Favements and Sidewalks — Proposed Island Waterworks—The City's Supply.

The Committee on Works meet to-day.
A granolithic sidewalk is recommended for he west side of Spadina-avenue, between Patrick and Clyde-streets, cost $2696; a ullar sidewalk on the south side of Wellesstreet from Church to Jamis, cost $960; on the north side of Queen for the contract of the cost of the c ley-street from Church to Jamis, cost $960; also on the north side of Queen, from Yonge to Beverley, cest $8813. An asphalt pavement along the length of Beverley-street is recommended at an estimated cost of $31,400, the city's share being $890. Arthur-street is set down for a brick pavement from Bathurst-street to Palmerston-avenue, at a probable cost of $590.

Waterworke on the Island. In reporting upon the proposal of the Ontario Waterworks Construction and Supply Company to establish and operate a system of waterworks on the Island, Mr. Keating calls attention to the proposed rates, which he points out are considerably in excess of the rates which are now being paid by citizens in the city, and in addition the company are asking special privileges—the exclusive right to sell water on the Island for all purposes for a term of 50 years. Exemption from taxation. The city's Water Supply.

City Engineer Keating has issued his report on the proposed new conduits. He furnishes the following estimates: 1. A six-foot cast iron pipe from a new intaks in the lake to the pumping well, $560,000; 2. a six-foot cast iron pipe from Hanian's crib to the pumping well, $580,000; from Hanian's crib to the pumping well, $237,000; 4. cost of the tunnel scheme $525,000.

Were You In It? It is almost impossible to describe all the good things that were in The Toronto Sunday World that was published on Saturday night. On the first page there was all the news of the day with a capital cartoon by Sam Hunter: The second page was entirely given up to society news, and when it is said that the movements of 730 people were there Sam Hunter. The second page was entirely given up to society news, and when it is said that the movements of 730 people were there chronicled it will be possible to understand the ground that was covered. On the third page was an article on the Bank of England, suggested by the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of that institution. Then there was a capital paper by Ebor on the Clergy and Amusements, proving how the generous and liberal-minded make the best ministers of the gospel, many examples being quoted. An article on the Etiquet of Calling will be found by the ladies both interesting and instructive, while Pop, Jr., was never brighter and happier in his chronicles of the bicycle and its riders. A feature of this department is the witticisms, which are from the pen of a local gentleman who, it must be allowed, is very happy in a his hits. On the editorial page were the following articles: Phyllis and Strephon, or rustic courtship and marriage; Literary Style; The Time for Thought; Methods of Execution in Europe; Eulletproof Clothes; the Late Edmund Yates and His Paper; Lord Rosebery's Premiership; A University Course in Journalism, and "Undesirable Reformations," by Stinson Jarvis. The Captious One reviews Sir John Dugdale Astley's recently-published book, and presents a few notes of current interest. The fifth page was devoted to short stories and humor, the sixth to the ladies, their doings and their clothes, with sixteen illustrations of the latest modes, etc. On the seventh page Pop has a variety of horse and racing notes, with especial reference to Lord Rosebery's win of the Derby: A description is also given of the Town of Newmarket and of a couple of famous horse hospitals in England. But the best thing on the page were: Letter from London describing a theatrical and an operatic representation before the Queen; a column of F

Cruises on the Gulf and Sea. At last the change of the weather has ome, and with it Barlow Cumberland's ements of the summer tours of the Quebec Steamship Company turough the Guise Steamship Company Guise of St. Lawrence and to the Maritime Provinces. In addition to the well-known and comfortable Miramchi the company will this summer put on their route their solondid steamship Orinoco, which during the past winter has been meeting with such great success in cruises among the West Indies from New York. This steamer will take a still more extended tour than the usual route. Leaving from Quebec the steamer will pass up the whole length of the Saguensy, and then returning to the St.
Lawrence call at all the usual Gulf ports and then sail around the shore of Nova Scotia, calling at Halifax and St. John and thence proceed to Boston and New York. Tourists from Toronto will thence return by rail.
The cruise by the Miramichi still retains all its well-known inducements, but this of the Orinoco is a still greater advance in the facilities for seeing the great Gulf and vistiing our Maritime relatives.

ceedingly tame, aside from Sugar, which touched a lower level on selling, which was credited to Washington account. Chicago Gas was a strong feature, while the Grangers were fractionally lower. St. Paul was sold in anticipation of a poor showing on earnings for first week in June. General Efectric is ruling about steady. The business outlook for the company is reported as good, and the stock is said to be going higher.

H. A. King & Co. Special wire from Hubbard, Price & Co., New York: If Sugar goes to par or near it, I think it will do to buy. Whatever the tariff may be the superb ability with which both the speculative and commercial departments of the Sugar Trust are managed has imbured a number of rich men with great confidence in it, and with money ascheap as at present the number of such who will buy it for investment at par, even though it paid only half its present dividend, is daily increasing. Independently of Sugar the general interest in the market is hardly increased, and such favorable influences as have come in sight are about discounted. Shorts are covered and a two per cent. reaction in the staple granger.

Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Logan & Co.: Wheat market is in about the same position it has been since this advance commenced. Better cables and an improved milling demand for wheat. The important factor is the weather and will be until the spring crop has passed through the critical period. There has been free liquidation from the opening. The prominent buyer has been a local bear operator. Appearances indicated that one of large holders of corn was selling quietly. Shippers and receivers were selling also. The buying scattering. Estimated cars for Monday 300, Provisions ruled steady. The feature of the day was the selling of pork and ribs by country packers. Receipts of hogs promise to be liberal, which causes a weak feeling among local operators.

Schwartz, Dupee & Co. wired Dixon; There was a great deal of covering. The market showed the liquidation of Friday, having lost a very large share of its short interest. The breaking of the drought through the southwest. Then there was the usual feature of ap-ing of the drought through the Souluwest naturally decided some of the undecided ones. Then there was the usual feature of approaching Government report. The chances that when compared with last June's figures the Washington announcement will not look so bullish as some of the trade expect. Next week's market, however, will be decided by to-night's Government report. The general condition will need to be underrated to be regarded as very bullish. Cables showed less energy. Further rains are predicted through the winter wheat belt to-night. There has been a little business done on this advance with the other side by the seaboard. Chicago has sold practically no wheat at all.
