ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 1, 1902

LABOR DAY.

We are reminded in an especial manner today of the fact that earnest labor lies at the base of all prosperity. In such a community as this a parade such as has been witnessed today appears perhaps to have less significance than it would have in one where there was also a great wealthy class, having little to do with the world of labor except to command its service. In this city there are no millionaires, and though there are wealthy people the number of idlers among them is exceedingly small. There are, it is true, notable contrasts, but there is no wealthy class that has been such for generations. Most of the large individual fortunes are held by men who have labored for their accumulation, and many men who are today called rich were no better off thirty or forty years ago than the mechanics and laborers who walked in today's parade.

This country is yet too young to show the painfully striking contrasts which exist in Europe and the older portions of the United States. Therefore those who look upon a procession of working men recognize a kinship with them, and entertain for them a respect born of similar personal experience at some period in life. This feeling is the more natural and general because there is a higher degree of intelligence among those of our people who labor with their hands than is found in older countries. The young man who is today a laborer may in a few years be an employer of labor, having added to the work of his hands the coinage of a clever brain. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the dignity of labor in a community where practically all must work. The best evidence of a fair recognition of the rights of working men by their employers and of the mutual good will that exists, is the absence of strikes, and the general comfort in which working men in this city, who are careful and thrifty, are able to live. The city is indeed fortunate that can turn out as fine a body of stalwart and intelligent men as that which traversed the streets today. Their names may not appear often in the columns of the press, and their lives may know less of change and excitement than those of some of their fellow citizens; but they get as much out of life, and are as happy and perhaps more faithful in the discharge of every duty than those with the means and the leisure to move in a wider world. That country is the most prosperous which gives the most encouragement to intelligent labor, and that community the most fortunate whose members regard idleness as a condition to be shunned.

CONTINUE THE WORK.

It is gratifying to observe the hearty and united interest displayed by the ministers of the different denominations in the question of what shall be done for the good of the boys of the city. Friday's meeting will give a further impetus to the movement for a compulsory school law, applying at least to St. John. This is of more importance than a curfew law, though the latter might also be worth a trial. A very important suggestion was that which is to be discussed at a future meeting—the provision of public playgrounds or of boys' clubs in various portions of the city. It is undoubtedly true that these if provided should be under the control of competent persons, fitted to exert a good and restraining influence over the young people. It is not enough to decree that the streets shall be cleared at a certain hour in the evening. Something must be done to direct the energies of the youth into other than mischievous channels. When the most that legislative and individual effort can do has been accomplished there will still be bad boys and girls. But the number will be far smaller, and many bright young fellows saved to a useful career if their interest can be aroused and the brightest of them enlisted in the work of clubs or associations having worthy objects. The very strongest aid to a man laboring in this field would be the influence of the cleverest of his boys upon companions of the same age. Doubtless the combined knowledge and experience of the ministers will enable them to make very valuable suggestions, which, with the sympathy of the citizens and the co-operation of the city council may be made to produce splendid results.

It would be most unfortunate if the advocates of action permitted themselves to be affected by the pessimistic attitude of the Globe, which is very certain of past failures and apparently doubtful of future success. Past failures have their uses as landmarks, but the mood which dwells upon them with gloomy iteration is not that which makes for progress.

THE EXHIBITION.

No exhibition in St. John has been begun under more favorable auspices than that which his honor Lieut. Governor Snowball on Saturday evening declared formally open to the public. Not only was the weather delightful, and the crowd immense, but the fair had a more finished appearance than has been the rule at the opening of St. John exhibitions. The bright surroundings, the brilliant assemblage, the music, the interesting speeches, all combined to give pleasure to the people. Today's attendance of citizens will of course be enormous, and tomorrow a big excursion from Maine will swell the crowd from outside points. With fine weather this will be a notable week, and will afford the citizens not only an opportunity to exercise hospitality but to enjoy themselves, while they are adding to the high reputation of St. John as an exhibition city. It is especially pleasing to note that the lodging bureau, with the co-operation of the people, has made what is believed to be ample provision for the accommodation of all visitors.

CORNER STONE LAID.

Impressive Ceremonies Connected With St. Vincent's New Chapel Yesterday.

After vespers yesterday afternoon the corner stone of Saint Vincent's Chapel, a procession marched from the vestry of the Cathedral, consisting of altar boys, the priests connected with the Cathedral, Rev. Fr. Crimmon of Dunnville, Ont., Rev. Fr. Donovan of Carleton Place, Rev. Fr. Walsh of Holy Trinity, Rev. Fr. White and Borgeaux of St. Peter's, and his lordship the bishop, with mitre and crozier. The stone was suspended on the first floor, which was boarded over. There was a vast assemblage of people to witness the ceremony. Prayers were recited by Bishop Casey and the clergy and the litany of the saints. The corner stone having been blessed by his lordship, was placed in position. A large number of documents were placed in the box under the stone. The bishop then walked around the building reciting prayers and sprinkling the building with holy water. Those who wished came forward and made what offerings they saw fit.

An appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Moohan. The crowd was by his lordship bore the following inscription: "On Sunday, Aug. 31st, 1902, the corner stone of Saint Vincent's Chapel, at St. John, N. B., was laid by the Rt. Rev. Timothy Casey, D. D., bishop of the diocese, with this crowd, presented by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent's Convent."

THE CITIZEN'S DUTY.

