Liberals Won't Tamper.

REGARDING the revision of the tariff, referred in the address from the throne, the St. Catharines Standard has this to say:

"Tariff revision is promised by the King government at this session. It is just a question whether tampering with trade is going to help the present situation. One thing is certain, that the continual threat of a lower tariff is a disturbing element in business. When the fiscal policy of this country is permanently and definitely decided on trade will have an impetus which it never had before."

Quite so. That is an interesting and very broad view, viz.: "When the fiscal policy of this country is permanently and definitely decided on trade will have an impetus which it never had before."

There is not a man at Ottawa in any one of the three parties represented there who would assent to that claim. There is not a group of tariff-makers, no matter of what school, which would undertake to make a tariff and guarantee that its inauguration would be the starting pistol for "an impetus which trade never had before" experienced.

It is all very well now to try and pile blame on the tariff or proposed tariff for business depression. One of the greatest factors in helping to disturb the mind of the people on tariff matters in Canada was the attitude of the Conservative press, the Conservative billboard and the Conservative candidate during the last election campaign. At that time the advertising matter of the MEIGHEN campaign was based on the cry that the King government would be a party of free traders; there was a deliberate attempt all the way through to falsify the position of Liberal candidates in Ontario; the advertising space in the daily papers made the threat that were the workmen to vote for the Liberal party it would have a very serious effect on their chances for earning a living.

The campaign even went so far as to picture United States ready to swoop down on this country as soon as the Liberals came into power. All through there was an element of threatening and false prophecy thrown before the country, and if there were any unsettling influences coming from the election the root of them was planted right in that form of campaigning.

The phrase used by the Standard "tampering with trade," falls wide of the mark. The King government has no intention of "tampering" with matters of this sort. It has never been urged against Hon. W. S. Fielding that he "tampered" with anything in matters of trade.

The manufacturer or businessman who is earning a legitimate profit has nothing to fear from the King government. That was made perfectly plain during the election campaign, despite the fact that every effort was made to tack the word "wreckers" to the party now in control of the government at Ottawa.

The suggestion that the country is in for a period of tampering is made without regard to facts, and is a belief for which there is no foundation at all.

Senator Pardee.

THE APPOINTMENT OF FRED PARDEE to the Senate will give general satisfaction to the people of Canada, particularly of Western Ontario, where he is best known.

The Hon. T. B. PARDEE, father of SENATOR PARDEE, was the right-hand man of Sir Oliver Mowat in the Mowat government, which was easily the best government the province ever had.

The Hon. T. B. PARDEE and SENATOR PARDEE between them have represented West Lambton in the Provincial Parliament or in the House of Commons since Confederation, 55 years ago. The appointment of FRED PARDEE to the Senate is a fitting recognition of the services to the country of both father and son.

FRED PARDEE's experience in the House of Commons will qualify him at once to take a leading place in the Senate. His knowledge of law will further qualify him. His whole life has been spent in an atmosphere of law and legislation. He is a good lawyer, an experienced legislator, a splendid speaker and an all-round good man who will not fail to justify his appointment.

Whether you win or lose if you are from the west you are all right for the Senate. ARCHIE McCos and FRED PARDEE are first-class additions to the Senate.

Catching Ghosts.

WELL, here's another good thing gone wrong. They had a ghost all cornered in a house near Nova Scotia, and sent to the States for an expert on ghosts, one who knows them, calls them by their first name, and all such inside things. A whole lot of people don't believe in ghosts. Every time the subject is brought up in broad daylight they simply wave the hand and say "Pooh!" It makes a heap of difference when

Clannish Tae a Scot!

I ha'e chanced tae meet mony splendid men
As I've roamed about a lot—
Men frae ilka clime that oor sun shines on—
But I'm clannish tae a Scot.
Wad ye wish tae ken why I lean tae him?
Weel my reason noo I'll tell:
It's because that Scots are a noble folk—
Oh! I'm glad I'm Scotch mase!

I ha'e met a Scot at oor Thistle Club,
Wha's th' sort o' man I prize;
He has judgment guid, which we a' admire,
Yet he's nae unearthy wise.
He's a frien' tae a', he's a genial gent,
Wha has nae owre much tae say;
He's a sturdy Scot in th' prime o' life,
Yet, we ca' him Faither Gray.

