raw materials, which were reported to have declined sharply during the past few weeks, will not show their effect, according to the Board, in retail prices until early next spring. The Board stated that an "important downward tendency" in prices of all commodities except food had been evidenced throughout the United States, the reduction in prices of raw products having been especially marked.

This general lowering of the price level, it was believed, indicates a probable drop in food prices during the coming months.

Our Sheet Anchor.

It is hard to believe that Russia, even a Soviet Russia that has found new sources of strength in aggression from outside, should have any passion for a great war. If the victorious Allies find themselves exhausted, their state is golden by comparison with that of Russia. We must believe that only the firm hold of an Imperialist militarism could persuade or compel Russia to insist on war when peace and recognition are within her grasp. That is the surest foundation of hope for the victory of sanity in a crazy situation. We cling to it.—London Daily Express.

"Greenwich" Follies" Promoter Hangs.

Boundbrook, N.J., Aug. 27.—Guy Briggs, wealthy theatrical promoter, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself in the cellar of his home here.

He promoted the "Greenwich" Village Follies, "What's in a Name," and the "Greenwich Village Follies Number Two," which will open in New York next Monday night.

He is said to have inherited an estate estimated at $1,000,000 from his father, the late Benjamin Briggs, a financier largely interested in the Cunard Steamship Company.

Briggs had lost considerable money in theatrical enterprises, but this is not supposed to have been the motive for his suicide.

Clouds Always Climb.

As the sun sinks at night the earth gradually cools, giving off its heat by radiation to the surrounding air. Later, this air near the earth cools, and the moisture condenses on the surface of small particles of dust, causing what is known as mist.

During the night mists hang over low-lying valleys, but when the air is warmed again by the sun next morning the mist evaporates and disappears.

When warm air ascends, it not only passes into colder regions, but the very act of expansion from the warmth it receives lowers its temperature, and the vapour condenses and forms clouds.

Clouds often appear to float in the air for hours, but the water particles falling slowly through the air meet with warmer and drier air, and so evaporate again and ascend.

At the top of the cloud condensation occurs, and drops of moisture fall and, if striking the earth before they can evaporate, become rain.

At the same time the bottom of the cloud vaporises and rises, forming smaller clouds higher up; thus part of the clouds continue to ascend and become still cooler until they reach a height where they turn into particles of ice and can get no higher—about six miles on a warm day. The average height of clouds is just a mile.

Honours for Heroines.

Women are now eligible for the Victoria Cross. Two years ago they were similarly made eligible for the Military Medal, and they are also entitled to receive, under certain circumstances, the British War Medal and the Victory Medal.

Hitherto we have not been over generous in bestowing war decorations on women, though some few have received them. Miss Sidney Browne, for instance, the first matron-in-chief of Queen Alexandra's Military Nursing Service, wears medals for the Egyptian War and the Khedive's Bronze Star, and two medals for the South African War, in addition to the Royal Red Cross and the Coronation Medal.

Our Allies, and especially France, have been more free in this direction, quite a number of British nurses having been decorated by them for their services, amongst the earliest recipients being Mrs. Harley, a sister of Lord French, upon whom General Sarraill bestowed the Croix de Guerre, "with palm."

Fell Into the Trap.

Until Queen Victoria came to the throne there was no British decoration of any sort available for women. Then there were instituted four specially for them, including the well-known Royal Red Cross. They were also made eligible for the Order of Merit, but Florence Nightingale was the only one upon whom it was ever conferred.

"Do you think any girl ever proposed in leap year as they say, Maudie?" he asked.

"Not unless she is obliged to," answered the maiden.

"H'm! I hadn't thought of that," he said, after a pause.

"But, George," she said, laying her hand affectionately upon his arm and looking into his eyes, "you, I am sure, will never force me to that humiliation."

"No—er—that is to say—of course not—I—"

The ice was broken, and three minutes later George was Maudie's accepted.
