FREDERICTON, N. B., Feb. 21.—George F. Baird, manager of the Star Line company, had an interview with a committee of the board of trade this evening in respect to the feasibility of establishing a permanent navigation service during the summer between here and Woodstock. Mr. Baird explained the difficulties in which the company was placed and proposed as the only feasible remedy a steamer of extreme shoal draft, capable of uniform service throughout the season. He gave details of such a craft and said his company would be willing to put on the boat with a small increase of assistance from the government, the boat to take the place of the Aberdeen when falling water prevented her from running. The country is a very fertile district and thickly settled with prosperous farmers, who now are practically shut out from the markets, and is open for a large development of trade this way. It is hoped some remedy can be found to better existing circumstances.
