The Agricultural College

Committee. This Committee have decided not to take any more evidence, and we think, on good grounds, for the almost universal conclusion come to days ago, by all who read the evidence is that McCandless knocked the bottom out of his case by his own evidence, nor has he been able to sustain a single charge made by him against any of the officers. The Globe says that the Committee describe the evidence as of "alfrivolous character, consisting chiefly of gossip and petty scandals amongst the former officials and employees;" and echo the sensible and universal conclusion of all decent people, that " it is not in the public interest to pursue the enquiry further." They find that injurious dissensions and insubordination occurred in the College while under McCandless's manage ment, and declare that the Govern ment were fully justified in dispens ing with McCandless' services. They finally express the opinion that the present condition of the management is satisfactory.

Their report will be presented to the House to-day, and on Monday, when it is published, we shall have something more to say on the sub-

The Rykert Case.

It is greatly to be regretted that the House did not see fit formally to register its unqualified condemna tion of Mr. Rykert's corrupt acts, and to expell him. We cannot see why that could not have been done, even although the evidence was not printed. This is the only reason given by the Globe, and to our mind, it is not at all satisfactory. That evidence was published day by day, members read it daily as it appeared, and they have the result of the Committee's labours in the report, which was sufficient to warrant them in taking action, in recording in proper shape their condemnation of Mr. Rykert and in expelling him from the House. True, the session may close soon, when the present Legislature pass. out of existence, so that Mr. Hykert will have no op-portunity of acting as a representative. But the House had a duty, nevertheless, to perform which in justice to the electors of Lincoln, and to the people at large, should have been done before they are dis-missed. Public morality demanded that they should have left on record their sense of Mr. Rykert's corrupt practices, even though he never sat another hour in a Legislature ball.

It is not at all likely that he will be re-elected, even though he should have the effrontery to put himself forward as a candidate. He leaves the House with the taint of corrup tion on him, and he may well thank his stars that he has been so leniently dealt with by the Government. Had he any member of it in the same dishonourable position, he would not have let him so easily off, But there is one comfort, we have heard the last of Mr. Rykert as a public man.

NORTH BRANT. - At a convention of the Reformers of North Brant, held Fancy Goods, Dolls and Toys at Cainsville on Thursday, Mr. Hugh Finlayson was chosen as the Reform candidate for that constituency, in the Local Legislature.

Several petitions have been sent to the Dominion Government praying for a commutation of the sentence of death passed upon Ambrose Lepine. Among those petitions is one from Manitoba with 1,800 signatures, headed by Bishop Tache.

The incorporation of Palmerston takes effect on the first of January. and the village is to be annexed to Wellington for parliamentary as well as municipal purposes. The bill giving effect to the erection of Listowel as a town has passed the Legislature.

The Perth Reform papers are highly satisfied with the nomination of Mr. D. D. Hay as the candidate for the North Riding of that County He is well qualified for the position, being well informed, a ready speaker, a good debater, and a man full of energy and action. We trust he will accept the nomination.

FUNNY DESCRIPTION OF A HORSE.—
About the year 1481, Julian Berners, sister of Richard, Lord Berners, wrote three English treets on hunting, hawking, and heraldry. From an edition of this book, printed by Wynken de Worde, in 1496, we take the following extracts:

"The propryties of a good horse—A good horse shoulde have fifteen good propryties and condycions; that is, to wyte, three of a man, three of a woman, three of a foxe, three of a heare, and three of an asse. Of a man, boled, prowde and hardyo; of a woman, fayre b easted, fayre of heere, and easy to move; of a foxe, a fayre taylle, short evs, with a good trotte; of a harre, a grete eye, a dry heed, and well rennying; of an asse, a byge chynn, a flat legge, and a good hoof."—Merry England, its Sports and Pastimes. An inquest was held on the 15th inst., by Dr. Middleton, on the body of Murdoch Smith, of Garafraxa, who had died very suddenly the previous day. He had complaining of his throat for som been complaining of his throat for some time before but no serious results were authorpated until on the day mentioned, when he suddenly expired while attempt-ing to swallow a teaspoonful of weak brandy and water. The jury returned a verdict that he had come to his death from inflamation of the throat.
