ge their business is that of excursions terests. . . . In practice the formal the job."

Giles—"Huh! It looks more like the large their business is that of excursions of manufacturers and wholesale merchants through the territory where they hope to secure more trade. The excursion ists come into touch with possible customers, visit local industries to get new ideas, and incidentally impress those whom they meet with the desirability of doing business with their city. The business men of Halifax have done something along this line. Now Winnipeg is to make the experiment. An exchange says

"Winnipeg business men have adopted from United States sources a plan to advertise the prairie capital and the surrounding country. In a few days a special train carrying representatives of Winnipeg's commercial and manufacturing interests will start on a 2,000-mile journey through the prairie provinces. The object of the trade excursion is to acquaint mer chants and consumers in the thrifty towns of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta with the character and variety of the manufactured with the character and variety of the manufacturing in St. John.

Long their business is that of excursions are membrrasement, is like from being an embarrasement, is like to neutrality, so fair from being an embarrasement, is like lay to neutrality, so far from being an embarrasement, is like lay to result in considerable gain to all parties. It will prevent an aggressive or incompetent home ministry from counting beforehand on the assistance of the colonies in its wild enterprises. Again, we shall be relieved in ordinary wars of any responsibility for the defence of the colonies. They will have fleets to defend the were attacked, but so long as they remain neutral an enemy will have more to lose than to gain by at tacking. By ordinary wars, we mean wars in which the national existence is not at tacking. By ordinary wars, we mean wars in which the national existence is not at tacking. By ordinary wars, we mean wars in which the national existence is not at tacking. The comet is a disappointment.

The comet is a disappointment. There will be a better fireworks display of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta with the character and variety of the goods made and sold in Winnipeg. No attempt will be made to sell products on this trip. It is simply a trade propaganda."

The St. John Board of Trade might well consider this method of encouraging closer relations with the other portions of the maritime provinces. Wrong though it may be, there is some degree of business prejudice against St. John in some localities, even in this province.

Personal contact is the best remedy for misunderstandings.

There is an apparently well-grounded fear that considerable quantities of logs will be hung up this spring on the great rivers of this province.

Were you lacking in those charms that cheer the eye and warm the heart, Were you not gentle, patient, kind, did you not soothe my every ache, I still should love you, Nellie, for the strawberry shortcake that you make.

the Teachers' Pension Act is the proviso that a person must have taught thirty-five years in public schools to come within its provisions. The farcial injustice of it is shown by the fact that, in this town of Chatham, there is a lady who taught thirty-three years continuously in public schools and ten years in a private school, found a rear door open.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

If alfalfa can be grown successfully in New Brunswick it means a great deal for the stock-raising and dairying interests of the province. Apparently there is an excellent prospect of its successful culture. Farmers will read with great interest the following editorial from the Sussex Record:—
