Eddie McGoorty and Jack Dillon

FROM T. S. ANDREWS Milwaukee, Oct. 29—A new champion- ship match will be staged in Milwaukee on Nov. 8, when Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh and Jack Dillon, the Hoosier star, both claimants of the middle weight title, will meet before the Queensbury A. C. They have been riv- als now for three years and both are hot after the middle weight title. In fact McGoorty has laid claim to it, with the statement that he will defend it against all com- ers. These boys were matched in New Orleans three years ago, but Dil- ion at the time had to give up the con- test on account of a severe boil on his arm and which was lanced the day before the fight. Since then Dillon has made a remarkable re- cord, meeting all the chief middle weights in the country and beating most of them. He has been picked by many writers as the man who should succeed the late Stanley Ketchel, while others have given the same credit to McGoorty. The knockout of Frank Klaus by George Chip mixed matters up a bit, but Chip will have to beat the two leaders and also Jimmy Clabby, before he will be given the place at the top of the lad-

The bride wore a traveling suit of royal blue and black hat with ostrich plumes. The happy pair received numerous gifts. Among the presents to the bride were a gold watch and chain from the groom, a brooch from Mrs. W. Fitzgerald's necklace and china from Mrs. Lucy Esau. The groom, who is a prosperous farmer of Penobscot, is a son of Stephen Weldon, of that place, and a nephew of Dr. R. C. Weldon, dean of the law school at Dalhousie University and formerly a member of the dominion parliament. Mr. and Mrs. Weldon will remain in the city until Thursday evening, when they will leave on the 6:30 train for Penobscot. While in the city they will be the guests of Mrs. W. Fitzgerald, Brussels street, and of Mrs. Esau, West Side. On their arrival at Penobscot a reception will be tendered them at the home of Stephen Weldon, father of the groom.

ANOTHER STEP AHEAD IN EDUCATIONAL WORK

Pre-Vocational System to Be Es- tablished in Calgary REPORT OF COMMISSION

Members Had Visited St. John in Their Travels Seeking Information — New Departments to Be Started at First of Year Calgary, Alta, Ont., 29—The Calgary board of education has made arrange- ments for the starting of a pre-vocational system for older children in January. This action followed investigations by a special commission which toured eastern Canada and the United States looking into the systems of education in vogue there and as a result of its re- port a resolution was unanimously passed authorizing the inauguration of the system at the new year. The board adopted the report of the commission after receiving figures which showed the great necessity for the pre-vocational course. Inquiries were sent to some 400 parents and pupils, blank forms asking them to fill in the vocation which the children wished to follow after leaving school. Four hundred replies were received and of these it was found that only ninety could get the necessary education in the schools, colleges or universities of Calgary. The necessity of technical education for pupils in the higher grades was thus demonstrated. Three departments will be required for the inauguration of the pre-vocational system. The present commercial classes will be absorbed and will form the nucleus of a business course, an industrial department will be founded where the various trades will be taught as necessity arises, and a department of house- hold art for the girls. The board has already engaged a di- rector for the new department and close co-operation will be observed between it and the system of night technical classes which was started last year and has already proven its value to the community. The members of the Calgary commis- sion visited St. John last summer on this matter. T. B. Kidner was one of them. A number of persons were talking about telescopes, and each professed to have looked through the "largest one in the world." One after another told of the powerful effect of the respective telescopes. At last a quiet man said mildly: "I once looked through a telescope. I don't know as it was the largest in the world. I hope it wasn't. But it brought the moon so near that we could see the man picnicking in it wildly and crying out: 'Don't shoot—don't shoot!' The old fellow thought it was a big cannon that we were pointing at him."

COLD IN THE CHEST?

Rub Well With Zam-Buk! For bad colds on the chest, rub the chest and between the shoulders well with Zam-Buk at night. If you suffer from catarrh or cold in the head, just insert a little Zam-Buk at the base of the nostril, and as the mucus becomes warm, inhale the healing essence which vaporizes. Sores in the nostril, which are sometimes set up by catarrh, will yield to Zam-Buk treatment. Mrs. N. S. Babcock, of Matawatchesan, Ont., says: "For a long time I had a very disagreeable sore on the inside of the nostril, which gave me great pain and caused much annoyance. I feared it would turn to cancer, and all I tried proved unavailing. I was ordered to try Zam-Buk, and I am glad to say that the sore that defied all other remedies was overcome by one box of Zam-Buk and is now quite healed."

He Knows Corns

This Chemist Who Invented Blue-jay He studied corns for a dozen years, then worked out this way to remove them. It's a simple little plaster with a little drop of wax. Apply it in a jiffy, and the corn pain stops at once. You forget the corn entirely. In 48 hours the whole corn comes out—root, callous, everything. Not a whit of pain or soreness. That ends the corn. Why pare corns? Why daub them? Why use old-time pads and plaster? Those are archaic methods. Blue-jay is so vastly better that folks use it on a million corns a month. Try it on one of yours. A in the picture is the soft B & B wax. It loosens the corn. B stops the pain and soothes the skin. C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

ST. LUKE'S MISSION

Those who attended the mission service in St. Luke's church last night listened to a very interesting exposition of the story of Jesus and blind Bartimeus. Mr. Newton pointed out clearly that the case of Bartimeus is typical of all spiri- tual blindness of the natural man. Blind- ness in him was a state of danger, a condition of helplessness and was the cause of his being a beggar. Those who were in the state of spiri- tual blindness were in danger of perish- ing. None were so blind as those who would not see, showing the helplessness in his sight restored when he found out that there was One close at hand who was able to heal him. The seizing or losing of the opportunity played a large part in whether we were to be blessed or remain blind. Mr. Newton pointed out a very im- portant lesson to Christian workers from the fact that when Bartimeus desired to have Christ heal him his own follow- ers endeavored to hush him up, telling him, perhaps, not to get excited or that Christ had no time now to waste with him; thus it often happened that chris- tian workers stood in the way of those who were anxiously seeking help and who needed guidance to the Saviour. Some christian people are very much given to excitement in athletics or in a political campaign, but their coldness and lack of enthusiasm in a mission ser- vice often deterred those who might sur- render themselves to the mysterious power of religion. This afforded a good opportunity of giving real help to those who were in need of it. The very ser- vices of the church were formed on the supposition that Christ would be present, even though there were some who like Bartimeus through blindness could not see Jesus, yet might be encouraged to cast their burden and surrender them- selves to Him who is invisible.
