DISORDERLY MEETINGS IN OLD COUNTRY

Chamberlain Refused a Hearing at Derby -Speeches by Members of the Cabinet.

London, Jan. 4.- The political campaign is now warming up. Already several disorderly meetings have been reported, and when Joseph Chamber lain attempted to address a mass meeting at Derby in support of the Unionist candidates he was howled down. Sir Henry Belrose, a prominent citizen of Derby, appealed to the audience to give Mr. Chamberlain an oportunity to outline his views. Mr. Chamberlain, who was evidently enraged, again arose and said he was mistaken in appealing to the intelligence of the people of Derby. This caused renewed uproar, and though Mr. Chamberlain fought tired amid uproar.

Haldane's Speech.

Richard Burton Haldane, speaking at a free trade meeting in London tonight, said it was the intention of the Liberal government to maintain an adequate army, but that it would be necessary before real reform commenced to clear away much of the trash and litter left by his predecessors. He paid a tribute to his immediate predecessor, H. O. Arnold-Foster, but said that the former secby the Unionist government. Churchill in Manchester.

Winston Spencer Churchill, speaking at Manchester to-night, said that the first act of the Liberal government should it be returned to power would be to notify the coloniel governments that no conference could consider a preferential scheme based on the protective taxation of food stuffs, and that as soon as possible the government would give the Transvaal a representative democratic administration.

The Chancellor. Henry Herbert Asquith, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at She field, said that to attempt to utilize a majority obtained on the free trade issue to pass a home rule bill would be dishonest.

Noisy Meeting.

Gerald Balfour, president of the board of trade in the Balfour cabinet, addressing a meeting in the Jewish quarter of Leeds, which he represents in parliament, faced a storm of opposition and was roughly questioned regarding the aliens act. After two stormy hours a proposition to give him a vote of confidence was negatived by a large majority. Alien Law.

The alien law passed by the last session of parliament came into force on Monday. The first effect of the law was that the immigration officers refused to permit the landing of 24 of 42 in Great Britain except at ports where an immigration officer is stationed, and only with his consent and after a medical inspection. Immigrants may be refused permission to land if unable to show that they are in a position to keep themselves, if insane, if on account of disease or other causes the taxpayers, if they have been sentenced abroad for, an extraditable crime not of a political nature, or if they have previously been expelled from Great Britain. The home secretary may also order the expulsion of an alien on a certificate from a court of law. The bill, however, provides that an alien shall not be refused permission to land on account of means if able to prove that he or she is seeking admission to Great Britain solely to avoid prosecution for political offences. to the experience has been otherwise. The foregoing was William O'Brien's comment yesterday on the strange situation presented in Ireland, which has no precedent in the history of parliamentary elections. The campaign organization is still incomplete, but the number of boroughs in which candidates have no opposition is without parallel. It is believed that in the whole province of Munster there will not be a single contest. Throughout the Nationalist districts the contests will be exceedingly few, the selection of candidates by the Nationalist convention being everywhere accepted.

London, Jan. 5.-John Morley, secretary for India, speaking at Arbroath, Scotland, to-night said that personally he believed the only effective method of reform for Ireland would be an elective representative body which would have control of Irish affairs under the direction of the Imperial parliament. However, he stood ready to co-operate in any scheme involving a less radical departure if it could be shown that such a scheme would assure the reforms needed.
