

SECULAR INSTRUCTION—Continued.

Page.

Other States have followed the example of New York.....	228
Interesting notice of a new prison school in Wisconsin.....	228
First notice found by us looking toward a prison library, contained in a code of rules enacted by the inspectors of the Kentucky penitentiary in 1802.....	228
First prison library in New York established in 1840.....	228
$100 appropriated to this object by New Jersey in 1841.....	229
In 1847, libraries found in most of the States.....	229
Remarkable origin of the library of Alton prison, Illinois.....	229
The testimony of prison officers of that early period uniform as to the good effects of prison libraries.....	229
Provision for the instruction of convicts in Canada.....	230
Proportion of prisoners unable to read in U. S. prisons.....	231
Some secular instruction given in most of them.....	231
In Indiana, school held from Nov. 1st to March 1st.....	231
In Ohio throughout the year.....	231
In most prison instruction imparted in cells.....	232
Branches taught.....	232
Prison libraries.....	232
Books usually selected by chaplains.....	232
Character of books composing prison libraries.....	232
Classes of works taken out by convicts.....	233
Methods of distribution.....	233
Books examined on their return.....	234
Proportion of prisoners who take out books.....	235
Time devoted to reading.....	235
Secular newspapers not allowed in most state prisons.....	235
The reverse true of magazines.....	235
Provision in different states for adding to libraries.....	235
Great utility of prison libraries.....	236
Should contain books of an entertaining and cheerful character.....	236
Suggestion as to the examination of prisoners on the books read.....	236
Cell instruction objectionable; schools preferable.....	237
Suggestion in regard to means and apparatus for imparting knowledge to convicts.....	238
Mr. Sanborn's opinion.....	238
Convicts advantageously employed to assist in teaching.....	238
Provision made for reading at night inadequate.....	238

SECTION EIGHTH.

PHYSICAL AND HYGIENIC RELATIONS.....	239, 248
Ventilation of American prisons generally bad.....	239
Charlestown prison, Albany penitentiary, and some others, well ventilated..	239
Modes of heating.....	240
Lighting by day and by night.....	240
Prison rations generally abundant and good.....	240
Dietaries of several persons.....	240
Place of taking meals.....	242
Methods of procuring supplies.....	242
Moral effect of suitable dietaries.....	243
Prison clothing coarse but comfortable.....	243
Clothing provided on liberation.....	244
Beds and bedding.....	244
Condition of beds, airing, &c.....	244
Vermin in prisons.....	245
Supply of water.....	245
Means of personal cleanliness.....	245