When oor Empire ca'd for oor sodgers brave,
O' his laddie he gied twa;
Noo, in slumber sweet, baith his bairnies lie
'Neath yon green sod far awa'.
They waur gallant lads on fierce, gory fields
In th' presence o' oor fae;
They did weel their pairt—we are no' surprised—
They waur bairns o' Faither Gray.

Oh, dear Scotia braw! thou hast blessed oor earth
Wi' a lot o' noble men;
For th' cause o' richt they've been warriors brave
Wi' their claymores, voice an' pen;
They've adorned thy name in th' years lang gane;
They adorn it in oor day;
When I want tae feel that I'm glad I'm Scotch
Aff I think o' Faither Gray.
London, Ont. —By MACK.

you're talking of ghosts and who's around.

Well, this Dr. PRINCE, who has been ghosting down in Nova Scotia in a haunted house, simply smiles when questioned. That shows he hasn't caught the ghost. If he'd nailed a ghost to a bedpost or something like that we know a lot of folks around here who would have been glad of a chance to go on down east to have a hand-shake, or at least a real honest-to-goodness look at the beggar.

But it does seem as though Dr. PRINCE has missed fire. One thing is certain. He hasn't got the ghost locked up in the barn or chained in the sitting room. That being the case, the ghost is still at liberty. It has probably gone out in the orchard to wait until things quiet down a bit, when it will return. Ghosts don't like crowds nor fuss. They prefer the quiet, still, nervous hours of the night when graveyards yawn.

Perhaps Dr. PRINCE has some very good explanation as to why he couldn't catch the ghost. He may say there wasn't one there, but a man named MACDONALD said so, and the word of a MACDONALD is good enough in these parts on ghosts or anything else.

It's one grand mistake to imagine that the ghost has gone simply because some American ghost catcher went down there with a patent string of sleigh bells. The bells were supposed to ring at night when the ghost tripped on them, and that would be proof there was a ghost. But pshaw! the bells didn't ring. That only went to prove that the MACDONALD house ghost knew a sleigh bell when he saw one and stepped over it. Ghosts are fearful high steppers sometimes.

No, sir! No doctor of spookology can clear the matter up with a few night sessions. Just wait till the investigators get away from the place, and on a night when it's dark outside, and the wind is shrieking around the shutters, there will be a creaking on the attic stairs, a mysterious knocking on the door and Mr. Ghost will come back once more. Yes, sir, they stick worse than mice or rats.

Canadian Dates.

HERE IS a little political and historical information that it might be well to cut out and paste away for future reference:

- It is a list of Canadian ministries since Confederation:
1. Rt. Hon. Sir J. A. MACDONALD, premier from July 1, 1867 to Nov. 6, 1873.
  2. Hon. A. MACKENZIE, premier from Nov. 7, 1873, to Oct. 6, 1878.
  3. Rt. Hon. Sir J. A. MACDONALD, premier from Oct. 17, 1878, to Jan. 6, 1891.
  4. Hon. Sir J. J. ABBOTT, premier from June 16, 1891, to Dec. 5, 1892.
  5. Hon. Sir JOHN THOMSON, premier from Dec. 5, 1892, to Dec. 12, 1894.
  6. Hon. Sir M. BOWELL, premier from Dec. 21, 1894, to April 27, 1896.
  7. Hon. Sir CHARLES TUPPER, Bart., premier from May 1, 1896, to July 8, 1896.
  8. Rt. Hon. Sir W. LAURIER, premier from July 11, 1896, to Oct. 6, 1911.
  9. Rt. Hon. Sir R. L. BORDEN, premier (Conservative administration) from Oct. 10, 1911, to Oct. 12, 1917.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Brantford had a long, drawn-out police probe. It's all over now except paying for it.

Berlin is to have a building 20 storeys high. Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm was building them higher in the air than that in 1914.

It's a hard job to get weather that will make maple syrup and at the same time give fall wheat a fair show for its existence.

In a Chicago murder trial an alienist testified that the prisoner suffered with "dementia praecox catatonica." Mustard plaster and salts, nurse.

And they do say one of the first questions some of the new members at Ottawa ask after finding out the location of the parliament buildings and their boarding house is: "And which street leads to Hull?"

