Up-to-date Cure For Skin Disease

UNLIKE INTERNAL TREATMENT,
YOU CAN SEE THE BENEFITS
DAILY OBTAINED BY USE OF

The day is past when people will be satisfied with an internal treatment for itching skin diseases. It is more satisfactory to apply an ointment and witness the beneficial results, instead of taking medicine and hoping that in time the desired effects will be obtained.

This change of opinion has come about largely through the extraordinary cures being brought about by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Eczema, salt rheum, psoriasis, tetter, scald head and all the dreadful itching skin diseases, which torture children and grown people alike, are not held in such terror since the merits of this great ointment have become known.

By its healing, soothing, antiseptic influence Dr. Chase's Ointment cleanses the sores, allays the inflammation, stops the itching and heals the raw flaming flesh. In the most simple as well as the most aggravated skin irritation or eruption, this ointment is certain to give highly satisfactory results; 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmansson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DEHORNING STOPS LOSS.

Cattle with horns are dangerous and a constant menace to persons and other cattle. Dehorn them quickly and with slight pain with a KEYSTONE DEMORNER. All over in 2 minutes. Not a harsh method. Leaves a clean cut. Cows give more milk; steers make better beef. Send for free booklet. H. H. McKenna, Pictou, Ontario, Can.

Humorous.

A new girl at the summer resort was letting her arm hang idly over the side of the boat and dipping her fairy fingers in the cool, rippling water.

"All this sort of thing is new to me," she said. "How do you do when you hook a big fish?"

"You have to play him with some skill," answered the girl who was handling the oars. "Don't let him have his head too much. Yield a little to his impetuosity but keep a firm grasp. Accept his presents, such as candy and the like. but—"

"I was speaking of a real fish, you mean thing!" indignantly exclaimed the other.—Chicago Tribune

"So you can't help stealing?" asked the magistrate, kindly.

"No, your Honor; an impulse comes over me that I can't resist."

"Too bad, too bad! An impulse to send you up for six months is getting hold of me. There, it's got hold. Six months; I can't resist. Impulse is a wonderful thing."—Chicago Tribune.

"Why did you place such a tough fowl before me?" asked the indignant lady patron of the waiter in a restaurant.

"Age before beauty, always, you know, madam" was the gallant reply.

And then, woman-like, she smiled and paid her bill without a murmur.—Royal Magazine.

"When he proposed, did you tell him to see me?" inquired her mother.

"Yes, and he said he'd seen you several times, but—but, he loved me just the same."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Lady—My housemaid has got one of her eyes red and inflamed. What would you advise her to do?
Doctor—Tell her to stop looking through the keyholes.—Rire.

A woman preached one morning a temperance sermon to her husband who was suffering from the effects of the night before.

"The great trouble with you, George," the woman said, "is that you cannot say no. Learn to say 'No', George, and you will have fewer headaches. Can you let me have a little money this morning?"

"No!" said George, with apparent ease.

A Philadelphia business man recently had as guest a friend from Toledo, an extremely busy individual, little familiar with the social graces.

For the first evening of his stay a dinner party had been arranged. The hostess had provided a most attractive young woman for the Toledo man; and it was thought that he would take a desperate fancy to her, which, indeed, he did.

When the guests had gathered and were ready to go out the host, with his politest bow, said:

"Mr. Blank, will you please take Miss Dash out to dinner?"

"Certainly," responded the Toledo man, with alacrity, "but I understood that we were to have dinner here in the house."—Saturday Evening Post.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell, the well-known writer, was discussing the harsh treatment that a multi-millionaire had given his underpaid hands.

"Such treatment," said Mrs. Tarbell, "made my blood boil when I heard of it. It was mean. It was the height of meanness. It reminded me"—here she smiled—"of the conduct of a certain park policeman on a summer afternoon.

"This policeman, politely accosting a modest gentleman in an alpaca coat, said:—

"'Beg pardon, sir; but could you lend me a lead pencil?"

"'Why, certainly,' smiled the gentleman, producing one at once.

"'And now your address, please,' the policeman went on. 'I saw you picking flowers a moment ago.'"

Squire Hamilton, one of the best known members of the Maine legal profession many years ago, once sat at a meagrely laden board. The dining-room had been newly and splendidly furnished, whereas the dinner was very slender. While some of the guests were flattering the host on his taste in decoration, Squire Hamilton said, "For my part, I would rather see less gilding and more carving."—Boston Herald.

There was a man whose wife had a terrier of extreme ferocity. It bit the man a number of times. He expressed great hatred for it.

Finally the terrier bit a large piece out of the calf of the man's leg, and the next day it disappeared.

The man advertised widely for the dog's return. He offered a reward of two hundred dollars for it, and his friends were amazed.

"I thought," said a friend to him, "that you hated that dog?"

"I do," the man admitted.

"Why then do you offer such a large reward for its return?"

"To please my wife."

"But you're foolish," said the other.

"Such a large reward will be sure to bring it back."

"No, no," said the man, with a smile. "You see, I know the dog is dead."

THE AUTHOR OF THE NEW SERIAL.

Colonel Alfred Ollivant was a soldier in a family of soldiers, but injured by a fall from his horse gave himself up to literature. "Bob, Son of Battle" and "Danny," both dog stories, are the result of his work.

Chivalry is not dead yet. The other day a man was observed to give up his seat to a lady as he was leaving his bus.