Last (Sunday) evening the Rev. J. D. Soyres, continuing his course upon the Christian State, dwelt with the citizen's duties in connection with the text: "Render therefore to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute." (Rom. xiii, 7). He urged that the real criteria of political morality was the moral standard of the average citizen. As water could not rise above its source, so the politician's virtue was that of his constituents. Undoubtedly there was a deplorable laxity of opinion and practice as to the citizen's duty in respect of taxation. It was admitted by the speaker that the political economy that direct taxation was the best system, but it was only feasible where the public conscience was awake. A century ago in England smuggling was thought a venial offence, but now public opinion had advanced considerably. The time would also come, he hoped, in their own city, that it would be thought as disgraceful to make a false statement to the assessors of taxes as to pick a pocket. But at present, it was to be feared, even some who claimed to be good Christians and good churchmen, were not ashamed to evade their responsibilities. It was no excuse that the system of taxation was alleged to be defective. The real cure in that case was to amend the law, but to play it until it was amended. This was a plain matter of scriptural morality, and it was the business of the pulpit to speak distinctly about that duty which Jesus and St. Paul both preached and practised.

Chronic constipation surely cures or money back. LAXA-CARA TABLETS never fail. Small, chocolate coated, easy to take. Price, 35 cents. At drug-gists!

"SASSY BY THE CORPSE."

The Amazing Experience of a Preacher at a Funeral.

(Brooklyn Eagle.) That ministers of the gospel exchange stories among themselves that they would not tell their flock is well known. Here is a yarn brought by one, gathered in his summer vacation. It so happened that a good brother in a church in one of the rural counties of Pennsylvania passed to his reward and all the community crowded to the church funeral to hear his virtues extolled. The minister made most of the occasion, not only eulogizing the departed saint, but entering into and discussing many details of his private and public life. There was a rustle and hum of approbation in the congregation when the pastor concluded his extended remarks and took up the hymn book preliminary to starting off the choir in appropriate song.

It happened that in the gathering there was an occasional attendant at the church who had spiritual gifts. In fact, he professed among his acquaintances to be able to communicate with departed spirits.

This individual, to the surprise of all present, as he had seemed to be dozing, arose in his place well up in front and in a confident voice remarked:

"I wish to state that I have just had a communication from our dear brother."

Everybody turned to hear what was to come next.

"And I desire also to state," continued the speaker, "that he has been cognizant of all that has been said about him. He tells me that a good many things have been said concerning his life here below that down and every eye in the congregation was turned toward the minister. That worthy seemed imperturbable. He gathered up the hymn book again, however, and showed some internal disturbance by putting it down again without giving out the hymn. Finally he said:

"Brethren and sisters, at first I thought it best to say nothing at this point. However, it is due to you that I should justify myself. I shall take back nothing I have said; neither shall I question the truth of the curious communication just stated to you. But I must say that in all my twenty-five years' presiding at funerals in this community this is the first time that I have ever been sassed by the corpse."

Everybody turned to hear what was to come next.

"The Opera House was well filled last night by an audience which listened with enthusiastic interest to a series of able speeches from the grand officers of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association, who are making a tour through the maritime provinces in the interest of the order. His lordship Bishop Casey authorized the meeting and was present."

Mr. Hackett delivered an eloquent address, referring to the part taken by Catholics in building up Canada, telling of the efforts of the order, and introduced Hon. M. F. Hackett of Stanstead, P. Q., the grand president of the order.

WATER SPORTS.

Annual Regatta of Neptune Rowing Club—Large Crowd—A Glorious Day.

The annual water sports of the Neptune Rowing Club were held Saturday on Lily Lake. The officers of the day were Peter Clinch, referee; His Worship Mayor White, Judge of the Harrier Vroom, Starter, and F. A. Kilmear, captain.

The first event of the day was the first heat of the double scull race, which was won by Rose and McCavour by about one length over Stewart and Fowler. The second heat was won by McAvity and Brennan, who defeated Frith and Tenth easily by about seven lengths. The final of this event, which was the best race of the day, was won by McAvity and Brennan, in a close finish.

In the double scull race only two pairs appeared out of five entries. McAvity and Schofield won by a very short margin from Stewart and Tenth.

The first heat of the single sculls J. Ross defeated H. Brennan by about two lengths, and won the final from A. McAvity by about the same distance.

The canoe tri, which, as usual, caused great amusement, was won by Schofield and McAvity, who upset in succession the canoes of Tenth and Vroom and of Stewart and Frith.

In the hurry scurry there were two starters out of a field of six. The event was won by A. Schofield from A. C. Currie. Schofield also won the crab race in clever style, with Frith second. Stewart, who was also entered, had a spill just before the race started.

The tug of war, to judge the final event, was won by Frith and McCavour, the defeated pair being Ross and McAvity.

ALCOHOL AND DRUG USERS.

Victims of the above habits will be interested in the discovery of a harmless antidote which quickly and permanently removes all desire for liquor and drugs. This medicine has been publicly endorsed before Congress of Bishops and at Father Matthew's Anniversaries, also by Clergy-men from their pulpits and by temperance societies of all denominations. Interested persons can obtain full particulars from Mr. Dixon, 81 Wilcox St., Toronto, Canada.

OF LOYALIST DESCENT.

The death took place on Sunday at the residence of her son-in-law, Chas. A. Thorne, Durham street, north end, of Mrs. Catherine Thorne, a direct descendant of the Loyalists on both father and mother's side. Mrs. Thorne was a daughter of Jesse Worden, who was born in New York in 1758, and Mary Carpenter, also a native of New York, who landed in St. John on her birthday in 1773, with the Loyalist settlers of the city. Miss Worden was born April 16th, 1811, in Johnston, Queens Co., and was wedded to W. B. Thorne in June, 1839. Mr. Thorne was also a Loyalist by direct descent, on both sides of the house. The children were Rebecca G., James B., Isaac N., S. M. Hannan, Sarah A. and Catharine. The deceased leaves 25 grandchildren, 49 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Her remains will be interred tomorrow in the old family burial ground at Johnston.
