

content himself, that he was no worse used, and added, "He would have used me no better, had I gone to solicit him in one of my own causes."

TO MAKE A CHEAP PAINT, OR WHITE WASH.—Take 2 quarts skimmed milk; 2 ounces fresh slaked lime; 5 pounds whiting. Put the lime into a stone vessel, pour upon it a sufficient quantity of milk to make a mixture resembling cream, then add the remainder of the milk. When this is done, crumble and spread the whiting on the surface of the fluid, in which it will gradually sink. It must, after all the whiting has been precipitated, be well stirred, or ground as you would other paint when it will be fit for use. By the addition of any coloring matter you may make it suit your fancy. It should be put on with a paint brush, and when dry a second coat should be given. The quantity above mentioned is sufficient for 27 square yards.—N. E. FARMER.

TO MAKE PERPETUAL YEAST.—Take a pound of fine flour, make it the thickness of gruel with boiling water, add to it half a pound of loaf sugar, mix them well together, put three spoonful of well purified yeast into a large vessel, upon which put the above ingredients, and they will soon ferment violently. Collect the yeast off the top, and put it into a small neck pot, cover it up from air, and place it in a dry and warmish place; when used in part, replace with flour made into a thin paste, and sugar in the former proportion. I saw this used after it had been five months made. No yeast is necessary except the first time.

Interesting Facts.—Gibbon resided many years in Switzerland, where, with the profits of his works, he purchased a considerable estate. This property has descended to a gentleman, who out of his rents expends a large sum annually in the promulgation of that very gospel which his predecessor insidiously endeavoured to undermine, not having had courage openly to assail it. Voltaire boasted that with one hand he would overthrow that edifice of christianity which required the hands of 12 apostles to build up. At this day the press which he employed at Ferney to print his blasphemies is actually employed at Geneva in printing the Holy Scriptures. Thus the self-same engine which he set to work to destroy the credit of the Bible is engaged in disseminating its truths. It may also be added as a remarkable circumstance, that the first provisional meeting for the re-formation of an Auxiliary Bible Society at Edinburgh, was held in the very room in which Hume died.—Scottish Christian Herald.

The Faithful Pastor.—"In illustration of my argument," said Dr. Gilly, "I will relate an anecdote, as it was told me by a well known Irish character, Thaddeus Connolly, who used to spend much of his time in wandering through Ireland, and instructing the lower classes in their native language. 'I went,' said he, 'one Sunday, into a church, to which a new incumbent had been lately appointed. The congregation did not exceed half a dozen, but the preacher delivered himself with as much energy and affection as if he were addressing a crowded audience. After service, I expressed to the clergyman my surprise that he should hold forth so fervently to such a small number.' 'Were there but one,' said the Rector, 'my anxiety for his improvement would make me equally energetic.' The following year Conolly went into the same church, the congregation was multiplied twenty fold; a third year he found the church full."

HORRIBLE MASSACRE.—The Awashonks visited Brinyard's or Brinard's Island, one of the cluster known as King's Mill Groupe, sometime in July last, and a number of the natives, having evinced quite a peaceable disposition, had been allowed to come on board. One day, however, while one watch was below, and others of the crew at mast head, Capt. Coffin exhibited a whale spade to the savages, when one of them hastily snatched the instrument from his hands, and without the least provocation, at one blow literally severed the head from his shoulders! Mr. Gardiner, the first officer, instantly seized the weapon, and wrenching it from the murderer's grasp, despatched him in a moment. He then retreated below; but on attempting to return, with the hope of saving the ship, he was slain in the hatchway by a whale spade, which entered his chest, passing down into the abdomen! Mr. Swain, the 2d officer, after witnessing this appalling butchery rushed out upon the jibboom, and dropped overboard; but was killed with clubs by the barbarians from the canoes. A boy on deck at the time, ran below, and after being cut by whale spades so that his shoulder blades protruded, alarmed the watch; when the third mate procured a keg of powder, and perceiving the head of the chief through the gangway, discharged at him a loaded musket, and shot him dead. On discovering the fall of their chief, the natives abandoned the ship, which immediately got under way, and proceeded to Oahu. The individuals who have thus fallen victims to the ferocity and treachery of these South Sea demons, were all natives of Nantucket. The Awashonks belongs to Falmouth, and had 650 barrels of oil at the time of the massacre. She will probably not pursue the voyage, but return home forthwith.—Nantucket Inquirer.

A TERRIBLE RENCOUNTER AND DEATH.—A colored man, living in Liberty Valley, Perry co-Pennsylvania, met with an untimely and fearful death, a short time since. Our informant states, he had been employed during the day by some of his neighbors butchering, and was returning home in the evening, (as it is presumed) with a portion of the day's spoils, given him by his employers, which attracted a gang of wolves that infested his path. They attacked the poor fellow and literally tore him in piece-meals. His remains were found the next day, surrounded by some of the evidences of the desperation with which he ended his life. The only weapon to defend himself with was an ordinary knife he had been using at his work, and there lay round his mutilated body, five of these ferocious animals gashed in every imaginable manner. It is supposed there must have been a dozen or more in the gang, from the sight which the scene of this unhappy occurrence presented.—Juniata Journal.