"The woman mayor of an Ohio town has received over forty proposals of marriage. Referred to committee on ways and means." Yankee Province.

Easy, brother. But where does the finance committee come in on this deal?

The Brantford Expositor says: "The editorial waste-paper basket now years for spring poetry. Send in early and avoid the rush." It may be that the air around Brantford calls for a vent of feelings in poetry to a greater extent than in this splendid district. We are open to confess that we have no trouble with spring poets. Few contributors send in poetry, and what little of it that does come is very good as a rule.

The question of where and how cheese shall be graded received a great deal of attention at a recent gathering of dairymen at Ottawa. Ontario produces about 97,000,000 pounds of cheese per year, and of this amount 75,000,000 pounds is for export, as the per capita consumption of cheese in Ontario is slightly under three pounds. No satisfactory method of grading and getting the producers promptly paid has been worked out yet, but the big fact remains that Canada can produce splendid cheese, and also that when it goes abroad it comes into competition with the product of other very excellent and particular cheese-makers.

There are in Canada at least 37,000 square miles of peat bogs, with deposits from five to ten feet deep, and it is estimated that each square mile contains on an average the equivalent of 430,000 tons of coal. The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research at Ottawa, after considering the problem of making Canada's fuel consumption less dependent upon the United States, induced the Dominion and Ontario governments to appoint jointly a peat commission, which carried on extensive experimental development work at the Alfred peat bog, on the Montreal-Ottawa line of the C. P. R. The product was sold at profitable prices in competition with coal, and it is expected that a flourishing peat industry will eventually be founded.

There appeared in the columns of THE ADVERTISER on Monday a letter from WALTER SCOTT of West Lorne, one that was well worth serious consideration. It dealt with the question of immigration, and stressed the point that Canada should strive to attract settlers from the better parts of the old country. Canada does not need to get settlers for the sake of numbers. It is time we had a more definite say in selecting the class of men we want in the Dominion—men who are coming with a fixed idea of what they want to do as their future life work. Mr. SCOTT gave several worth-while suggestions as to how this can best be accomplished. THE ADVERTISER would be pleased to have its readers use its columns to discuss this very important subject.

From the British Medical Journal: "The new buildings of the Western University Medical School, London, Ontario, were officially opened on November 17 by the Hon. R. H. GRANT, minister of education for the province of Ontario. Addresses were delivered by Mr. ARTHUR T. LITTLE, chairman of the board of governors, and by Dr. C. R. SOMERVILLE of the royal commission on university education for Ontario. A portrait of the late Dr. H. A. McALLUM, M.R.C.P., London, the former dean of the medical faculty, was unveiled by the Hon. W. J. ROCHE, M.P., chancellor of the Western University, who paid a high tribute to the memory of Dr. McALLUM for his splendid services to the university. On the following day Dr. A. B. McALLUM, F.R.S., professor of biochemistry in McGill University, addressed the faculty and students, urging that medical research be vigorously prosecuted in the new laboratories. Dr. F. R. MILLER, professor of physiology in the university, informs us that the present dean, Dr. PAUL S. MCKIBBIN, was responsible for the planning of the buildings and for the general supervision of their construction. They are constructed of reinforced concrete, thoroughly fire-proof, and are regarded as being among the most up to date on the American continent. The cost has been approximately half a million dollars."

TO THE EDITOR

DOES GOD SPEAK?

Editor Advertiser:
Sir,—I was much interested in the controversy a short time ago between a Mormon and a Baptist minister over the question, "Does God speak to his children today?" I am quite pleased to know that I am neither Mormon or Baptist. I fully believe that God does speak to mankind today as he ever did and that we have unlimited proof of it in the Bible. I believe also that we have a higher conception of God today than did some of the writers of the Old Testament. Rev. A. C. Bingham's quotation from Revelation I believe is considered by the best Biblical scholars as referring to that book alone, and not to the whole Bible. I do not think at all that such a statement annuls the wonderful teachings of our divine teacher or of other writers as to God as our present supreme and universal teacher in divine things. Jesus always directed his followers to God and not to the scriptures as the supreme teacher of divine knowledge.

