

Words of the Wise.

STOICISM throve because, like Christianity, it is a philosophy of suffering; it fell, because, unlike Christianity, it is a philosophy of despair.

INDEED, if there had been any better thing and more profitable to man's salvation than suffering, surely Christ would have showed it by work and example.—Thomas à Kempis.

THE cares, which are the key of riches, hang often so heavily at the rich man's girdle that they clog him with weary days and restless nights, when others are sleeping quietly.—Walton.

THERE ARE MANY Cough Mixtures, but only one Allen's Lung Balsam; try it.

GOOD men, like Luther, have feared prosperity more than adversity, and have kept themselves poor by their abundant liberality, lest they should be of the number [who have their portion in this life.

THE missionary spirit is not by any means only the spirit of actual missionaries. It is the spirit of all true Christians who have the faith at heart. Every true Christian is a missionary in intention.—Canon Liddon.

A RELIGION that is false is usually intricate. The only two rites that characterize the religion of Jesus are noted for their simple beauty. The Christian worship comes out of the soul, and not out of the symbols.

THE FAVOURITE Washing Compound of the day is unquestionably JAMES PYLE'S PEARLINE. It dispenses with the necessity of beating or rubbing the clothes, and does not injure the fabric.

AND sure am I that it is better to be sick, providing Christ comes to the bedside, and draws by the curtain and says, "Courage! I am thy salvation," than to be lusty and strong, and never be visited by Christ.—Rutherford.

AN enlightened conscience is the true vicar of God in the soul, a prophet in its information, a monarch in its peremptoriness, and a priest in its blessings or anathemas, according as we obey or disobey it.—J. Newman.

THERE is no happier life than that of winning souls to Christ; and what is ineffably grand in such a life is the fact that all Christians, without respect of person or of place, may participate in the priceless pleasure.

If sorrow could enter heaven, if a sigh could be heard there, or a tear roll down the cheek of a saint in light, it would be for lost opportunities, for the time spent in neglect of God which might have been spent for His glory.—Payson.

A SIGNIFICANT FACT.—The worn out, waste and poisonous matter in the system should escape through the secretions of the bowels, kidneys and skin, or serious disease results. B. B. B. opens these natural outlets to remove disease.

FACT is not the sole legitimate object of human inquiry. If it were, farewell to all that elevates and glorifies human nature—farewell to God, to religion, to hope! It is that which lies at the root of fact, yea, the root of law, after which the human soul hungers and longs.

THE conversion of the thief on the cross gives no encouragement to any to put off their repentance to their deathbed, or to hope that then they shall find mercy; for, though it is certain that true repentance is never too late, it is as certain that late repentance is seldom true.—Henry.

HAM AND VEAL PIE.—Two pounds veal cutlet, half pound of boiled ham, two dozen oysters, half pound fresh sausage, two table-spoons of savoury herbs, mace, salt and pepper to taste, a strip of lemon peel and two hard boiled eggs chopped fine, half a pint of water. Put the veal, cut small, in a layer at the bottom of a pie dish, sprinkle over it a layer of spices, salt and pepper, then some of the minced eggs, then a few oysters, then a layer of ham and sausage with seasoning. Proceed until the dish is full, pour in the water, cover sides and top with puff paste, and bake about an hour and a half.

CORN MUFFINS.—Make a batter with sour milk or buttermilk and one egg and a pinch of salt, and let it stand awhile—ten minutes, or all night—as suits your convenience. When you are ready, spider hot on the stove, plate warm and things ready for your meal, dissolve a level teaspoonful of soda in warm water; stir in, through and through, and add one heaping spoonful of flour, stir well and fry in a little butter, or butter and good lard mixed. Have one spoonful of batter in a place; shake the spider a little till it shape them; fry quickly; turn with spatula, lift on hot plate.

PNEUMONIA!

A SCIENTIFIC AND ACCURATE DESCRIPTION OF THIS DREADED BLOOD DISORDER.

"It is generally supposed that pneumonia is due to the accidental penetrating of specific microbes into the system, but the observations of M. Jaccoud show that the disease really results from the development, under favourable conditions, of microbic germs permanently present in the system. A chief condition of such development is a sudden chill, which explains the frequent coincidence of lung affections with abrupt changes of temperature."—Scientific American.

Another prominent (American) authority ascribes pneumonia to an excess of ozone, ozone being produced by passage of electricity in the air.

A distinguished American physician tells the New York Tribune that the prevalence of pneumonia indicates the universality of a uric acid condition of the blood,—sudden chills always being characteristic effects of too much acid, of one sort and another.

The disease, as M. Jaccoud observes, is undoubtedly in the blood, but if in the form of permanent microbes or germs these germs must be developed by the uric acid condition of the blood. Indeed, they cannot presumably exist in alkaline blood. Uric-acid is the name for the waste matter of the system, which the kidneys, through evident though unsuspected impairment, have not been able to filter from the blood,—the filter being foul and stopped up in many of its little hair-like tubes.

The Tribune's authority says that pneumonia is a secondary disorder, the exposure and cold being simply the agents which develop the disease, already dormant in the system, because the kidneys have been but partially doing their duty. In short, pneumonia is but an early indication of a bright's diseased condition. This impaired action may exist for years without the patient suspecting it, because no pain will be felt in the kidneys or their vicinity, and often it can be detected only by chemical and microscopical examinations. Nearly 150 of the 740 deaths in New York City the first week in a recent March, and in six weeks 781 deaths, were caused by pneumonia alone.

