

The ADVERTISER'S PICTORIAL PAGE

An Eastern Counties player gets away with the ball in a rugby game between Eastern Counties and Sussex at Richmond.

F. A. Nanke with his "relativity" machine which will indicate aerial locations, distance, height and speed. Mr. Nanke is an Englishman.

The latest in winter sports. A snow bicycle race at Murren, Switzerland.

American soldiers of the army of the Rhine ready to embark for home with their German wives.

Brig-Gen. Mahon, who is to be the new commander-in-chief of the Irish army.

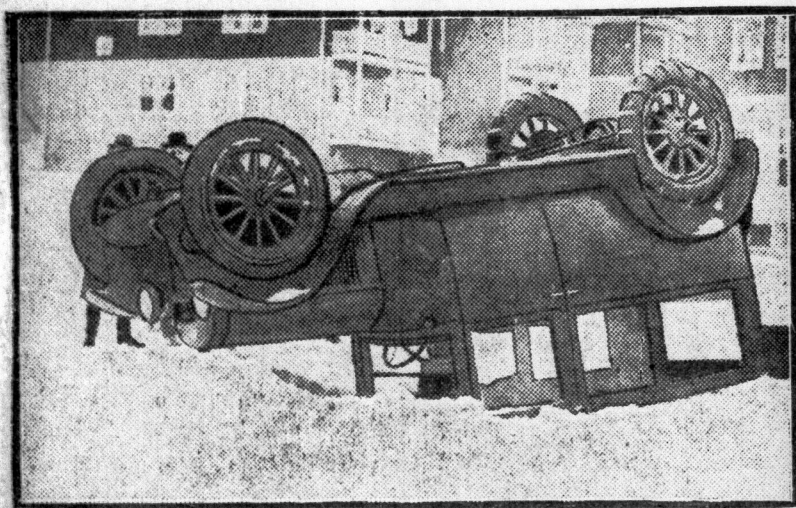

"CKAC" of the Montreal La Presse, the only radio station in the world which broadcasts both in English and in French.

Robert Woods Bliss, who succeeds Ira N. Nelson as United States minister to Sweden.

The Duke of York with Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, his fiancée, and her mother, the Countess of Strathmore, just before leaving for a short visit at Sandringham.

A limousine in Somerville turned completely over without so much as injuring one of its occupants or breaking a bit of glass.

The second German aeroplane to visit England since the war. It reached Croyden on January 10th.

Sir Henry Newbolt, poet and author, who will lecture throughout Canada, arrives at St. John, N.B.

A group of Bostonians pay a visit to gun captured by the British at Bunker Hill in 1775. It is now in Quebec.

The world's richest Indian. He has now given away $1,100,000 and has only half a million left. He gave $550,000 to his wife.

A three-piece costume of yellow and white pussy willow crepe for weather to Alec Anderson of Atlanta, Ga., America's champion eater, who can eat five plates of army beans without a balk. That is only one of his many feats.

Stanley M. Bruce, who has been asked to form an administration in Australia to take the place of the one headed by Premier Hughes who has resigned.

Mary Garden gets along famously with Dr. Coue, the noted exponent of autosuggestion. They posed together for the photographers in Boston.