When Jesus was about to leave his followers he said, "I will pray the father and he shall give you another comforter, that he may abide with you forever, even the spirit of truth," which he declared, "will guide you into all truth."

This divine spiritual teacher goes under different names in the Bible. It is called the holy spirit or holy ghost or spirit of God. "As many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God," "heirs of God, even joint heirs with Christ."

It was said of Jesus that, "In him was life, and the life was the light of men." "That was the true light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world." That light was the spirit of God in Jesus. It is "the grace of God" which "hath appeared to all men teaching us."

"The theologian seeks for right ideas about God; the worshiper seeks for God himself." We may and should enjoy his real presence. Our God, I believe, is a supreme and universal loving father, and near his children in every quarter of the earth. Millions of his children have never seen the Bible nor heard of Jesus. Are they without hope? I do not believe it. I believe every person has sufficient light given him from God to save him if he is willing to follow that light. The trouble is the world is not listening for his voice as it should and doing his will. What we need is the prayer, "Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven."

Coldstream, Ont.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

(By Digby Phillips.)

NO. 160—THE IMAGINATIVE "F." What is said of the "F" in this instance is also applicable to the "G," "J," and "Q."

It is through these four letters that a person's handwriting may reveal to you whether he or she has a lively imagination of a quick, vivid fancy.

You know it when you see the loops with which these letters are finished off below the line and are well-rounded and rather flourishing.

The fact that the lower loops of these letters are rounded, instead of just ending off in an uncontinued downstroke, indicates only in a mild way that the writer has conventional tastes and ideas, with just an inclination toward the fanciful or emotional.

But when the loops are big and flourishing you are looking at the kind of person who is dominated by fancy and imagination rather than by strict reason and principles of business and order.

When the loops are very long, so long as to extend into the line below, you have this characteristic developed to such a point that the writer is likely at any time to suit his or her fancy to throw a convention overboard in the most light-hearted fashion.

People who loop these four letters are likely to be original in their notions. Women who do it are the ones who always keep abreast of the latest fash. Usually they are a bit restless, and to them variety is indeed the spice of life.

Tomorrow—Conservative Writers.

At the Catholic Club last evening a large audience listened to a debate on "Resolved that government should levy a tax on bachelors."

Messrs. T. J. Murphy and James Ward appeared for the affirmative, while P. McPhillips and J. Connors upheld the negative. Mr. H. Beaton, the vice-president of the club, occupied the chair.

The case then went to the judges, Messrs. W. E. Mullins and Jas. Cos-

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S WORD IS PERSPICUOUS. It's pronounced — "per-spick-you-us" with accent on the second syllable.

It means—clear to the understanding, capable of being readily understood, clear in thought, not obscure or ambiguous.

It comes from—Latin "perspicere," to look through.

Companion word—perspicuousness. It's used like this—"In order to be understood easily, write in a perspicuous manner."

Our Own Country.

Question—What, and where, is the Peace River country?
Answer—The Peace River country is approximately 240 by 300 miles in area, in Northern Alberta and British Columbia, where there are, it is said, 45,000,000 acres of good land, on which settlement is progressing steadily.

Question—How many miles are involved in a continuous railway journey from Sydney to Vancouver?
Answer—A railway journey from Sydney to Dawson City, by rail and sea, would cover 3,353 miles.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.
ALTHOUGH hazards are the greatest at this time of year. It is just the season when the sickness rate reaches its maximum.

People stay indoors more these days, eat more and exercise less than during any other time of the year.

Resistance to disease becomes so low that the body becomes easy prey to colds, grippe and pneumonia.

This condition also makes it easy for such diseases as Bright's disease, diabetes, and hardening of the arteries to gain a firmer foothold. Any ailment is able to make greater inroads because of the weakened condition.

Much can be done to keep the body strong and vigorous. People cannot expect to keep well when they overeat three times a day and then give the body no oxygen to change the food into red blood and energy.

To approach having as good health at this season as in May and June one must spend as much time out of doors as possible, take as much exercise, and eat as many vegetables as one does during the summer days.

tello, who gave their decision in favor of the negative.

During the evening the following numbers were acceptably rendered: Solo, J. Connors; reading, W. E. Mullins; solo, Miss Pendergast; duet, Miss Leman and J. M. Daly; duet, Messrs. Beaton and Label. Miss McKittrick acted as accompanist.

