THE WHEEL.

A Denver (Col.) item says: On Sunday Mrs. C. C. Candy, accompanied by her husband, made the descent of Pike's Peak on a bicycle. The feat has been accomplished by men before, but Mrs. Candy is the first woman who ever attempted it. The only accident they had was when Mrs. Candy wa thrown off her wheel when on the side of a hill, down which she rolled 100 feet. A bowlder stopped her from going any farther, and very likely saved her life. When they reached the timber line a heavy rain set in, and the rest of the trip was made in the midst of a severe storm. Mrs. Candy is a native of Philadelphia and is a rather small woman. On the trip she wore a man's cycling suit, it being impossible to wear skirts on such an expedition.

A PERSONAL MATTER

Occupies Most of the Council's Time Last Night.

Ald. Judd Rises to Refute Certain Assertions-So Does Ald. Parnell-The Street Railway Company's Proposition Plays Second Fiddle and Is Laid Over.

Plays Second Fiddle and Is Laid Over.

Before the City Council last night took up the question which it had met to consider, namely, the street railway proposition, Ald. Judd rose to a question of privilege. He had a right to do so as it was a matter affecting his reputation. He referred to an anonymous communication in the evening ADVERTISER. He was not personally aggrieved as the more the ADVERTISER tried to stir up his character the more it increased his popularity and any person whose character was attacked. The first article referred to, which was purported to be signed by several workingmen, commented on the reduction of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company's assessment by the Court of Revision, and asked: "Was it legal for the chairman, Ald. Judd, to act as counsel, judge and jury in the case, as it was his firm, represented by Mr. Ed Meredith, that prosecuted the appeal?" The first statement, he said, was utterly untrue. He had had nothing to do for the Carling Company in his life. When the appeal of the company was being considered he withdrew from the case. The judgment was given by Ald. Yates, Leonard and Dreaney. Ald. Parnell had shown him a letter to the same effect as the newspaper article which he (Ald. Parnell) claimed had been delivered to him anonymously. He had asked that the letter be brought before the last meeting of the council so that he might have vindicated himself, but Ald. Parnell did not do it. He did not charge Ald. Parnell with writing the letter to the paper or the letter purported to have been delivered to him, but it would have been just as well had he submitted it and allowed his (Ald. Judd's) explanation to go out to the public with it. That communication was invented and published for no other purpose than a political one.

Ald. Parnell in reply said that Ald. Judd had made certain statements regarding a

Ald. Judd—I did not charge you with writing it.

Ald. Parnell—I propose to read the letter, but beiore doing so I might state that I called Ald Judd's attention to it for the purpose of asking him if he would desire to enswer any questions I might put to him. You all know it was near 12 o'clock when we adjourned Monday night, and I was not justified in bringing it before the council at that late hour.

Ald. Parnell asked Ald. Judd to decipher the letter, which read something like this:

Ald. Parnell asked Alo. Sand the letter, which read something like this: Myself and several of your constituents think you should move at the first meeting the sand the appeal of the any seil and several of your constituents think you should move at the first meeting of the council to have the appeal of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company which was allowed by the Court of Revision referred to the county judge, as it is a fraud on the workingmen of the city, who will have to bear the burden thrown on them. We think the action of the court was illegal, as Ald. Judd was chairman of the court, while the firm of Messrs. Meredith, Cameron & Judd prosecuted the appeal of the Carling Company. Kindly bring the matter up.

"Ald. Judd," continued Ald. Parnell, "asked me to bring it up before the council and I declined, as it was very late. I know no more whom or where this letter came from than though it had never been written." AT PITTSBURG. THE STREET RAILWAY PROBLEM.
The specific purpose of the meeting was then arrived at and the council went into committee of the whole, Ald. Shaw in the chair. The only copy of the new street railway company's proposition was in the hands of Ald. Gartshore, and some of the members objected to the consideration of it unless more copies were had, as it was too lengthy and detailed to keep in mind.
One of the solicitors of the new company was present and offered to furnish ten type-written copies. Ald. ALMOST A COLLISION.

Considerable excitement was caused in Thirty-third street, Pittsburg, this morning by an attempt of about 50 non-union men to get into the upper Union mills. They were surrounded by a large body of strikers. No arms or clubs were displayed, but the situation looked serious for a time. One of the new men made show of resistance and was roughly handled, but cooler heads prevented a disturbance, and the new men were finally induced to leave. At noon everything was quiet about the mills.