If one has occasional chills and fever, a tendency to colds in the throat and lungs, rheumatic and neuralgic pains, extreme tired feelings, short breath and pleuritic stitches in the side, loss of appetite, backache, nervous unrest—scalding sensation or scant and discoloured fluids, heart flutterings, sour stomach, distressed look, puffy eye sacs, hot and dry skin, loss of strength and virility, pneumonia is likely to strike him down any day, and his recovery will be doubtful.

These indications may not appear together, they may come, disappear and reappear, for years, the person not realizing that they are nature's warnings of coming calamity.

The disease is very quick acting and if the accompanying kidney disorder is very far advanced, recovery is impossible, for the kidneys give out entirely, and the patient is literally strangled by water.

The only safeguard against pneumonia is to maintain a vigorous condition of the system and thus prevent attacks, by using whatever will radically and effectually restore full vitality to the kidneys, and for this there is nothing equal to Warner's safe cure. If the kidneys are not sound pneumonia cannot be prevented. This remedy is known to millions, used, probably, by hundreds of thousands all over the globe, and commended as a standard specific wherever known and used. It does not pretend to cure an attack of pneumonia, but it does remove the cause of, and prevent that disease if taken in time.

When a physician says his patient has either bright's disease or pneumonia, he confesses his inability to cure, and in a measure he considers his responsibility ended. In many instances, indeed, persons are reported as dying of pneumonia, heart disease, apoplexy and convulsions, when the real cause of death, and so known by the physicians, is this kidney consumption. Thousands of people have it without knowing it, and perish of it because their physicians will not tell them the facts.

The same destiny awaits every one who will not exercise his judgment in such a matter and be true to himself, his family and to society.

COUNTRYMAN (to dentist): I wouldn't pay nothin' extra fer gas. Jest yank her out, if it does hurt. Dentist: You are plucky, sir. Let me see the tooth. Countryman: Oh, 'tain't me that's got the tooth-ache: it's my wife. She'll be here in a minute.

Sparkles.

"MARTHA," said her father, "William asked me for your hand last night, and I consented." "Well, pa, that's the first bill of mine you haven't objected to."

IN HABITUAL CONSTIPATION, Campbell's Cathartic Compound is used with great success.

STABLE-KEEPER: By the way, shall I put in an extra buffalo? English Blood: Couldn't you let me 'ave an 'orse, you know! Er—er—rather not drive a buffalo first time, you know.

HE: And now, Sarah, what kind of an engagement ring shall I get you? She: Solid gold, I guess, I'm so tired of wearing imitation gold for engagements."

ONE reason why you should take your broken watches, jewellery and spectacles that need repairing to Barker & Co. in the Y. M. C. A. building on Yonge Street is that they employ no apprentices, and all the work is done by experienced workmen. Another reason is that they put all articles entrusted to them in their large safe every night, so that you can sleep soundly and know that your goods are safe in case of fire.

MRS. WELLS (about to hire a new servant): Now, in regard to going out visiting, I— Servant (interrupting): Och, go out whiniver yes loikes. You's not find Bridget Murphy harrud, mum, or dictatorial loike.

MR. BOGGS (reading English history): The Prince of Wales in 1798. Mrs. Boggs (interrupting): The Prince of Wales in 1798! Goodness! I didn't know the Prince of Wales was such an old man as that!

Imperial Hair Regenerator

Is advertised in another part of this paper. The Imperial Chemical Mfg. Co., 54 W. 23rd Street, New York, are entirely reliable, and the goods they sell are genuine, harmless, and accomplish the object to be gained. We gladly give the following testimonial from Dr. Moore:

"NEW YORK, NOV. 1, 1886.

"I hereby certify that I have subjected to a careful analysis the Imperial Hair Regenerator, and that I have found it to be free from all substances liable to injuriously affect the hair, scalp or general health of persons using it. When properly applied it is capable of imparting a rare degree of beauty and permanence, producing all the various shades of colour of the natural hair. It may be used by all without fear of injurious consequences.

"GIDEON E. MOORE, Ph.D.,

"Analytical and Consulting Chemist, 69 Liberty Street."

"JOHN, did you take the note to Mr. Jones?" "Yes, but I don't think he can read it, sir." "Why not, John?" "Because he is blind, sir. While I wur in the room he axed me twice where my hat was, sir, and it wur on my head all the time."

WATSON'S COUGH DROPS will give instant relief to those suffering from colds, hoarseness, sore throat, etc., and are invaluable to orators and vocalists. The letters R. & T. W. are stamped on each drop.

"PA," inquired Bobby, who was reading the paper, "what is a stony glare?" "It is the expression which comes over a man's face at Church," explained the old man, "when the contribution box is held before him, and he has neglected to provide himself with 10 cents in change."

PREVAILING SICKNESS.—The most prevailing complaints at this season are rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, inflammation and congestions. For all these and other painful troubles Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best internal and external remedy.

"HELLO, Charley, what are you doing—moving?" asked one young man of another whom he met with a big vase in his hand. "I've just commenced my vacation." "Your vacation?" "Yes. I'm vacationing at the request of my landlady."

A TRUSTY FRIEND.—Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. Safe to keep and to use in every household.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. COHEN, of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength, and increases the appetite."