The Western University Literary Society entertained a large number of their friends at Huron College last evening. President Farr filled the chair admirably, and introduced a very pleasing program, including an instrumental solo by Miss Burgess and vocal solos by Misses Shopland and Mutch and Messrs. P. Webster and George Abey, comic song by Mr. B. Andrus and Mr. E. R. Dennis. Prof. James gave a talk on "Life on the Island of St. Pierre."

LEGAL QUERIES.

Tillsonburg, Ont., March 6.
Editor London Advertiser:
Dear Sir,—Will you kindly answer the following questions in your legal query column?

1. An American citizen who has served with the Canadian army in France, and who has been in this country the length of time required by law, wants to take out naturalization papers. To whom must he apply and how? Must he apply in person or by letter? Please give particulars as to correct length of time and then who, where and how to apply for naturalization papers, and oblige.

A SUBSCRIBER.
Ans.—See clerk of the county court of Oxford and he will give you the necessary papers. You had better, however, consult a lawyer.

LOSS OF APPETITE

Pimples, Boils, Eruptions, Etc.—Mental and Physical Weakness, are all very prevalent just now, and are positive proof that the blood is wanting in the power to defend the body against contagious and infectious diseases. They show conclusively that the blood needs thorough cleansing, enriching and vitalizing.

Do not put off giving attention to these dangerous symptoms.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today and begin taking it at once.

Remember, this medicine has given satisfaction to three generations as a treatment for the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys, and for catarrh, rheumatism and other common diseases. It builds on the system, makes food taste good and helps you to eat and sleep well.

120,000,000 matches a day

Back of every Eddy match!

EDDY FACTS

- Eddy matches are packed and counted under Government supervision
- in 35 styles of various lengths to suit every individual requirement.
- with various colored heads.
- in washed air.
- from selected, clean, straight grained Canadian white pine, kiln-dried.
- to stand every strain of striking on any surface.
- carefully inspected before being packed.
- every process for making boxes, packing board and printing is done by Eddy's.
- Eddy's was the first word for matches in 1851.
- Eddy's is the last word in 1922!

On Canada's first birthday, Eddy's were already 16 years old. When the last spike was driven on the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1886, Eddy's had passed their 35th milestone. When Ottawa was still Bytown—seven years before it became Canada's capital—Eddy's were making matches for Canada's total population of 1,850,000 people.

Deep-rooted in Canadian soil before Confederation, Eddy's are more Canadian than the Dominion. The business romance of this great pioneer industry is the history of Upper and Lower Canada for three-quarters of a century—since 1851!

Eddy's have seen the number of match consumers grow from less than 1,850,000 to 9,000,000.

In the great Eddy family of 2,500 loyal Canadian workers are found many who have seen service for over 40 years—from father to son and daughter.

And never a strike since 1851!

With a payroll of over $2,500,000 a year, the gigantic Eddy plant spreading over 75 acres is now producing 120,000,000 matches a day of superlative quality—equal to 5,143 miles of matches end to end.

This long-continued supremacy is the result of unfaltering adherence to the Eddy ideal—the most for the money.

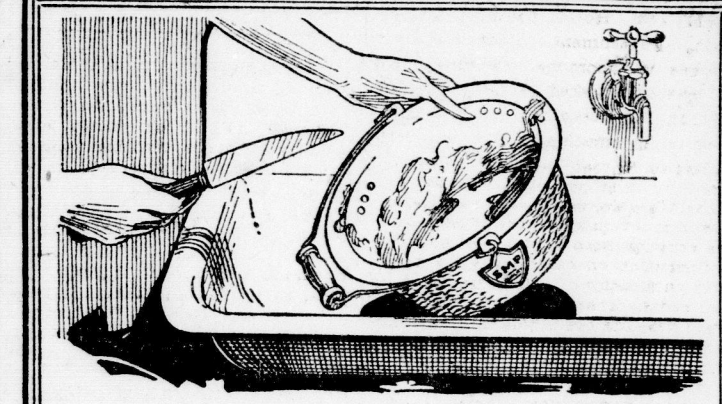

"Eddy's" is the Canadian word for matches!
