Montreal Police Arrest Suspect On Murder Charge When Jury Returns Verdict.

FIND ABBE BENEFICIARY

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—(Canadian Press.)-Charged with murder, Rev Adelard Delorme, chaplain of l'Assistance Publique, was tonight held at detective headquarters for preliminary hearing tomorrow, following the finding of a verdict by a coroner's jury that he was responsible for the death of his halfbrother, Raoul Delorme, a student attending Ottawa University, whose body, with the head riddled with bullets and wrapped in a cover from an automobile, and the hands tied with twine, was found in the early morning of Jan. 7, at Snowden Junction, a lonely suburb of this city.

The verdict of the coroner's jury completed a session replete with dramatic moments.

The general public was excluded, was impossible to accommodate the crowd that collected staff gradually attaining that degree to hear the evidence, and in the ex-pectation that something sensational taking of this nature. would follow the inquiry.

Delorme Takes Stand. Father Delorme who himself took account of what he knew of his brother's movements on Jan. 6, when, he said, the boy left home for an evening's enjoyment, after which he did not see him again, was the central figure in the early part of the

His evidence was given coolly, and he answered questions of J. C. Walsh, K.C., M.P., appointed by the attorney-general's department at Quebec to conduct the examination of witnesses, fully and carefully.

Excitement grew when Mr. Walsh began to ask the abbe about his brother's will, which up till today had been missing, though the police had searched tirelessly for it.

Father Delorme announced the will vas at a local notary's, and when it was secured he suggested it be not read, because if it were found he benefitted by it his position would peculiar.

The contents of the will were divulged, however, and Father De-lorme was found to be the principal eneficiary of young Delorme's estate, producing over $10,000 a year. Mr. Walsh called police officials after this, and amidst a tense silence them to outline how they had investigated the crime and built up their case so that Father Delorme came into it.

Coroner Warns Jury. Finally charging the jury, Coroner McMahan, in a solemn period, warned them that there was one aspect He told them that they must not overlook the fact that though they Catholics, they must not let these athletics, civic betterment, a case of where crime had been committed.
