Clearance Sale of Fancy Silks at Very Low Prices

We are going to sell twice as many yards of Fancy Silks in stripes and checks during the few days as we have in any past two weeks at this store.

The Reason: Because we are going to sell them for prices so low that every woman who sees them will realize that not to buy is mere wastefulness.

Our shelves are crowded with Fancy Silks, in stripes and checks. Perhaps we expected too much when we bought out stocks, yet you'll find every yard is modish, in wanted weaves and colorings, worth far more anywhere at any time than the prices they're marked.

Try to get here tomorrow, as some lines are very small, and will hardly last the day through. You can save more than ever before on good Silks. These items prove it:

A CHAIN AND ITS LINKS

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

In telephoning, there are three links in the chain that constitutes "good service"-1. The person calling. 2. The operator, 3. The person

No matter how much any one or any two of these links do to develop good service, the result is determined by the measure of co-operation of the third.

If the person calling fails to consult the directory and gives a wrong number, the operator inevitable repeats the error. If the person called fails to answer promptly, and the caller leaves the telephone, naturally "there is no one on the line."

Being human, the operator—the third link—is liable to err occasion. ally. but careful analysis demonstrates that she is not fairly chargeable with many of the difficulties frequently ascribed to her.

If Link No. 1 gives the right number and calls distinctly, and Link No. 3 answers promptly, the Telephone Company will be responsible for its part of the chain. If no higher motive actuated it, the motive of economy; or self-interest, would suffice.

From any Pay Station you can speak to any one in Ontario, Quebec, or the United States, within a radius of a thousand miles.

If the party you wish to reach has no telephone, you can arrange to have him called to a Pay Station to talk to you.
