

Getting Even.

First Club Man (heatedly)—All I have to say is that I consider you a puppy.

Second Ditto (coolly)—If that were the case I could take the first prize at the dog show, and that's more than you can say.

First Man—How so?

Second Ditto—You lack the necessary pedigree and breeding.

A Leap Year Episode.

Wife—Where have you been?

Husband—I have just ushered that impertinent Miss Smythe to the door. This is the eleventh time this week she has called on our son, and I have sworn never to give her his hand.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup Compelled Him to Change His Opinion.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

Madford, Man.

May 15th, 1887.

Sirs,—I have been one of those that do not believe in Patent Medicines, nor did I ever allow my name to appear in print, in such testimonials as some have, and still I always thought that they were only put forward as an advertisement to sell such medicine. Well, to be faithful and do my duty, I feel that I would do anything for my suffering neighbors, and therefore I introduced Seigel's Syrup, and may say that I have been in business in Manitoba for over seven years and I have always sold more of Seigel's Syrup than any other medicine, and more of Seigel's Syrup than all the rest put together; it is all that I represent, a true and honest medicine. For all the dozens I have sold, I may say that I am selling more at the present time than ever I did; the medicine will sell on its own merits. Believe me,

Yours truly,

WM. MADDER.
