SPECIAL NOTICES

For Tired Feet.

Hot weather at fair time causes many a tired feeling with those who take a two or three days' trip. To overcome the difficulties attending with many persons troubled with tired, tender and swollen or sweaty feet, a relief can be secured by taking along a box of Foot-Elm. This is a powder which has been placed on the market by the firm of Messrs Stott & Jury, of Bowmanville. Many imitations have been attempted, but none have succeeded, and Foot-Elm remains the peer of all powders for such complaints as mentioned above. In traveling and taking a vacation of this description, many resort to new shoes, and are therefore troubled and worried. A box of Foot-Elm will ease all complaints. Messrs. Stott & Jury have had enormous sales during this summer, and testimonials have been sent to them by the hundreds. Visitors to the coming Western Fair should bring along or purchase in the city a box of this Foot-Elm.

The Intercolonial Railway have announced their annual seaside excursions to the Maritime Provinces. Tickets are good to go up to the 31st of this month. TRAINED ANIMALS WILL PREFORM

Interesting Facts About the Norris Bros.' Big Show Which Will Be Here Tomorrow.

The Norris Bros.' big trained animal show, which will be in London tomorrow, is the largest show of the kind on the road. There are several hundred animals, and every one has a specialty. The entire performance is given by animals. There are 108 dogs, 76 Shetland ponies, an elephant 36 inches high, claimed to be the smallest in captivity, and a zebra. The show was at Guelph on Monday, and the crowds were so great that the management had to stop selling tickets before the performance began. Prof. Norris bought two fine hounds at Guelph from E. C. Price.

The Norris Bros.' trained animal show has been in existence fifteen years. Mr. Meyer Cohen, who was in the city yesterday, representing the show, said they found business in Canada as good as anywhere on the continent, and as much better than in many parts of the United States. Mr. Cohen attributed it to the general prosperity of the country and the prevailing good times.

The big tents will be located at the corner of York and Rectory streets. There will be two performances, at 2:30 and 8 p.m., respectively. At 11 a.m. there will be a spectacular street parade.

MR. MERCHANT'S SUCCESSOR

J. J. Radcliffe, B.A., Was Chosen Principal

Of the London Collegiate Institute Last Night.

The Appointment Will Take Effect on October 1.

Four Names Voted on by the Board of Education—Final Choice Between Messrs. Little and Radcliffe—Objection of Irregularity—A Straight Party Vote.

At a special meeting of the board of education, held last night, the resignation of Mr. F. W. Merchant, M.A., as principal of the Collegiate Institute, was accepted, and Mr. S. J. Radcliffe, B.A., chosen to succeed him. Applications for the position were also received from Mr. R. A. Gray, B.A., and Principal J. E. Wetherell, of the Strathroy Collegiate Institute, and in addition to these the name of Mr. R. A. Little, B.A., was also before the board. The final choice was between Messrs. Radcliffe and Little, and the former was appointed on a straight party division of the Conservative trustees being in the majority. Those present were Dr. Teasdale (chairman), Dr. J. B. Campbell, E. J. MacRobert, Dr. Ziegler, McCormick, Dr. English, Bayly, Wilkins, Logan, Bayly, Jones, Colerick, Evans, Gillean, Hamilton, and Macpherson.

The new principal obtained his head master's certificate in 1894, and has been employed at the Collegiate Institute here since November, 1891, as English master, but has had eleven years' experience as teacher in collegiate institutes in the province. Mr. Little has the seniority of those on the staff qualified to act as principal, having been engaged as classical master, at the L. C. I., since September, 1886. Mr. Gray is second in the matter of long service. He has been mathematical master since September, 1887.

The question of salary was not discussed. Mr. Merchant's salary is $2,200.

The notice calling the meeting stated that it was to be for the consideration of the resignation of Principal Merchant, and for general business.

Mr. Macpherson, at the outset, pointed out that there was no provision for holding a special meeting for any purpose other than that specified in the notice.

Mr. MacRobert held that the transaction of general business at a special meeting was legal if the object of the meeting was so stated on the notices. Mr. Bayly agreed with Mr. Macpherson, and the feeling of the board was sought. It was decided to go on with the general business and adjourn until the first Tuesday in October.

