

		index.
Fable,	F.	118	Portdown hill,	149
Friend, on parting with,	G.	178	Pride,	178
Gentle Kate,		177	Rondeaux, by Froissart,	198
Gleanings of ancient poetry, 68-107-219	K.		Song by Thomsen,	329
Kate, gentle,	L.	177	— resolv'd said the poet of Cæ-
Lines found in an old book,		329	lia to sing,	33
— written on a print represent-			Sonnet by Drummond of Hathor-
ing a sleeping child,	M.	294	den,	107
Maid of Clyde,		146	Sonnet de Don Pedro Calderon	ib.
Married ladies, advice to,		145	T.
Modern marriage delineated,	O.	67	The determination,	329
Ode by Matthew Bramble,		295	The rose,	70
— for the 31st of Dec. 1791,	P.	217	The snow drop,	294
Parting with a friend,		178	Verses copied from a window,	252
Picture too true,		175	— in the vulgar Scottish dialect,	106
			W.
			Winter, an ode,	105
			— on the approach of,	33
			Welcome to the sun,	219

TO THE READER.

A paragraph omitted in the debate on the CORN BILL, p. 335.
N.B. Some other debates of little importance took place respecting this bill, which finally passed in the House of Peers, on the 8th of June.

END OF VOLUME SEVENTH.

TO THE BINDER.

	PAGE
Portrait of the earl of Marr,	1
The rhinoceros,	47
Plan and elevation of a druid's temple in Aberdeenshire,	133
Map of the tropical regions,	153
Portrait of Jean Froissart,	197
Elevation of Du-iggie's sig.	288
There are two signatures KK.
Place the chronicle before the index, at the end of the volume.
Place the contents immediately after the title page.	