OFFICE, 63 KING WEST.

THIRTEENTH YEAR.

DUAL LANGUAGE DISCUSSED.

MR. ARMSTRONG INTRODUCES HIS RESOLUTION.

Two Amendments by Clarke Wallace and Mr. McCarthy. The latter says: "The House has come to face the question of the House discussing the Motion for Several Hours."

OTTAWA, May 30.—This being private members day the House has got through with quite a fair amount of work such as it was, and the order of business presents a much slimmer appearance than is usual at this stage of the session.

The first business was the announcement of the Speaker that the seat for Frontenac had been vacated by the acceptance of the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario by the Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick.

The Dual Language Resolution. After a few unimportant questions had been answered, Mr. Armstrong moved his resolution:

"That it is expedient that power be given to the Legislative Assembly of the Northwest Territories after the next general election of members of said territory to determine the question of dual language in the courts and proceedings of the assembly, providing, however, that no school section as at present constituted shall be interfered with without the consent of the parties composing such section."

In support of his motion he said that he acted entirely for himself and not for his party. He thought the matter ought to be settled and that the fairest way to settle it was to leave it to the people of the Northwest, as his resolution proposed.

He said that he had an utter abhorrence of the idea that it was the duty of the majority in this country to stamp out the language of the minority.

Mixed Race a Strength. He considered mixed race a strength rather than a weakness to a country and instance the case of Great Britain as an argument.

There are one million persons, spoke Welsh, and no one thought they should be compelled to use their own language.

Clark Wallace has an Amendment. Mr. Clark Wallace thought the resolution was a contradictory one and the part of it dealing with existing schools was likely to prove a heavy burden on the Northwest should be given the same powers as other provinces, especially with regard to education.

With regard to dual language he was not quite satisfied with the compromise offered at two years ago. In conclusion he moved in amendment:

"That in the opinion of the Northwest Territories, should be empowered to deal with all matters relating to education in the Northwest Territories."

Mr. McCarthy speaks. The debate was opened by Messrs. MacMillan, Devlin, Scriver and Macdonald, (Toronto), after which Mr. McCarthy said: "I agree with the hon. member who said that the matter must be faced and it might as well be faced now."

The hon. member who said that the Northwest had already been given the powers of the Assembly should be limited in regard to education and in favor of the Northwest Assembly being given the full powers of Parliament taking back into its own hands the question of dual language.

The hon. member who said that the right of appeal should be given to the Northwest. He said that a second language should not have been introduced in the Northwest. In conclusion he moved an amendment to the amendment that:

"The House then adjourned."

The Debate Adjourned. The debate was continued by Mr. Mills up to 10 o'clock, when it was adjourned until the rules of the House, and it is doubtful whether it will be reached again this session.

Sunday Observance. After recess Mr. Charlton's Sunday Observance Bill was taken up and occupied all the evening. The bill was passed on the motion to go into committee on the bill a division took place and the motion was carried by a vote of 70 to 50.

In the committee a long discussion took place on the clause relating to work on newspapers on Sundays and the clause was finally struck out by a vote of 26 to 10 against.

The clause relating to running trains on Sundays was slightly amended and the committee rose at 11:30, reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

THE SLAVIN-JACKSON FIGHT.

THE WHITE MAN KNOCKED OUT IN THE FIFTH ROUND.

After the First Couple of Rounds It Was Evident That Slavin Had No Chance Against the Colored Antagonist. But the Fight Proceeded Until the Fifth Round, When Slavin Was Knocked Out.

LONDON, May 30.—The National Club was crowded to suffocation to-night with spectators anxious to witness the Slavin-Jackson fight. The entrance became so much obstructed by the crowd that the owner of the building refused to allow any more to enter without a ticket.

Two hundred policemen kept order outside the clubhouse, where a sarging mass had assembled with the expectation of being admitted.

Lord Londale opened the proceedings with a speech had the fight then began. After the first few rounds it was evident that Slavin had no chance against the heavier man.

Slavin failed to force the fight, and was knocked out in the fifth round. The fight was a complete rout for Slavin.

Slavin came up very game for the tenth round, but he was weaker than he looked. After a few exchanges, however, a swinging right-hander in the thirteenth round knocked him out.

A HOLIDAY FOR EIGHTY HANDS. James Eaton & Co.'s Dry Goods House. The employees at Messrs. James Eaton & Co.'s dry goods house were very much surprised yesterday morning when they were told that the doors were closed.

They were not aware that early on Sunday morning a fire had come within an acre of the store, and that the whole establishment, and that, on account of the damage done, the doors had been closed for a few days.

The damage done, though large, is nothing to what would have been caused if the store had not been closed for a few days. As stated in the "Northwest" yesterday, the store was a gas jet which had been left burning in the cellar. The fire started in the cellar, and spread almost to the thick hardwood floor.

It burned away, charring the wood, until it reached the ceiling, and then it fell to the floor, and the whole establishment from bottom to top was saved. The fire was given when the smoke was seen to be coming from the roof, and the flames were seen to be coming from the roof.