The resignation of Mr. Merchant was then dealt with. It reads: "Having been appointed principal of the Normal School, I beg leave to tender my resignation of the principalship of the Collegiate Institute."

"If you can arrange without inconvenience to yourselves, I shall be pleased to have the resignation take effect on Oct. 1."

Mr. MacRobert said that I shall have the opportunity before finally severing my connection with the institute of personally thanking you for the hearty support given me at all times in the exercise of my duties.

On motion of Trustees Logan and Bayly, it was decided to accept the resignation, and appoint a committee to draw up a resolution expressing the board's high appreciation of Mr. Merchant's services.

The chairman announced that the appointment of Mr. Merchant's successor was then in order. The board should decide on some one who would keep up the high standard of the school, he said.

Dr. J. B. Campbell moved that Mr. Radcliffe be appointed.

Mr. Macpherson wanted the appointment of Mr. Merchant's successor deferred for a week. It was a most important matter and should not be done without due consideration, he said. It would be in the best interest of the city to have further consideration. He moved that it be postponed.

Mr. Logan—Is that in order? The chairman—It would complicate matters.

Mr. Gillean seconded Mr. Macpherson's motion.

The chairman—Seeing that the board has already decided to do away with the September meeting of the board we are prepared to take up the question now.

Mr. Macpherson disagreed. The rules of the board did not admit of a special general meeting, he said, and held further that three trustees were necessary.

Dr. E. E. Vincent, Now in Charge of the Keeley Institute, Detroit.

Dr. Vincent lately obtained such valuable personal aid from the famous Grape-Nuts food that he has been kind enough to volunteer the following information: "In recommending your Grape-Nuts food I speak from personal experience when suffering from a tedious attack of jaundice which was the result of nervous dyspepsia, brought on by overwork and close confinement. Your preparation was of such infinite value in my own illness that when in charge of one of the largest Keeley Institutes in the United States, I introduced the food on the table as a regular article of diet."

"We receive many patients who for days have been unable to retain food in the stomach, and I have the first one to treat who could not retain the food. On the contrary, patients invariably find Grape-Nuts nourishing and palatable."

absent. Such an important matter should not be dealt with by a depleted board.

The Chairman—Notwithstanding the objections we shall proceed.

Mr. Macpherson, while not withdrawing his protest that the thing was irregular, nominated Mr. R. A. Little. Mr. Bayly moved the acceptance of Mr. J. E. Wetherell's application.

Mr. Gillean moved Mr. R. A. Gray for the position.

The chairman doubted if the board could have found in the province four names any better than the four nominated.

The vote resulted as follows:
S. J. Radcliffe 9 9
R. A. Little 5 6
J. E. Wetherell 5 6
R. A. Gray 3

Mr. Radcliffe was declared elected.

THE BULLDOG

He Is a Good Companion and Is Loyal to the Death.

[The Criterion.]
A real lover of dogs is apt to have a preference as to type, but he is apt also to be fond of all good dogs, no matter what the class of their special purposes in the world. The dog lover is very like in this regard the truly gallant man—he may prefer blue eyes and fair hair to the opposite, but his heart goes out to all women who are good, because they are women and because they are good. To the uninitiated an affection for a bulldog seems a perversion of taste, for the bulldog is not symmetrical, is not graceful, and sometimes appears to lack intelligence. About his intelligence, however, there is more than one opinion; about his affection and his loyalty there can be no doubt whatever. His affection knows neither hesitation, wavering nor change, and he is a rare comrade. He is not noisy, he is not nervous, and he is not given to demonstrations. He fills the requirements that Emerson formulated as to perfect companionship. He does not need to speak to show his sympathy. He can tell you what he wishes to say with his little eyes, and he can be eloquent with the waggings of his stump tail. This kind of a companion is not such as commends himself to all persons, for there are those in the world who like chatter, and consider the unending small talk of the drawing-room the highest and most pleasurable expression of human wit. For such as these the bulldog is not likely to have the greatest attractions. Let such have a frolicsome dog or a kitten that will chase its tail. But the bulldog is a good companion for a quiet man of a thoughtful and philosophic cast of mind. The bulldog will not disturb his musings, the bulldog will not say the wrong thing at a time when silence is precious, for the bulldog rarely speaks. When he does he is short, though not sharp, in his communications, and is very much to the purpose.
