Sinn Feiners Threatens More Serious Trouble. London, March 18.—The more aggressive section of the Sinn Fein party in Ireland contemplates a campaign similar to that adopted by the militant suffragettes. At the moment it is hoped to have the peace conference intervening in behalf of Ireland. This will be for the purpose of focusing public attention on the demands of the party, according to despatches received by the press association.

The authorities, however, are prepared to afford adequate protection to life and property, and the belief is expressed that with tact and discrimination it will be able to tide over the threatened trouble. It is understood the government does not intend to further postpone consideration of the home rule bill, which was suspended by an act which automatically expires six months after the treaty of peace is signed.

THE VIGILANT WATCHDOG.

SAYS WINNIPEG DOCTOR MADE $75,000 SELLING LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONS. Winnipeg, March 18.—That one doctor has made more than $75,000 by selling prescriptions for liquor since Manitoba went dry, is a story told by officers of the Provincial Temperance Act Administration.

This doctor, who was fined recently for giving prescriptions indiscriminately, had a sliding scale of prices, the fee of each order depending upon the amount of liquor a "patient" needed. He would also make out prescriptions and sell them at so much a dozen, to be credited by agents.

Liquor men assert that since Christmas he has made $10,000 a month out of liquor prescriptions alone, neglecting his practice in order to give his time to the more profitable business.

"It is to put a check to such doctors as these that I am getting our prescription blanks with serial numbers," said J. N. Maclean, administrator.

ONE THOUSAND LUMBERJACKS UNRULY MINORITY AT KINWEL CAMP SAYS ARCHDEACON

Seeing the White Lights in Bangor and Boston, Awaiting the Drives. (Bangor Commercial).

These are the happy days of the keepers of boarding houses in Bangor which make a specialty of catering to the transient trade of labor, for there are fully 1,000 laborers in the city at present who have no home here, most of them being hunkies from the lumber woods where operations are closing up for the season, and they are coming in at the rate of fifty a day, declares a man who knows whereof he speaks.

Walking along Exchange and Washington streets where the visiting unemployed usually sun themselves, one would never suspect that so many outsiders were in town, but the Commercial's informant who is posted on the habits of the returning woodsmen, says that the visitors are housed and will stay housed until they part from their "rolls," earned by the sweat of their brows, for they have been out in the open for several months and prefer the cosy comfort of heated rooms with perhaps a little booze and other creature comforts denied them away up amongst the tall timbers.

But when their rolls have been spent or they have been surreptitiously relieved of them they will come forth like the birds in springtime and the streets will be lined with them until their services are again in demand for driving or other operations, when they will fit to other parts, only to return again at the proper season and go over their city experiences again, be they pleasant or otherwise. For the woodman is a general and trustful fellow and he is easily persuaded that an apparently unfriendly act committed against him was the result of a mistake rather than of intended malice.

Many woodmen coming into Bangor from northern points stop here only long enough to get a rig of city clothes, when they strike for Boston to view the white lights as long as their money lasts, saving only a sufficient amount to insure their transportation back to old Bangor, which is their starting point towards temporary employment and prosperity.

One laborer agent declared Friday morning that he could easily gather a crew of 600 laborers at short notice, but that just now there is no demand for them. He expects, however, to get a call for 250 men for wood cutting next week, and he is of the opinion that the tide of idle men has reached the high water mark just now and that the demand for their services will start within a week or two.
